NEWS OF PINE GROVE

Lewis Walters and wife, Francis Walters and son visited at the home of O. S. Walters last Friday. The last named are from Wasington.

Telephone line No. 25 has been changed from Bronner fields to the lane about a mile east, the work having been done last Saturday.

Mrs. Lewis Walters is on the sick list.

George Endersby visited at the home of Julius Shepfin last week, coming from Sundale, Washington.

WAPINITIA NEWS

WAPINITIA CHURCH SERVICE
Sunday School 10:00 a. m., Mrs. Josephine, Floyd, Supt. Preaching 11:00 a. m. and 7:30 p. m., by Rev. W. A. Mershon, Pastor.

Christian Endeavor meets at 6:30, Sunday evening.

Rev. Mershon states that owing to the Salvation Army contingent not having means of coming here from The Dalles, their intended visit will not be made as was planned.

Ruby Powell was compelled to leave school Tuesday because of illness.

Edith Floyd has been laid up with the flu.

L. M. Woodside is again ill with the same trouble which afflicted him last summer.

Prof. Halburd, son, Bill, and daughter, Evlda, were Sunday dinner guests of the Wards last Sabbath.

Elwin Sturgis has been numbered with those who have the flu.

Ruby and Rilla Powell were hostesses to Rev. Mershon and wife and Prof. Halburd and family at dinner Wednesday evening last.

The weather is some colder. Rain, snow and sleet has been falling, finally ending with a two-inch fall of snow.

Lew McCoy and family made a couple of trips to The Dalles, lately.

Geo. Endersby, a former resident of this place, is here renewing old acquaintances.

Francis Walters and family, former residents, are here for a short visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Hallmier of Wamic were Wapinitia visitors Friday.

Lee Halburd, who has been visiting here the past week, returned to Enterprise, Oregon, Friday.

Prof. A. D. Halburd was unable to teach school Tuesday. Flu symptoms.

The date for the C. E. social has been set for Friday, February 26, at the school house. A good program is assured. Baskets will be sold, but not by auction, as another plan for disposing of them is being worked out. Rev. Mershon is chairman of the program committee; Ruby Powell of basket and candy booth committee; Florence Woodside, chairman of the advertising, and A. L. Hartman of the arrangement committee.

Reservoir Tested

A test of the reservoir yesterday showed that it contained 23,000 gallons of water. A test of the fire hydrants demonstrated that 710 gallons of water could be drawn from the reservoir per minute, and that rate could be kept up several hours without depleting the big tank with the rams running.

Soldier Visiting Here

F. M. Dodge, a member of the Headquarters Battery, light artillery, and son of H. M. Dodge of Wapinitia, was in Maupin yesterday on his way to his father's ranch. The young soldier is starting on a two-months' furlough from his duties at Camp Lewis.

Picked Up About Town

Dolph Goetjen says that most men have but two objects in life—one is to get rich and the other is to get richer.

"A man with a small income," says Bob Bell, "has no business with a large family and a second-hand car at the same time—but you can't make him believe it."

Tom Henneghan says his advice to old-timers in this neck-of-the-woods is never try to press out a celluloid collar while it's hot.

Our idea is that after a fellow has learned to play the saxophone, he oughtn't to practice too much.

"I can't see where Adam had any kick coming," says Al Kennedy. "He could get in at three o'clock in the morning without having his wife accuse him of being out with some other woman."

Lou Kelly says that if science keeps on making rapid strides on the farm, it won't be long until a fellow can raise a crop with a necktie on.

Frank Turner says he wouldn't mind being laid up with lumbago if the darned thing didn't hurt so much.

Jimmie Harpham says a lot more men would be sowing wild oats if they could get someone else to harvest the crop.

"I see in the papers," observes Bob Wilson, "that the League of nations is going to prohibit the use of gas in wars. Why don't they prohibit the kind of 'gas' that starts wars?"

According to Bill Staats the man who trims his finger nails on the street is tearing shingles from the roof of the beauty parlor.

Hallie S. Rice Dead

The remains of the late Hallie S. Rice were laid to rest in The Dalles cemetery yesterday afternoon, being followed to the grave by one of the largest concourses ever gathered for a like event.

The funeral was held from the Congregational church. Friends by the hundred gathered at the church to pay respect to the memory of one whose entire life had been closely identified with Wasco county. His bier was banked with beautiful flowers, love tokens from many friends.

Hallie Rice was born in Wasco 39 years ago. He engaged in business at an early age and on many occasions served his home city in an official capacity.

Mr. Rice was taken sick several weeks ago. He went to Portland for treatment, but his recovery was not to be, and Sunday night his spirit winged its way to eternal rest.

Shakespeare Up-to-Date Tells Motorists' Terrible Toll

SHAKESPEARE'S seven ages of mankind made no reference to the number who were cut off in their prime by automobiles. If he had, suggests the Stewart-Warner Safety Council, it might have run something like this parody on his famous lines:

At first the infant,
Killed by a truck while in his nurse's arms,
And then the careless schoolboy with his marbles,
Playing in the streets after his lessons
Are over. And then the lover,
Absent-minded, walking with a box of candy
Under his arm, to see his loved one,
Is struck by a taxi and hurled to the ground.
Next comes the gay young blood
Out for his evening's entertainment, whom
Sixty miles an hour lands forty years too soon
Upon a slab in some unfriendly morgue.
And then the banker, full of worldly pride and honors,
Jay-walks across the street between two mighty deals of finance,
And wakes to find Saint Peter quizzing him.
Next, the family man, with years upon him,
Confused and jostled in the crowd,
Missteps, and dies amid thanksgiving
That his last premium was paid up.
And last, hoary age, tottering and feeble,
Perhaps with crutch, or eye too dimmed with time,
An easy victim for some selfish motorist,
Sans care, sans thought, sans skill, sans everything—but speed.

The chart above shows what proportion of all accidents happening to each age group are automobile accidents. The toll is highest for the very young and very old. This situation is explained partly by the heedlessness of the young and the infirmity of old age. Moreover, these two groups are least involved in industrial accidents which makes their automobile casualties constitute a larger part of their total accidents.
