The New 95 Oliver Gang Plow

New Oliver No. 95 Gang Plow

This is a new Oliver Gang Plow which is built for heavy duty under difficult conditions and is fitted more especially for work in the Northwest where plowing is done in high stubble, such as is left by combined harvesters, headers or binders. Its construction permits turning square corners while plowing full width and depth.

This plow is built with plenty extra strength. The beams are high, and there is great clearance under the bottoms. A wide wheel base and a shifting hitch are great advantages and make possible successful work on hillsides. The No. 95 is furnished as a two- or three-base plow and in two sizes—14" or 16".

Two- or Three-Base Gang

This Oliver Gang Plow is furnished with either two or three bases. The third base can be removed or added as desired, and it is an easy job to make the change. Some farmers prefer a three-bottom plow—14" size; others prefer the two-bottom 16" size. The convertible feature makes it possible for the owner of an Oliver No. 95 gang to adjust his plow to fit different soil conditions and the available horse power.

Operation of the Oliver No. 95 Gang Plow

The wheels on this plow are controlled separately—that is both the front furrow and the land wheel is equipped with a long and powerful lever. This individual lever arrangement makes it possible to adjust this plow the better to fit it for use on hillsides and rolling land. The land wheel is equipped with a cushion spring. The levers are very long. The unusual length gives great leverage, multiplying the effort of the plowman and makes depth adjustments and the raising of the bottoms quick and easy operations. All of the levers are conveniently located where the driver can easily reach them when he is standing on the plow, when walking or from the seat, if the plow is so equipped.

Built Strong—Has Treated Steel Construction

The beams, beam braces and axles are made from high grade steel, which is heat treated for extra strength with light weight—it is far stronger than ordinary steel, yet is lighter in weight. Implements made from this material are extra strong. With less weight they are easier to pull, a great advantage when working over high hills.

A Shifting Hitch

The Oliver No. 95 gang is equipped with a shifting hitch. A handy lever with which the driver can instantly shift the hitch to right or left to secure full width cut when plowing on hillsides or to maintain correct line of draft when on the level. Another advantage of this shifting hitch is that it is possible to have the correct line of draft with either two or four horses hitched abreast.

Great Clearance

This plow is built with the great clearance so advantageous when plowing under high wheat stubble. The beams are high. The distance between the bottoms and between the first bottom and the furrow wheel is unusually great.

The Rear Furrow Wheel

Land friction is practically eliminated by means of the rear furrow wheel, which carries all the rear weight with a rolling motion. There is no drag weight. This wheel casters when turns are made.

PICKED UP ABOUT TOWN

Job Crabtree encountered the bed of an ancient lake while excavating for the new garage building. The surface was easily removed sand to a depth of a couple of feet, after that boulders blocked the easy digging. Evidence that this part was covered by water at some distant day.

Joe Kramer put up a sign on the Butler cottage on Sunday which read: "Danger! Keep kids away." Investigation revealed that there was no danger from the structure falling, but the interior had been given a dose of disinfectant in order to rid it of sleep-destroying no-winged insects.

There is a man in Maupin who is adept in playing over 50 different games of cards. Strange to say his favorite game is "solitaire."

The recent warm weather has had the effect of causing hens to lay, with a consequent drop in the price of "cackle berries." At two bits a dozen people can once more indulge in a couple "in the water, easy" these mornings.

Time was when the streets of Maupin were hub-deep in mud during the wet season. The graveled highway obviated that, but now the excavators are at work and haul loads over the steets, those thoroughfares seem to have reverted to a B. G.—before graveled—state.

The big thing on the program for Maupin next week is the convention of the district Rebekahs. As one member stated, "it is not the hard work connected with the affair that makes one tired, but the worry incident thereto that causes all interested to wear that weary look."

Anyone desiring photographs taken will do well to call on Prof. Broughton. The ones he took of the debating and basketball teams as well as that of Maupin from the rim-

Frank Dyer is cleaning up his chicken yard. He says that for each stone removed from the lot there seems to be a dozen others show up in its place.

Ed. Griffin is some hustler when he wants to be one. He recently took 100 tickets to the St. Patrick's ball and confidentially expects to sell them all.

Julius Shepflin escorted a carload of fat porkers to the North Portland stockyards Saturday night. Our popular hog raiser says that when pork brings a price of 13c a pound then is the time to ship.

Billy Heckman was engaged the first of the week in digging the cess pool at the new garage. While he only had to go down a depth of 15 feet, and most of that through boulders, Billy made good time. In fact he dug himself in the first day, completing the work in a couple of days.

Joseph Connolly Dead.

Joseph Connolly, brother of T. M., Tony and Steve Connolly, prominent sheep men of this section, died at Mitchell on Tuesday. Mr. Connolly had been on the range where he took cold, which later developed into pneumonia, which terminated his existence. Deceased was well known to many of our people as a man of strict integrity, possessing many friends, all of whom will be deeply grieved at the news of his death. Funeral services will take place at Sacred Heart Catholic church in this city on Saturday, March 12. Interment will be made at The Dalles.

Indorsees Resignation.

County Surveyor P. W. Marx recently tendered his resignation to the county court. In order to impress upon the members of that body their satisfaction of Mr. Marx's move the members of Wasco Pomona Grange recently met and resolved that the resignation be accepted. The secretary sent a copy of the resolution to The Times for publication, but failed to accompany the letter with the price usually charged for items of that nature, therefore it does not appear in this paper.

President Coolidge Urges Observance Of International Golden Rule Sunday

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE again asks America to observe International Golden Rule Sunday. By Presidential endorsement the day has been observed for the past three years to aid child welfare and relief work of the Near East Relief. This year the day will have the additional significance of aiding the earthquake victims of Armenia. The President's letter of endorsement follows: "I regard International Golden Rule Sunday as a movement of much importance. Begun in an attempt to care for the orphaned children of Bible lands, it has been extended to other countries. "Practical help is the best expression of friendship. The aid we may give out of our abundance to those less fortunately situated than we should be of great value in bringing about the application of the Golden Rule to the settlement of misunderstandings among nations as well as among individuals. "I hope the voluntary observance of this day may become increasingly prevalent in America and throughout the world."
