INSPIRATION

To put all of the emphasis on the value of an education is a mistake in so far as education without inspiration is valueless. Only when you include inspiration as an element of education or one of its by-products can you rate education above all other advantages. There are educated men, well read men and intelligent men who are of little value to themselves or to society because they have not that divine spark of inspiration that puts education to work and without which education can not work.

Education comes to man through reading, talking, listening and thinking. Inspiration comes wit hit thru the right kind of reading, the right kind of conversation and the deep and profound kind of thought. In other words, some literature conveys book learning and other literature proposes only to inspire the reader, to lift him out of his work-a-day stupor.

Unknown to many, the human mind, by proper impetus, is capable of kindling the divine spark of inspiration. There are many workmen who are stirring their creative ambitions by daily meditation on the ideals of their occupation and upon the vast possibilities lying dormant in their field of labor. No man ever suffered by imagining his job bigger than it really was. Of such imaginings is inspiration made.

Inspiration hitched up to education or just plain knowledge is making men, communities, nations, business enterprises and all the great inventive, industrial and commercial marvels of the twentieth century.

"There can be no great and lasting work without inspiration," wrote Emerson.

MAKING CHRISTMAS SANE

There are two bits of advice which it is folly to ignore in this season. The one is "Do your Christmas Shopping Early..." and "Send Your Christmas Mail Early" is the second. Fools heed neither, but if the observance of both is a proof of rare wisdom then the world is becoming wiser.

It was but a few years ago that the major portion of Christmas shopping was done during Christmas week and the Christmas rush in the mails did not begin until the eleventh hour. The result was that unfavorable shopping conditions and congested mails ruined Christmas Day for countless thousands.

How much saner and how much more satisfactory for all concerned are the modern practices of starting the gift-buying season in November and of starting the gifts through the mails in ample time to insure their punctual delivery.

Whether one looks at the question from the selfish or impersonal points of view the arguments are all in favor of early shopping and early mailing.

Early shopping gives one the pick of the new and undepleted Christmas stocks, leisurely selection, more satisfactory service and less jostling. Early mailing is the guarantee of timely delivery and minimizes the dangers of damage and loss in transit.

Should there be any to whom these arguments are unconvincing, let them give a thought to the merchant and his sales force and to the postal employes whose one desire is to please the public, but who are powerless to help those who won't help themselves.

Whatever became of the old-fashioned girl, who at this time of year, had a dresser drawer full of doilies and fancy work prepared for Christmas giving?

Mother kept that school-girl completion by occasionally walking five or ten miles past a lot of drug stores.

The reformer should be patient with us. After all, the world's wickedness keeps him in a job.

New automobile licenses, income tax payment, Christmas. Isn't December the gay old month?

Be not deceived. While Santa Claus has many agents hereabouts he has no genuine double.

The millions of germs on money and in kisses never make a man refuse either.

Grandad may have been a sod buster, but not on the golf links.

Joe Kramer says that a knife is alright in its place, but in the hands of an irate man is a place to steer clear of.

A man went through Maupin having several chinchilla hares in a box on the side of his car last Sunday. John Confer saw them and was somewhat disposed to abjure river trapping and go into the business of raising fur bearing rabbits.

The small boy is out enmasse in front of the Shattuck show windows these days. Such expressions as, "Gosh, I wish I could get that in my stocking," are common amongst the youngsters.

Frank Dyer has gone to the Willamette Valley for a spell. He says that if old man Rheumatiz finds him there he will take the old fellow out and drown him.

A poor Swede lay on his death bed. A friend asked him to say "something sweet for Jesus." Turning over Ole opened his eyes and murmured, "Seerup." How true this is is left to Ben Fraley.

Frank Stuart says he can not see the use of being called to Portland as a witness and not be called on the stand. It all costs money and in a case like his is money thrown away.

Billy Heckman is depicting the ride of the Sphinx these days. His rheumatism causes him to walk with two canes sometimes, upright sometimes and with one cane other times.

Dave Donaldson is watching the calendar and hoping that spring would hasten this way. His fishing tackle is in need of exercising.

Carl Pratt says that riding in a buzz wagon with a broken spring is anything but pleasant. One of the springs under his mail car went flooey last Friday and Carl enjoyed(?) the resultant bumps—nit.

ELEVEN YEARS AGO

From The Times, Dec. 10, 1915
A very creditable home talent performance was put on Saturday night in the hall in the form of a darkey minstrel show. The cast had the assistance of Mrs. Ted Howland of the Isis Stock company.

Ralph Delco narrowly missed drowning near the bridge over Wapinitia creek last Sunday. While leaning over the railing his hat fell off and in trying to salvage it he stepped into a deep hole, the swift current taking him off his feet and carrying him down stream. Bennie Flinn went in after Ralph and succeeded in getting him to shore.

Announcement was made this week of the marriage of William C. Mayfield and Linda Spoor, the ceremony taking place at Prineville on December 3.

Librarian W. H. Talcott asks that all who have books belonging to the traveling library to bring them in at once. No more books can be brought in from The Dalles until all of the last lot are returned.

The heaviest rain of the season fell on Juniper Flat last Saturday and Sunday. The farmers say that during no period of all last winter was there so much moisture in the ground as there is now.

Dr. Stovall of Philomath arrived Wednesday morning of last week to look over the proposition of starting a drug store in Maupin. If suitable buildings can be had for store and residence he probably will locate here.

Remember a Kodak for Christmas. On sale for $2.50 and up at the Maupin Drug Store.

Bread Wagon In Ditch
On its return trip to The Dalles from Maupin last Monday the Oregon bread auto skidded on the highway near Shearers ranch. It ran into the ditch and it required the assistance of one of the Richmond trucks to put it on the road again.

Celebrated Mass
Rev. Father O'D Hynes came over from Wasco Tuesday and celebrated mass in the local Catholic church Wednesday morning. While in Maupin Father Hynes called on various members of his congregation.

Hot Box Delays Train
The up river train on the O. W. last Saturday was delayed some time at Fargher station by a hot box. That road is having its share of delays, what with hot boxes and slides, the mails have been greatly retarded at various times.

Will Begin Revivals
Rev. Everett Hazen says that he will begin a series of revival meetings in Maupin shortly after the new year comes. He lately closed a successful series of such meetings at Wapinitia and anticipates as much success here.

Served On Election Board.
Messdames F. D. Stuart, James Chalmers and J. F. Kramer, John Confer and Alvis Martin served as the board of election at the city voting last Monday.

Our Leading Fur Bearers
The principal fur bearers in this country, says the Biological Survey of the United States Department of Agriculture, are the muskrat, skunk, raccoon, opossum, mink, fox, otter, fisher, and beaver. The most valuable from the standpoint of financial returns from the annual catch are the four heading this list, although the pelts of some of the others have a higher individual value.

News Of Busy Shaniko

Several farms are plowing for the spring seeding.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Kramer left Friday morning, expecting to spend the winter in Vancouver, Washington.

W. H. Aldridge, proprietor of the Golden Gate farm, was a recent visitor in town.

J. W. Fisher and family were shopping in The Dalles Saturday.

J. H. Baxter, from across Pine Hollow, was transacting business here the latter part of last week.

Over-night visitors in town Friday night were Clarence and Arthur Fargher from Salt Springs; Saturday night, C. E. Smith from Lone, Oregon; and Monday night, C. B. Dahl from Tyger Valley.

Carrie Harris left on Sunday evening's stage for Portland.

The William Gott family has moved into the Henton house.

A nine and one-half pound boy has arrived to make his home with Mr. and Mrs. Otto Schmidt.

John McHargue was in Antelope

Unexpected Services

Depositors who are using the service of this bank often find unexpected ways in which they can use it to advantage.

It is this habit of giving more than ordinary service which has won for us a steadily increasing list of depositors. They like our service and like to tell their friends about it.

If you are not familiar with this service, investigate it. You will find unexpected ways in which you, too, can use this service in a very profitable way in handling your finances in a more efficient and satisfactory way.
