Help Needed Very Soon

Since the snowfall in the Cascade mountains is far below normal and as a consequence the water run off on the eastern slope will be at a minimum during the summer season it seems good business to use the water while it is available. There is only one real obstacle in the way and that comes home to all of us.

The canal banks on the flat are not repaired at every, needful point. The lower canal up to Wray's place has been repaired and enlarged by the farmers and is in ship shape. A general call for workers from Wray's place west to Shipfin's place to bring up the weak places is now on and farmers who realize the advantage of the water to be delivered 30 days earlier in 1924, or on April 15th, should put everything aside and do each his share in making this possible. The water is down now and flowing in some of the canals and can be turned into all as soon as the repair is made.

To know where work is needed call W. B. Keen, N. G. Hedin, Harvey Morris, Walter Woodside or Otis Chastain and get out with the nearest crew and do some lifting where it counts.

No break in the mountains this year and the ice about all gone, so a full head can be put in soon.

It has been talked up to build a dam at Clear Lake with the farmers cooperating with the merchants and the company.

We can construct a dirt or log crib dam 15 feet high between plowing and harvest if we all take an interest and move together. Some can go in with teams, some can go singlehanded.

Some can't do that but can help with the other cost problems such as the cement, nails, powder, lumber and other things that must be provided, but the main thing needed is the labor, of which we all have a supply on hand.

If we do this in 1924, a dry year, other dry years wont strike and pain full spot in our plans for other dry years. It is the only reasonable course open.

A 15 foot dam will empond enough water to take care of 5000 acres of land and we can sell land and water on a sound and attractive basis to relieve the land poor farmer and the financially hindered company.

The merchants have agreed to grub stake the dam project to the goods and provisions needed and all they ask is a 100 percent united cooperation on the part of the farmers. Don't wait to be called on, but phone in or write to any one of the water users' board or to the company and say you are ready to help financially or with work. Do it this week as next week is not as good.

Soon the road to Clear Lake will be open to auto and wagon and then we should have all plans laid and the start should go off like the 100 strong which is not just a notion but a fact. One hundred farmers and 100 men could build the dam in 30 days. Ask your merchant, ask you committee or ask the company, but don't hold back as it will hurt your best interests.

ON JURIES

Recent events lead us to wonder just what the duties of a juror consist of. Erroneously we had always believed that jurors in criminal cases voted guilty when convinced "beyond a reasonable doubt" of the guilt of the defendant in any case. Now we have the remarkable spectacle of jurors voting not guilty and then stating that they knew the defendant was guilty, but that there were faults in the manner in which the matter was presented to them.

Is the juror one of twelve referees acting to make a decision after a verbal duel between two attorneys? When a jury is evenly divided for conviction and acquittal, a verdict is rendered in good faith either way when they are unanimous inside forty-five minutes?

For over a year, a jury, in the circuit court of Wasco county has not brought in a verdict of guilty despite the fact that case after case that would be absolutely convincing to the average man has been presented to them in an able manner.

In two recent cases where no conviction was secured, overtures were made regarding a plea of guilty provided no jail or penitentiary sentence was imposed.

Jurors in one of these cases stated that there was no doubt in their minds but that the defendant was guilty, and yet they failed to vote that way.

This condition of the public mind is a serious thing, and threatens the welfare and institutions of the country. Every safeguard is thrown around a man's liberty by the laws of our country, but the quibbling juror especially the one who sits on the case of a man with a previous record as law breaking, is a public menace.

Courts and juries will be respected only so long as they are just—just so long as they punish the guilty will the laws be respected. Our officers are criticised for tax enforcement of the prohibition laws—and yet the weakest link in this enforcement is the jury—the twelve good men and true who are supposed to decide as to the guilt or innocence of the accused. When evidence given in good faith by reputable, substantial men, with no personal interest in the case, entirely disregarded by a jury, then it will soon be impossible to get such men to come forward with their evidence.

What will be the result? What will happen when some particularly offensive case comes up? There is a danger that hot heads and foolish people will not wait for the law to take its course and the result will in some degree be chargeable to the juries that have failed to convict.—Optimist
