Fischer-Herrling

Alfred Herrling and Miss Phyllis Fischer were united in marriage at eight o'clock last Saturday evening in the parlor of their own handsome bungalow in Bend, which Mr. Herrling has built this summer. Rev. Webster of the Presbyterian church officiated. Only relatives of the bride and groom were guests.

Mrs. Herrling is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Fischer, for several years a successful teacher and has been her father's bookkeeper during the busy seasons most of the past eight years and is also accomplished in domestic sciences and music.

Mr. Herrling has been a farmer of the Criterion section for several years of considerable success.

DESCHUTES AVENUE IS STATE HIGHWAY

The one positive action taken Monday by the state highway commission was to make location of The Dalles-California highway through the town of Maupin where the citizens of that hamlet want it—through the main street. This action was taken on the earnest recommendation of County Judge Adkisson of Wasco county. About two years ago Mkupin was wiped out by fire and the citizens asked the commission to make a location so that the town could be rebuilt along the side of the highway. The commission acted promptly, but the property owners were dissatisfied and rebuilt on the old site, without regard to the location they had requested be made. The location would run just back of the rebuilt village, but as Maupin is the only town in a great distance, the commission yesterday agreed to shift the highway through the town's main street Deschutes avenue.

It is possible that the highway commission within a month or two, may be able to advertise a contract on The Dalles-California highway in and out of Maupin.—Oregonian.

Mr. and Mrs. Herrling are enjoying a trip to Crater Lake, Willamette Valley and ocean attractions, to return by way of The Dalles and Maupin.

Too Heavy for Wheat

The International Farm Congress of America, in a call for its annual convention, says in part:

"There are too many farms that bring in little revenue, except the annual check for the wheat crop. The very soil is tired, and its tillers are worn out by the hopeless effort to make acres of wheat spell more dollars.

The time has definitely passed when wheat can carry all the overhead of an average American farm, supply the family of the owner or renter with the money to buy the food supply for the year, and pay the cost of its own production and marketing.

That time may never come again—certainly it will not until the United States ceases to be a wheat exporting nation, for the domestic price is based on the world price and protective measure are proving at best only partially effective. The American farmer cannot successfully compete with the cheap land, cheap labor and water transportation of other countries unless he can take a large part of the cost of operating his farm off of his wheat crop.

Hope of relief through Governmental price-fixing is based on a false theory. Nothing can come of it.

There is no necessity for experiments of any sort—economic, political, or by way of trying out new crops or new farming practices. It has been abundantly proven that this very region to which the conditions under discussion apply, is susceptible to a safe system of crop diversification and live stock production.

All that is need is a program, generally applied, which will bring in revenue every week in the year, to supplement the wheat check. Poultry, dairy cows and other live stock will do this. Such a program will provide twelve months' productive employment on the farm, instead of two. The resultant lessened production of wheat will cause an increase in price, in conformity with the law of supply and demand."
