OREGONIAN'S 75th ANNIVERSARY

The Times is in receipt of an invitation to attend the 75th birthday anniversary of The Oregonian, to be observed Friday, December 4th. Only stress of business keeps us away.

Seventy-five years old. What changes have occurred since the first issue of Oregon's leading newspaper came from the press. During that time the paper has seen the great state of Oregon grow from a weakling to an estate of power and wealth; has had a great deal to do in shaping the destiny of this state; has become a power in the political scheme of the country and has disseminated the general news in a manner pleasing to all.

The Oregonian, The Times' hat is off to you. We reverence age, and when our 75th birthday rolls around we hope to be as virile, as full of pep and as influential and popular as you are today. May your shadow never fade.

JUST A SUGGESTION

We are not trying to tell any man or women in Maupin their business. But if we know of a positive method by which they can add to their own happiness and general state of mind, we are not going to withhold the suggestion from them. In this case we want to suggest that before you are tempted to answer the mail-order ad that offers something attractive for Christmas, you first visit your home merchants. See if they have the same thing, or, if they haven't got it ask if they can get it for you. Get the price, and compare that price with the one advertised, if you wish—though mail-order goods are dear at any price. Then if you can't get what you seek, you have done your duty, and fulfilled an obligation you owe your neighbors and your town. If there is a simpler way of making your Christmas happy than by buying at home, we don't know what it is. And if we felt that buying away from home would make you happier—we'd tell you so.

WAPINITIA NEWS

WAPINITIA CHURCH SERVICE
Sunday School 10:00 A. M.
Mrs. Josephine, Floyd, Supt.

Preaching 11:00 A. M. and 7:30 P. M., by Rev. W. A. Mershon, pastor.

Christian Endeavor meets at 6:30, Sunday evening

Midweek prayer meeting 7:00 p. m. Thursdays.

Mrs. E. A. Hartman is home from her Portland visit.

A dance was held at Julius Shepflin's Saturday evening last.

The community sing, suspended during the revival services at this place, have been resumed.

Cloyce Burnside went to The Dalles Friday and was brought home by Cal Burnside Sunday.

Clyde Flinn and wife, who have been in the government employ near Klamath Falls are in Wapinitia for a visit. Mr. Flinn made a trip to The Dalles since coming to this place.

Nearly two inches of snow fell Thursday last, but soon melted. Fog has prevailed since the snowfall.

Forest Ranger Joe Graham has returned from a visit to Portland and is again on the job as ranger.

Prof. West, with his wife and children, made a trip to The Dalles Friday of last week.

Mat Busie is erecting a building at the rear of his pool hall. Rumor has it that Mat intends it for a dance hall.

Home attractions called most of our teachers away for Thanksgiving.

Mr. and Mrs. West drove over and spent the week-end at Arlington.

Earl Banner who is attending school at Dufur, was home for the Thanksgiving holiday.

Del McCoy and wife, who also have been working for the government at Klamath Falls, are here for a visit with relatives and friends.

George Beebe, who has been at the Dane cabin in the mountains, reports a four-inch snowfall there. Ralph Dodge reports the same depth at his cabin. Rains since have caused the snow to disappear.

The church will hold a bazaar at the school house on the evening of December 12, at 7:30 o'clock. The ladies have been industriously at work preparing articles for the bazaar. Supper will be served at the price of 25 cent a plate. Proceeds are to be devoted to church necessities.

Dee Woodside has added to his racing stable by the purchase of two thoroughbred fillies, which he bought of Henry Trowbridge of John Day. They were brought to the Woodside ranch by H. E. Hammer on his truck. The colts are one and two years old and will be trained by Mr. Woodside and Jockey Delco for next season's campaign.

The Christian Endeavor held its first social of the season at the parsonage Friday evening. Owing to an overindulgence in roast turkey but a small crowd turned out.

A carload of hogs was shipped from this section to Portland last Saturday. They belonged to Julius Shepflin, Lou McCoy and Roy Batt. Mr. Shepflin went with the shipment to Portland.

Brothers Meet Here After Many Years

Thirty-six years ago Joe and Frank Kaiser, brothers of our town's chief tonsorialist, parted company at their home in Kanss. Joe drifted around, finally settling in Los Angeles, while Frank remained in the home state for several years, when he, too, came west. Twenty-six years ago Ralph Kaiser now of Maupin, and Joe met in Frisco, when the former was on his way home from the Philippines, for the last time since the close of the Spanish-American war. The three brothers met in Maupin on Monday, when the two who live in other places, Frank in Washougal, Wash., and Joe in the "City of Angles," came here. Frank returned to his home Tuesday morning while Joe will spend the week in Maupin. Frank and Ralph are barbers and Joe is one of the leading building contractors of the southern California country.

Street Lights Going In

The Maupin Power company has been busy the past few days putting in street lights. The work has been delayed of inability to get fixtures for the center lights, which have to come from Schnectady, N. Y., the Portland electrical companies being unable to supply the needed fixtures.

Woodcock Bros. informed The Times that they will string a few rows of streamer lights across Deschutes avenue providing the globes are furnished by the city. If this is done the effect will be that our streets will be lighted a la Portland.

P. J. Conroy, one of the leading sheep men of the Shaniko district, was transacting business in Maupin Monday.

CHURCH SERVICES

Two Men and Their Credit

Two men walked into this bank the other day, both asking for a substantial loan. One of them secured all that he required; to the other we could not and did not extend credit.

The reason is this: The man who secured all that he requested had maintained a substantial balance in his checking account. We know his ability and his financial stability. We know that our money with him will be safe.

The other man to whom we dared not extend credit, has an account, it's true, but the balance in his account was always low an occasionally overdrawn—a poor credit risk. This is only one reason why it is valuable to maintain a substantial balance in your checking account.
