East Maupin Notes

East Maupin is still on the map and it gives The Times pleasure to chronicle the happenings of that part of our city under a separate head.

Phil Mott is seriously ill with grippe.

Francis Cunningham entertained relatives from Condon last week.

Dave Donaldson, local champion fisherman, was at The Dalles last week after medical treatment.

Miss Violet Mott visited her parents Sunday. She is working at the Raymond Crabtree home on the Flat.

John Manning was in from Bakeoven Saturday. He has been herding sheep for the Farghers there.

Landlord Caton of the Hotel Kelly reports travel as increasing and his hostelry enjoying a satisfying business.

Let us figure on your paint job. We handle W. P. Fuller & Co.'s Pioneer—first on the Coast line. Maupin Drug Store.

Mrs. L. Fischer says she sold two tubs of ice cream Saturday and Sunday, which goes to show the value of advertising.

Harry, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Rutherford is reported as being in Dr. Elwood's care. He has an attack of pneumonia.

Andy Mann returned from an extended visit to Portland Saturday. Andy expects to herd the Hunt sheep the coming season.

Ben Herring of Criterion is now enjoying music and other things coming in on a Super-Crossley radio set, which he bought from Verne Fischer last Saturday.

Maupin is bound to grow, and to be in on that growth an extra lot would not be amiss. Buy one now before prices advance. Buy a home and be somebody. See H. L. Morris.

For Little Folks

It seems as though Santa Claus has gone to more trouble making things for the little girls than the little boys this year. There are complete tea sets of lusterware, electric sets that really cook food in sufficient quantities for a good sized tea party, real cedar chests, floor lamps, and sewing tables, all just as nicely finished as the grown-ups' furniture.

Charity at Home

"Pardon me, sir, I am soliciting for our Christmas rummage sale. What do you do with your old clothes?" "Why, I brush them and fold them carefully at night, and I put them on again in the morning."

Common Type

Jud Tunkins says his folks always put off their Christmas arrangements so that along about the 23rd of December they have to shop both early and late.—Washington Evening Star.

Test

"He has proposed, but does he really love me?" "Wait and see what he sends you for Christmas, girlie. Then give him your answer."

Wood For Sale

The forestry service has closed down on allowing the cutting of green timber into firewood, allowing only dead timber for that purpose. We have considerable green fir and pine which we are cutting into firewood and will book orders for future delivery from now on. Get them in now. Hedin Lumber Co. 17-eow-tf

NEWS OF PINE GROVE

The success of the play, "Old Fashioned School," given at Wapinitia by the U. B. Christian Endeavor Society, has caused a request for a second performance, which will be staged at the Pine Grove school house, Saturday evening, March 6, at 7:30 p. m. This will afford an opportunity for those who missed the play last week to see the rip-roaring comedy by local talent. Come, laugh and forget your troubles for one evening. It is one continuous giggle. The roads between Wapinitia and Pine Grove have been dragged, so the traveling is fairly good. An admission will be charged:—25 cents for adults and 10 cents for school children.

The Matthews family from John Day are expected next week at the Sam Brown ranch. Mr. and Mrs. Matthews were up Sunday and made final arrangements for renting the place. There are seven children in the family, three of whom will be in school.

John Davis returned from Bend Wednesday. He has been employed there in the saw mills for some time. He has employment now with L. Woodside on the Lou Kelly ranch.

Miss Overman, teacher at Pine Grove, has been ill since Friday, so the school is having a vacation.

Mr. Moore has moved to the Linn Mill, where he has employment. The mill is being equipped to begin operations soon.

Mrs. Shepfin has returned from The Dalles, where she has been receiving medical attention.
