THEIR BUSY SEASON

With the Christmas holidays but a few weeks away, and the public feeling in a humor to spend as freely as at any time in the past, the house-to-house canvassers are "making hay." The country is said to be overrun with them this season, with the result that numerous sections have been forced to curtail their operations by passing special license laws.

We saw on a mail-order catalogue recently the announcement that "anything that can be sold can be sold by mail." And it seems to be the belief of a good many concerns that anything can be sold by an agent. In fact, many concerns have quit selling their wares in retail stores and to jobbers, and are depending for their distribution upon house-to-house canvassers alone.

Before you buy, or before you place an order, remember that you made your money here and that here is the place to spend it. Remember that your home merchant is also your neighbor and your friend. He'll make good if his goods do not. He helps to keep up your streets, schools and churches—the agent doesn't contribute a penny toward them. Be honest with yourself and your town—tell the next canvasser that you prefer to spend your money right here where you made it.

UP GO POTATOES

Here we've been watching to see that bread prices, now as high as during the strenuous days of the World War, did not go any higher, and haven't given a thought to that other old dining-table standby—the Irish potato. And all the time that favorite in every household has been getting ready to step out for a new price level. In the Michigan potato belt growers are wearing a broad smile—they are getting around $1.30 per 100 pounds, and expecting still better prices as winter sets in in earnest. Everyone, even the potato growers, appears to have been taken by surprise, and indications are that they are due for a still greater surprise. All signs point to still higher prices as the news spreads that the potato crop of this country isn't nearly as large as early indications pointed to. We don't want to encourage hoarding of any description. But it does look right now as though the fellow who puts away a few bushels of "spuds" for future use will only be displaying good judgement, especially as they are selling in Maupin at three cents a pound at this time.

WANTS TO BE SENATOR

James J. Crossley, a Portland attorney, writes The Times a letter in which he sets forth his stand regarding law enforcement, particularly in regard to the liquor question. As an attorney his oath, taken when admitted to the bar, binds him to the enforcement of all laws on the statute books. He cites his activity in Alaska as U. S. attorney and says that under his regime there the saloons and speak-easys were reduced and a number of "unfortunate" women moved out.

He fails to state, however, how he will improve upon the record made by Bob Standfield as senator from Oregon. He may have ideas, but so has Bob, and the latter has worked his out in a way that should meet with the approval of the Oregon constituency.

APPLE ORCHARD WAY TO LARGER WHEAT FIELDS

Eleven hundred acres of the Dufur Orchards company set out to apple trees are being cleared of fruit bearers to make room for wheat fields. This is in addition to the hundreds of acres already denuded of trees. Workmen are laboring to take out the trees and the fields will be plowed and sowed to wheat this fall. If the new land produces as good crop of Jim Hill mustard as did the acres harvested during the 1925 season, mustard punchers will have a chance to exercise all their ingenuity in keeping header aprons clear of the brush. The writer knows, for he worked at that job a few days this season.

The University of Washington trimmed the California Bears in a football game last Saturday, and the native sons were on their own soil. Maybe coach Andy Smith will now see to it that his proteges go into hibernation quarters and come out ready to establish another unbeaten reputation.

Mareoni must have been a wise guy. How he arranged his wireless apparatus to separate the jumble of waves in the air is beyond our comprehension.

The Johnson brothers were in Maupin on business Saturday. They reside at Wamic.

Picked Up About Town

No, Zobebah, Oliver Resh is not calling his wife every time he calls "Kitty." He probably means one of the Angora kittens he annexed while at Portland recently.

Jack Staats has been "raslin'" with a spell of sickness a few days. We bet he would rather endure the vagaries of a thousand women shoppers than put up with a few days' racking of the flu.

George Morris has not as yet figured out just how long a stretch the Juniper Flat wheat crop would make if each kernel were placed end to end.

Clarence Zigenhagen is taking his vacation from the Standard Oil station. We wonder if things are going as smoothly for him while away as the company says Zeroline will make an auto run.

The junior member of The Times staff calls his kitten "Static." It is always yowling and interfering with everything.

Frank Turner is no hand for women. His job is handling mail matter.

Christensen Bros. will soon book "The Ten Commandments" as their next attraction. Biblical or modern?

Professor Geiser says gravel is all right when used as pavement, but he prefers it on the road to having it imbedded in his cuticle.

Eleven Years Ago

From The Times, Nov. 19, '14

Geo. Vanderpool's son, Raymond, is ill with typhoid fever. Dr. Francis is attending him.

Mr. Anderson of Hood River is buying hogs and cattle in this section. Sam Brown, Mr. Heckler, Roy Slusher and several others sold him enough beef stock to make up a carload, which was shipped out today.

Tygh Valley is a beautiful spot at all seasons of the year, and has a fine class of people. They make you feel at home wherever you visit.

Ira Kistner of Wamic arrived this week in Maupin, where he will make his future home.

Attend the Thanksgiving ball at Fischer's hall, east of Maupin, on the Hunts Ferry side. Turkey and oyster supper.

Note the advertisements in this issue. Trade at home and build up our resources.

Mrs. Thomas Flanagan returned from Portland Monday.

A basket social and free dance will be given in the Wapinitia hall, for the benefit of the Wapinitia band. Program with band music, important features of the evening. All welcome. Bring baskets. The date, November 20, 1914.

I have 50 Rhode Island red pullets which I will sell at 75 cents per head if taken at once. Mrs. A. L. Gutzler, Maupin.
