Ben Gabel was a Maupinite who transacted business at The Dalles the first of the week.

Verne Fischer made a hurry round trip to Portland Saturday, returning Sunday afternoon.

J. M. Conklin arrived from Portland Tuesday morning and spent a day or so at the bank.

A. R. Wilcox came in from the Wapinitia country Monday and spent several hours in Maupin shopping.

Mark Stewart was at Tygh Sunday, and while there inspected the meat market of Lee Jackson.

Mrs. R. Geiser is about again, after having been confined to her bed five days of last week with gripe.

Ten cars of cattle were taken from up the river Monday over the Oregon Trunk to the Portland market.

Spalding athletic goods for sale. Special prices to schools and ball clubs. Maupin Drug Store.

Jack Staats has become a member of the great fraternity of autoists, having acquired a Ford touring car.

J. E. Hinton, one of the largest sheep raisers of this section, was in from the home ranch near Shaniko Monday.

Postmaster Turner was on another enforced layoff from his duties the first of the week—gripe got him this time.

George Moore, proprietor of the Redmont garage, was in Maupin a short time Saturday on his way home from Portland.

Miss Loraine Stovall spent the weekend with her parents, coming home Wednesday and returning to the Monmouth normal school Saturday.

Walter Maye and wife, who conduct a grocery store at Moro, were in Maupin Sunday, guests of Jack Morrow and wife. Mrs. Maye is a cousin of Mr. Morrow.

Oscar Renick and family were at The Dalles Sunday, Oscar going there to practice with The Dalles baseball team, with which he has signed as catcher for this season.

Darrel Elwood, after spending a part of his mid-term vacation with his father in Maupin, returned to his studies at U. of O. Saturday, his father taking him to The Dalles that day.

R. Ed. Williams, the cleaner of The Dalles, was in Maupin a short time Saturday. While here Mr. Williams took membership in the Deschutes River Anglers association.

Ed. Stephan, who has been living on his place near Shady Brook during the winter was in town the first of the week. Ed. is preparing to take a band of sheep to the mountains for the summer.

Mrs. Orrin Farlow, daughter of W. H. Morrison, is now employed at the Hotel Kelly. She has been living on a homestead in the sticks for some time past and comes to town to throw off the ennui caused by a lonely existence in the wilds.

E. O. Martin of Gateway has been in town several days receiving treatment for blood poison in one of his hands. He bruised the member and not having it properly dressed poison set in. Dr. Elwood will soon have him at work again.

There is no reasonable reason why Maupin people should go around in spotted and dusty raiment—Williams' cleaning parlors of The Dalles has a solicitor making regular trips here twice a week. Leave your duds at this office and they will be fixed up right at minimum cost.

Picked Up About Town

Buck Harpham is getting pessimistic. His latest outbreak is: "Modern girls are just like autos—they may be painted up pretty and then not have much to brag about under the hood."

"The fellow who paid a whole lot of money for a coat of tan in Florida," elucidates Jim Chalmers, "will soon be able to get one for nothing at home."

"Now that women wear such short skirts, it may help them in running for office," says French Butler.

Oscar Renick shows he is a real philosopher. He declares that "Most of us ought to be thankful that the prayers of our enemies are not all answered."

Dick Johnson says that after pricing hats in The Dalles he is more than ever convinced there is good money in both men's and women's headgear. He says prices of each he looked at would buy a dozen of the mail order kind.

"Man has learned to fly like a bird," observes Bob Wilson, "but he'll never be able to imitate a bird when it comes to sitting on a barbed-wire fence."

Bates Shattuck is tempting fate and inviting a fracture of the fishing laws. The fishing tackle display he is showing in one of his windows would make any ardent disciple of Izaak Walton break any law just so he could wet a leader in the Deschutes at this time.

Lew Henneghan says the hog is "the mortgage lifter on the farm, but who would carry such an impediment if he raised plenty of hogs?"

Maupin Wins, Loses

Wapinitia's grade and high school baseball teams engaged similar teams from the Maupin schools Sunday at this place. The grade visitors lost to Maupin, while the Wapinitia H. S. team won their contest.

Spring weather—best for picture taking. Keep a supply of films on hand, Maupin Drug Store.

Eleven Years Ago

From The Times, Apr. 2, '15

The big water supply for the farmers on Juniper Flat will be ready in from 60 to 90 days. Near that time the water will be let into the big ditch that is already completed to a distance of about six miles from the outlet of the storage reservoir. The project when completed will furnish water for 40,000 to 50,000 acres of land. (The accompanying story was run 11 years ago. It was optimistic in tenor, but, oh, how that system has failed to live up to expectations and promises made at that time.—Ed. The Times.)

W. H. Dufur and wife came up from Portland Wednesday and Mrs. Dufur has been visiting with Mrs. W. H. Staats. Mr. Dufur, who is a brother of Mrs. Staats, continued on his way to Pringle Falls, near Lapine, to look after some valuable interests. It is the intention of Mr. Dufur to develop the wonderful power at these falls and furnish electricity for both lighting and manufacturing purposes.

Roy Crabtree drove a nice bunch of cows through town Wednesday.

The farmers are rejoicing over the good rains which have fallen during the past week.
