PATTERSON ON THE RADIO

Republican Gubernatorial Candidate Will Be On Air Monday Night

Another radio address to the voters of Oregon, his second during the present campaign, will be broadcast from Portland by I. L. Patterson, republican nominee for governor, on the night of Monday, Oct. 18.

Patterson will use station KOIN for this talk and will speak for about 15 minutes at 9 p. m. He will discuss the conduct of the state's business from the point of view of a conservative, economical, hard-headed-business man. Those of our people who have radios will hear something to their advantage by tuning in on KOIN that evening, for Mr. Patterson has a message of interest to all.

PICKED UP ABOUT TOWN

Conrad Hauser of Tygh Valley is a very mild tempered man, but when a Washington sheriff makes him pungle up money for a second payment of taxes on the same property, then Hauser shows how high the bulb of a Swiss temper can climb.

A man from over east was in Maupin last week trying to sell stock in the shale oil fields said to exist near Clarno. His line of "bull" did not go over very strong with Maupin people.

Jim Woodcock is about to lose what little hair he has left. The Housewives Council is getting our power man all worked up and Jim is trying hard to work out figures to refute those advanced by the proponents of that measure.

Dave Donaldson is at it again—trying to catch all the big fish in the river. If he succeeds he will have to lay in a supply of stronger tackle, for a Dolly Varden exerts some pull when hooked.

It has been suggested that our city fathers erect a big sign at either end of Deschutes avenue calling attention to the speed limit. By so doing they may be the means of preventing a serious accident, especially at the lower end, near the High school.

Bill Staats is tender hearted. He says that to eat one of his tame trout would make him feel like he was a cannibal.

Prof. Nagel likes to fish, but the next time he goes up the river and climbs the rocky banks he will wear shoes other than those designed for a tennis court.

Frank Stuart believes in boosting for his home town. In Saturday's Oregonian he is quoted as saying "Maupin is all there and up coming strong." The right sentiment we say.

Gus Derthick says there is but one thing harder on clothing than rose thorns, and that is barbed wire fence. He knows.

More Hogs From Maupin
Julius Shepflin shipped another carload of fat hogs to the North Portland market last Saturday night. Mr. Shepflin is one of the most successful hog raisers in this section, his shipments of porkers always bringing the top market price. He accompanied the last shipment to Portland.

Wreck On Maupin Grade.

A Portland man figured in a slight spill on the grade near town yesterday morning. He was driving a new Hudson auto and in making the turn did not slacken speed. As a consequence the car nearly ran into the fence on the left side of the roadway and the driver applied the brakes, causing the rear wheels to skid, which had the effect of throwing the car into the bank on the right side of the roadway, which caused the car to turn over on its left side. Both fenders and lights on the left side of the auto were ruined, but no glass was broken. The car was taken to the Maupin garage for repairs.
