This proved to be one of the best fairs ever held there and was a success in every way. The exhibits were better than ever before and merited worthy admiration. The live stock surpassed anything shown in any of the past fairs. Other displays were unusually good. The gate receipts were equal to the expectation of the managers of the fair and was a pride to the many who furnished exhibits and entertainments.

The O. A. C. Orchestra was a charming feature of the fair and won much applause. J. N. Landry's Belgian horses were very attractive. They were from Moro and were the first of that line to be shown at the fairs here. The boxing bouts and the horse races and bucking horses were enjoyed by the big crowd.
