Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Herring and daughter, Mildred, passed through here on their way to the coast and stopped to visit the Fischer family.

A few hand painted 42-piece dinner sets left—$7.50. Maupin Drug Store.

Truck Broke Down

One of the Richmond trucks engaged in night hauling of sheep guano, broke down at Hunt's corral the first of the week. Consequently Billy Heckman and "Klausie" Martin are laying off the job for a few days.

Painting Drug Store

Painters have greatly improved the interior of the Maupin Drug store by applying a coat of white paint to the walls and ceiling.

Wamic Man In Collision

G. G. Magill, Wamic rancher, was in The Dalles Monday and figured in a slight auto accident. The Wamic man was driving on Second street, thinking to beat another man to a crossing. The other fellow speeded up and his machine busted into the Magill car. Damage was slight.

Former Maupinite Is Benedict

Claude E. Hall for some time employed by F. C. Butler as meat cutter, now following the same vocation in The Dalles, was married in that city last Sunday, his bride being Miss Isabelle Aldrup of Corvallis. The young couple will enjoy a short honeymoon and will set up house-keeping upon their return to The Dalles.

Took Needed Water—Fined

Phil Mott, Clarence Alexander and Floyd Eubanks, ranchers on the Wapinitia section, absolutely needing water for stock and domestic purposes, helped themselves to a supply. For doing this they were fined a total of $45.00 and costs by Water Master Brown. The matter was settled out of court.

Making It Comfortable

Ben Fraley and wife believe that nothing but the best is good enough for their customers, and to carry out that idea recently installed a couple of easy chairs and a settee. The new pieces of furniture are leather covered and make acceptable addition to the resting place of the Rainbow restaurant.

Rain Helps Seeding

The rains of this week will have the effect of putting the ground in shape for seeding. Many ranchers are treating their grain preparatory to putting it in the ground, and with a little more precipitation summer fallow will soon be planted all over this section.

Bought New Wagon

Carl Duus came in from Criterion Monday and when he went home was riding on a brand new Mitchell wagon, purchased that day from the Wilson company.

PICKED UP ABOUT TOWN

In speaking of the recent Amundson trip to the pole Billy Heckman moralizes thusly: "One trouble about taking a vacation at the north pole is that you can't bring back anything for souvenirs but frosted feet."

"The main drawback about business," says Oliver Resh, "is that it takes up so much time that otherwise could be spent in fishing."

"Some people will not believe that 'money talks' until they have heard it say 'farewell,'" is the decision of Ben Fraley.

Joe Kramer says the best way for a man to enjoy a watermelon is to be about 15 years old and steal it.

"Young America can now be said to be burning a lot of midnight oil—and also a lot of midnight gasoline," according to Dad Richmond.

"Tomorrow is the day that the things you did not put off today will begin to sprout," says Dick Johnson.

"Fies," says Jim Woodcock, "never know when to take a nap—and neither do they seem to know when a fellow is trying to take one."

According to Bill Staats "the modern farmer has grown too wise to exchange his money for gold bricks, but he will swap his vote for a lot of soft soap."

"The life of the iceman may be all to the good," says Jack Morrow, "but packing heavy cakes from the street to iceboxes on a hot day is anything but conducive to aimableness."

Dave Donaldson is a champion fisherman. But when one considers that Dave uses a pole long enough to fish both sides of the river his luck is not to be wondered at.

ELEVEN YEARS AGO
From The Times August 20, '15

Several people from Wamic are going to the huckleberry fields after berries, which are now ripening in that district.

The separator owned by John Van Meter near Grass Valley, with which Ray Aubrey has been working, blew up last week, burning the straw stack and 300 sacks of wheat, bruising up Mr. Aubrey and three other men quite badly.

Frank Creager brought a cucumber to The Times office this morning that measured 13 inches in length and 7 1/2 inches in circumference.

E. H. Taylor's header box and wagon tipped over Saturday morning at his ranch near Criterion, throwing him and the loader, Joe Gray, upon a ledge of rocks. Both were quite badly bruised up.

Charles W. Steed and Arthur O. Harvey of Wamic have entered a contest in The Dalles land office against Mrs. Annie E. Rust of Tygh Valley on a homestead entry on land in Sherman county.

Dave Donaldson has been making a raid on coyotes, getting three last week.

It is reported there is to be a wedding on the summit of Mt. Hood in the near future. We'll tell about it in next week's Times.
