Smith's Analyst Is New State Journal

The origin of the name—Smith—is clouded by time. Just how the name became attached to humans is not definitely known. It is a matter of history, however, that people bearing that name have been before the public for so, these many years. Captain John Smith of early colonial days, the man who made Pocahontas an outstanding feature of that time, is known to every primary scholar in the land. There have been Black Smiths, Silver Smiths, Tin Smiths, Copper Smiths and Smiths of all followings. Some have deviated from the original spelling of the name, even going so far as to say "Smythe, Smyth, Smithe, Schmid, Schmidt" etc., is Smith.

The Smiths have even invaded the literary field, note the Smith who is connected with a New York publication which specializes in improbable fiction. But there is one Smith who realizes that literature is a calling which should bring out the best endeavors of all who follow that bent—Eugene E. Smith, who lately launched a publication termed "Smith's Analyst," in Portland. This Smith realized the need of a journal which would comment on questions before the public and make a concise analysis of such; that political chicanery be challenged and exposed; that matters of every nature concerning the state of Oregon be gone into and made plain to the reading public and that the truth be dug from beneath camouflage. Mr. Smith, while not a Billy Brann, is as much an iconoclast when it comes to exposing trickery, wrong doing and political subterfuge. That his journal will, to quote a frayed expression, fill a long felt need in the literary field of Oregon, a perusal of the two volumes issued will attest.

Just a little personal, Bro.

Smith: We have never been accused of showing the white feather, but will confess we would be afraid to show the temerity expressed by you in printing your picture on the front page of The Analyst. We acknowledge you are just ahead of us in beauty, but in the interest of harmony in the profession, we suggest you cut it out in future issues of your most acceptable publication.

Graduates Get Diplomas

waif, was ably handled, he using the dialect of Sunny Italy like a finished vaudevillian, Prof. Geiser was at the end of the program. He reviewed his connection with our schools and made it plain that home environments as well as strict attention to school study was necessary as a foundation for an education. The whole program was a surprise to all present.

The real graduation will take place this evening. The following program has been arranged and that it will be as pleasing as that of Tuesday evening no one doubts. We go to press too early to print just how the event went over, but we feel safe in saying that each number will be well worth hearing. The program follows:

Song (Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Morris, Mrs. Staats)

Violin Solo. Mr. J. H. Woodcock

Commencement Address

Prof. W. G. Beattie, head Extension department University of Oregon.

Cornfield Melodies Boys' Sextet.

Award of Track Letters and of Lincoln Essay Contest Medal. Vocal Solo Mrs. H. J. Bothwell. Presentation of Class of 1926 and Award of Diplomas.

Picked Up About Town

French Butler says "that many a man who insists on his wife running the house on a budget is running his own business on a shoestring."

"Another thing you never have to advertise for when you're hunting it is trouble," is the verdict of George Morris.

Cecil Woodcock says "the old-fashioned way of courting in a hammock had one advantage over the modern auto courtship. When there was a break-down you didn't have to walk ten miles to get back home."

"When some men buy a shiny new tin auto they leave the tag on it for two weeks to show people that it is new," is the analysis of Frank Stuart.

"The trouble with a lot of fellows," says Bob Wilson "is they want to be drivers of the Prosperity wagon instead of helping to load it up."

"Any time you tell a woman a 'dead secret' you can bet your life she will put some life into it," is the way Jimmy Harpham puts it.

"I've always noticed," comments Jim Woodcock, "that when a man has an axe to sharpen he can always find a few suckers willing to turn the grindstone."

"The country may be going to the dogs, but it seems to us there are lots of dogs that ought to go to the country," comments Marshal Derthick.

Bates Shattuck says: "Some men are crazy about the radio—and others just look on it as something else they have to listen to."

East Maupin Notes

The bridge across White River was sufficiently completed this week to allow teams to cross over, taking the road grader and tools across for work necessary on this side.

A party of horse buyers were through this section Tuesday and bought up several horses to send to Europe for use in the French army.

Messrs. Bell, Conklin and Stuart went to Sherar Monday, making a big catch of Salmon. They report there were over 100 people there, each getting from one to three fish.

Dr. Elwood was in this city Saturday and again Tuesday, looking over the situation with a view of possibly making this his residence in the future.

H. L. Emmons and Jack Staats were up the river about 20 miles, fishing a couple of days, return-Monday, having made some big catches of trout.

Miss Ica Derthick closed a successful term of school in the Derthick district today. She is planning to attend summer normal at Monmouth.

New homesteaders have been in our midst and two of them have filed upon claims this week.

The Hartman sawmill, which has been shut down since last fall, will start planing Thursday.

The schedule of games for the Maupin baseball team for the next three weeks is as follows: Antelope, May 23; Wamic at Maupin, May 30; Antelope at Maupin June 6.
