GOVERNOR PATTERSON IS DRY

Governor Patterson has come out flat-footed against infraction of the 18th amendment in this state. In a recent address the governor insisted that he will appoint men on the state law enforcement force who will see to it that bootleggers and moonshiners be apprehended and punished for their work.

Oregon has its share of rum-runners, bootleggers, moonshiners and others who scoff at the Volstead law. Heretofore there seems to have been no special effort made, except in a few counties, to apprehend and punish malefactors against the law. It is an outstanding fact that when one desires a flask or case of booze in the larger cities it can be found and delivered. Notwithstanding the efforts of city police officials to gather in such dealers booze peddlers thrive and grow fat upon the revenue derived from their illicit business. Governor Patterson has struck the right chord, and Oregonians may expect a lessening of the traffic of liquor as soon as our chief executive has filled the prohibition department of the state with capable men.

The eastern legislator who proposes to introduce a measure in his state house of representatives prohibiting the making and disposal of mince pies as a retaliatory measure against an anti-cigarette law, must have had a touch of nightmare caused by eating the modern pie. Surely the pies mother used to make always set well on the stomachs of those who ate them.

Congress is considering favorably the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill. If that measure becomes a law it may have the effect of causing the farmers to consider congress in a favorable light.

If there is a farmer in this section who is not possessed of a spirit of optimism at this time, that man should be compelled to move from the farm and take up residence in California.

No Argument

Opinions differ on most every subject, but there is one matter that everyone agrees with, and that is the matter of saving money. And when that is settled the matter of which bank to patronize comes up. We can settle that argument by saying that our bank is the logical one for people of this part. We make our customers' business our business. Pay close attention to details and guard all accounts as tho they were our own. Try us and become convinced out statement is true.
