To Work for Wheatgrowers

General Manager Jewett of the American Wheat Growers Association, accompanied by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, Herbert Egbert of The Dalles, representing the Farmers Union county; Representative French of Idaho, and Professor Dale of the University of Idaho, appeared before President Coolidge in support of the measure. Mr. Jewett called the attention of President Coolidge to the fact that it was not an opportunity to borrow money that the wheat farmers needed, but rather a price for the product which he raised. Later these men also appeared before the Senate and House Committees on Agriculture at different times and carefully went over the bill with those bodies, explaining in detail just how operations would be carried on under the bill.

The Export Commission League has arranged to send A. N. Wright, of Moro, and Wesley W. Harrah, of Pendleton, both large producers of wheat, to Washington to work for the McNary-Haugen (the Export Commission bill). These men will bring the total of the Northwest delegates at this time in Washington working for the wheat farmers to six for in addition Mr. Jewett and Mr. Egbert, President Shumway of the Oregon Co operative Grain Growers, and Director Harry Goldsworthy of the Washington

Timely Suggestions

The numerous ways in which municipalities and country districts can be given more distinction by "beautification" of one sort or another, are well known. They are subjects of intermittent enthusiasms on the part of groups of citizens in most localities.—"Clean-up weeks, tree planting, development and care of parks and parking, erections of fountains and sculptures painting of weather worn buildings and the like.

The usual method of accomplishing these desirable objects is for some individual, or group of individuals, to undertake a so called "campaign of education" among various local organizations, such as Chambers of Commerce, Rotary Clubs, Church Clubs, Women's Clubs, Parent Teachers Associations, etc., with more or less—too often less—practical results.

The ordinary mortal is too much occupied with his own affairs to give much attention to the general aesthetic welfare. He is likely to provide for a reasonably decent appearance of his own particular home and end with her parents.

Where the Railroad Dollar Goes

Practically all the money the railroads take in is immediately put back into circulation. Railroads do a large volume of business on a narrow margin of net income. Out of every dollar earned from operation by the railways of the United States, there was absorbed in 1922 by

Wages and Salaries.....	44.4 cents
Fuel.....	9.4 "
Other operating and maintenance expenses (including such items as rails and ties, loss and damage).....	25.6 "
Taxes.....	5.4 "
Hire of equipment and joint facility rents.....	1.5 "
Net Operating Income.....	13.7 "
	100.0

Out of this 13.8 cents of net operating income, 12.2 cents went for interest on bonds and other fixed charges, leaving 1.5 cents for stockholders. Adding 6.9 cents of income from outside sources, net corporate income was 8.4 cents, of which 4.9 cents was paid in dividends, leaving 3.5 cents available for appropriations and surplus.

Gross earnings of the railroads in 1922 were $1,567,000,000 more than in 1917. This $1,567,000,000 and more too, was immediately paid out again, as follows:

$918,000,000 in added wages to railroad employees
135,000,000 in added cost coal, mostly miners' wages
122,000,000 for additional taxes
500,000,000 additional for materials and supplies largely representing wages

The stockholders and bondholders of the railroads got none of the increase.

It is significant that good times are always coincident with heavy buying on the part of the railroads that bad times are periods of light railway purchases.

The Union Pacific System is one of the most important enterprises west of the Missouri River. Its nearly 50,000 employees, and their families, constitute a buying power which is the main reliance of many businesses. The purchases of the Union Pacific System from firms located on the system, or which have offices on our lines, aggregate millions of dollars each month.

The railways are planning to spend hundreds of millions of new money during 1924 to better serve the public.

"Our transportation movement during 1923 is the outstanding industrial accomplishment of the year. The waste of the year 1920 with its car shortages, its derangements of price levels, stoppage of industry, probably amounted to not less than a billion of dollars, and the American people and no economic fabric could have stood that loss that did not have a total income in excess of sixty billions. One great contribution to the business stability of the past year has been the fact that we have had a free and regular and orderly movement of transportation."—From address by Secretary of Commerce Herbert C. Hoover, January 9, 1924.
