Rank Extravagance Says This Farmer

C. E. Spence, State Market Agent: In an issue of the Maupin times I read a statement, attributed to the market agent, that the average person on the farm spends $55 for clothing during the year, or did during 1925. I feel that I must enter a protest, as I consider this rank extravagance on the part of the farmers.

My personal expenses for clothing in 1925 were, one shirt $2; one pair overalls $1.75; one pair shoes $1; three pair socks 49 cents; making a total of $5.24.

I might have saved $1.75 by buying a cheaper shirt, but otherwise I can't see where I could have further economized.

School Happenings

GRADUATION PEPERATIONS

The events of the final week of school which pertain to graduation ceremonies are occupying the attention of the senior class.

On Sunday evening, May 16, at eight o'clock, in the high school auditorium, the baccalaureate sermon will be delivered.

The class night exercises will be held on Tuesday, May 20, at eight in the auditorium. The program will be representative of the abilities of the seniors.

The final occasion, graduation exercises, will occur Thursday, May 20. As commencement speaker, Mr. Geiser has secured the services of Prof. W. G. Beattie, educational director of the Extension division of the University of Oregon. M. Beattie enjoys a high reputation as a public speaker, and his address is pleasurable anticipated.

The friends and patrons of the school and community an extended an invitation to be present at these occasions.

The man who, because he has been elected to an unimportant office swells up over the "importance of his position," may be classified as scum on the surface of a stagnant pond—neither utilitarian or of sound ideas.

The eternal triangle usually ends up in a wreck-tangle.

May Day—National Child Health Day

The celebration of May Day as National Child Health Day was suggested by the American Child Health Association in 1923. It is rapidly becoming an established custom in every part of the country to dedicate May 1st, as an appropriate time for taking stock of the child health conditions of each community and to undertake some definite lasting program for improving them.

In Oregon all health agencies are uniting their efforts to make this third celebration of May Day, as National Child Health Day, one of importance by putting on practical health programs in every part of the state where there are organized activities.
