THE GREATEST LOVE

We see where Will Rogers, the great comedian, and former ranch hand, returned to his old home town in Oklahoma and was greeted by thousands at the opera house, where he made a speech. In that speech he declared that every city man has one anxiety deeper than anything else—and that is as to his standing with the folks back in his old home. Will Rogers is right. Out in the world are many former Maupin boys, now grown to manhood and surrounded with worries. But nothing would worry them more than to know that their old home town has forgotten them. They may learn to love their newer surroundings, and they may become fond of their newer acquaintances. But deep down in their hearts the greatest love and their greatest admiration is for their home town and the people they spent their boyhood with.

The Maupin boy who got his skin full of moonshine liquor last Saturday night and as a result suffered with stomach ache, made the right resolve when he swore off on the stuff forever. A few shots of some of the stuff sold under the guise of liquor might have put him under a sod covering instead of a blanket of wool.

Remember that Maupin will hold a Christmas celebration as a community with a tree and all the fixin's. When the solicitor comes to you don't say your hand is paralyzed, but dig down and dig up as strong as you can. It's all for the kiddies.

The recent celebration of the 75th anniversary of the founding of the Portland Oregonian was a feast, not only of the good things for the inner man, but a feast of wholesome historical fact as well.

Now that Christmas is approaching let us remind all of that old saw—"Shop early."

Picked Up About Town

Bob Wilson says "the old-fashioned clothes they used to wear may have shown good taste, but that's all they did show."

"Bill" Statts says his idea of the meanest man on earth is the who won't take a paper because his wife might find a bargain among the ads and spend a little of his money.

"Old nature may be pretty wise in all provisions, but what can she hope to gain by putting a pair of bow legs on a pretty girl?" says Lester Kelly.

"Now that they're teaching so many things in school, why wouldn't a course in how to help around the house be a good idea?" That is what Gus Derthick advances.

Bates Shattuck says "most anyone would be willing to turn the grindstone for sharpening the knife with which taxes are cut.

"The boy of today is a good deal like the old-fashioned boy," says Jack Morrow, "except that the old-fashioned boy only asked for a nickel."

Bob Wilson was told that brant was not good to eat. Jim Chalmers said the ones Bob killed were Canada geese, therefore should not be eaten on this side of the border, as they were aliens.

School Clerk Resigns

J. C. Pratt, who has been acting as school clerk of school district No. 84, has resigned his position and the school board has chosen George Tillotson to complete the term. Mr. Pratt's mail carrying job required most of his attention, and that being his regular business, did not feel justified in doing the school work. Mr. Tillotson is especially well qualified to serve as clerk and the patrons of our schools will be pleased at his selection.

DELEGATES REPORT

The associated students of Maupin high school elected James Appling, president, and Lawrence Harpham, as delegates to represent them at the conference of high school representatives held at Eugene December 4th and 5th, under the auspices of the University of Oregon. The boys returned Sunday very enthusiastic over the program of addresses and entertainment offered by the college. The assembly period on Tuesday and Wednesday was given over to reports of the conference by the delegates. In an address, "Conference Objectives" Walter Malcom stated that representative students and officers from all over the state had been gathered there that might present the problems they encounter in their respective schools and receive advice on their solution. He stressed the value educationally and socially of the contact at the conference of a great number of students of common interests with each other and with experienced men of the college.

"Oregon High School Athletics" was the subject of an address by Supt. C. A. Howard of Marshfield. He said that development of school and team loyalty was of greater importance than individual ambition and that greatest of all was a striving for clean sportsmanship. He made clear the opportunity for receiving mental training in accuracy and quickness on the athletic field, and said this benefit was only equalled by the physical improvement of the athletes. He urged the organization of class teams in order that athletic benefits might not be confined to a few.

One of the most interesting addresses was the discussion by Superintendent Howard of student body organizations. He showed the necessity of developing the interest of each individual in the welfare of his school and said that a student body, acting as a unit, could be of great power in setting the standard of individual conduct and in determining the reputation of the school.

The two days were fully occupied from nine in the morning until four in the afternoon by addresses and group discussions. On Friday evening the delegates were entertained at a banquet, followed by an evening of typical college vaudeville. The Maupin boys were entertained at Friendly Hall, the men's dormitory.

Ira Kidder, a former student of Shaniko, enrolled as a sophomore at the Maupin high school Monday. This brings the enrollment to twenty-five.

County School Superintendent, Gronewald, visited Maupin School, Friday, December 4.

On December 18 the Maupin basketball team will play a game with the Culver team, to be played at Maupin.

Old Slogan—Shop Early

The merchants of the country have advised Christmas shoppers to make their purchases early. That slogan has been in existence many years, but is still applicable. If you desire to secure the gifts you have in mind is behooves all to go to the stores advertising Christmas goods at the very earliest possible time. The stocks are not depleted and you will then have a chance of getting just what you have in mind. Yes, Shop Early.

Two Men and Their Credit

Two men walked into this bank the other day, both asking for a substantial loan. One of them secured all that he required; to the other we could not and did not xt end credit.

The reason is this: The man who secured all that he requested had maintained a substantial balance in his checking account We know his ability and his financial stability. We know that our money with him will be safe.

The other man to whom we dare not extend credit, has an account, it's true, but the balance in his account was always low an occasionally overdrawn—a poor credit risk. This is only one reason why it is valuable to maintain a substantial balance in your checking account.
