ARRANGING FOR FOURTH JULY
C. M. Plyler Booking Acts and Getting Ready for a Big Time
Emboldened by last year's success with his Fourth of July celebration at the Tygh Valley fair grounds, C. M. Plyler will stage another big time at that place the coming celebration for three days—July 23-24. He is now booking attractions for the event and promises a high old time. There will be races, horse and foot, a big free show in front of the grand stand, shows and dances. Plyler knows how to satisfy the public with entertainments and the coming one promises to be the best he has ever attempted.
Excavating Going On.
Joe Kramer has a force of men at work excavating for his new bungalow, which he will build on his lot next to James Chalmers'. Frank Creager with his team and several other huskies are keeping picks and shovels warm on the job and soon will have the basement deep enough to suit our popular garage man.
Delegates to Astoria.
Carl Pratt and B. F. Turner are at Astoria this week as delegates from Wapinitia I. O. O. F. lodge No. 209, and Mesdames Lawrence S. Stovall, Mayhew and Pratt represent Wapinitia Rebekah Lodge No. 194. Mr. and Mrs. Pratt left for the lower Columbia city by car Sunday, theothers going by train.
Sold Registered Cattle.
W. B. Sloan, of the Mays ranch at Tygh Valley sold and delivered five head of registered short horned bulls to A. M. Bennett of Antelope Monday afternoon. The bulls that he has just sold are in good shape and give promise to build up the herds of Mr. Bennett in a great degree.
Serve hot foods hot and on hot plates. Serve cold foods cold—not lukewarm. It is astonishing how many homemakers ignore this simple and obvious detail of an attractive meal.
A bread pudding will be "soggy and sad" if you use too large a proportion of bread to eggs. Or it may come from cooking at too high a temperature. It is much better to cook any custard-like pudding in a pan of water in the oven. The water keeps the eggs from being overcooked.
Always grease an iron with lard or vaseline before putting it away for a long time or it will rust. To remove rust on an iron, scour it with scouring powder, and rub well with a flannel cloth.
Tommy Kingsley has completed his labors at the Abbott sheep ranch and on Monday went to Portland for a short stay.

DOUBLE HEADER BASEBALL

Postoffice Teams From The Dalles and Stubble Jumpers vs. Grass Valleyites

Maupin's Stubble Jumpers went to Madras Sunday last and cleaned up the baseball team of that place by a score of 7-6. This was the second game Maupin has taken from up the river boys.

On the coming Sunday there will be a double header game here. The first game will be between the postoffice forces of The Dalles and Bend, and promises to be a game for blood, as there is quite a little rivalry between the teams.

Immediately after the postoffice forces game the Stubble Jumpers will warm up for a game with Grass Valley. The latter team has been taking all comers down the line this season and promise to make Maupin humphfour players get the verdict. On the other hand the Jumpers say that if Grass Valley wins over them the ywill know that a real game of baseball has been played.

RESULT OF MUSICALE

Sponsored by The Dalles Monday Musical Club—Would Help to Make Musical Nation

The music contest, sponsored by The Dalles Monday Musical club, was deferred until May 13, 1927, when it was held in the High school auditorium of that city. The purpose of the contest was to help make us a musical nation. Following is the program as it was rendered:

- Piano
- 1 Dorothy Hennecke
 - 2 Frances Shogren
 - 3 Elizabeth Yantis
 - 4 Georgia Forney
 - 5 Helen Lindquist
 - 6 Rondo in C Major, Beethoven
 - 7 Alma Yoder
 - 8 Malcolm S. Krier
 - 9 Helen Weberg
 - 10 Louise Swanser
- Voice
- 1 Ruby Randall
 - 2 Erma French
 - Sing Me a Song of the Time That Is Gone.
- Violin
- 1 Helen Lindquist
 - 2 Donald Ingle

The winners were: Piano, 1st Helen Lindquist, 2nd, Frances Shogren 3rd Frances Shogren.
Voice—1st, Erma French, 2nd, Ruby Randall.
Violin—1st, Helen Lindquist, 2nd, Donald Ingle.
The judges were Rev. Eichenearb, Prof. Goodrich, both of Portland, and Mrs. Sexton of Hood River.
The first prize in piano contest was awarded to Miss Helen Lindquist, who showed fine technique, fine position and her playing was beautifully executed.
Kennard Sexton, who won the second prize, rendered his selection in a masterly manner and with the skill would have considered able these ar and poised. A real music critic would have considered his position faulty and bad.
Miss Frances Shogren of Mosier won third prize at the piano and the she did her part wonderfully well, she had a close competitor in our own representative from Maupin, Miss Helen Weberg, who caused many favorable comments in the audience during her performance at the piano. She showed composure, skill and a fine technique.
Carmel Woodcock and Olga Abbott were unable to attend the contest, the former having been unable to prepare for it because of illness, and the latter because of an infected finger.
Putting aside all musical criticism the young people deserve great credit for their performances, and we hope the one who was overcome with stage fright, will take heart and try again.
There were only two contestants in the vocal department and two in the violin department. Erma French won first in singing and Ruby Randall second. Helen Lindquist won

BIG ROUNDUP AT FAIR

Everett Wilson, Noted Buckaroo, Will Give Two Days of Real Wild West Shows

Everett Wilson, who pulled off a big roundup and wild west show at the Tygh Valley fair grounds last year, will repeat the performance on Friday and Saturday, June 11 and 12 this year. He has arranged a program which includes bucking contests, wild steer riding, chariot and horse races, wild horse races and many other stunts incident to the cattle and horse ranges. There will also be other attractions provided for the enjoyment of all who attend. Mr. Wilson carries a string of real bucking horses and has several riders with him, each of whom has won renown as a rider and steer roper. The show will be better and larger than any like event ever staged hereabouts.

ABOUT HENS AND PRODUCTION

"Eggspert" of Agricultural College Tell About Poultry and How to Care For Such

Secluded and darkened nests are preferred by hens, making egg-eating habits less common.
Injured and frightened hens sometimes lay soft shelled eggs.
A decided improvement in the texture of eggshells is observed when hens are turned out in the exercising yard after a long confinement, states experiment station.

Pullets taken from free range and confined in laying houses often lay thin-shelled eggs within a short time.

Granulated bone is a good mineral food for laying fowls.
For farms, where poultry keeping is the major business, at least 10 acres of land is necessary for successful operation, says the extension service.

Concrete brooder-house yards are used in Oregon to overcome soil contamination.

Thin shelled eggs do not hatch well and do not stand shipping. Much can be done by using only heavy shelled eggs for hatching.

Shell is always kept before the fowls to enable them to produce good-shelled eggs.

Overfat hens have a tendency to lay soft shelled eggs, says the experiment station.

Eggs saved for hatching are kept in a cool place of about 50 F. They are not saved longer than 10 to 14 days.

The profit producing period of the laying hen is usually two years. Hens are sold at the end of their second laying season, before moulting.

Sodium-fluoride is an effective lice powder. Fowls are held by their legs while the powder is rubbed into the feathers.

Chickens need a dry, well ventilated, draft-free house to give best results.

A good poultry house is located on high or sloping ground, with dry, well drained soil.

Open-front houses are desirable in western Oregon, where the winters are not very cold.

Cement floors in poultry houses are sanitary and easy to clean.

From 8 to 10 inches of roosting space is allowed to each fowl in Oregon. All roosts are of the same height so that fowls do not crowd and fight for the highest roost.

One nest for every six fowls is recommended for best results. A good nest is at least 15 inches square.

first on violin and Donald Ingle was second.

Miss Helen Weberg is a pupil of Mrs. H. F. Bothwell and has progressed so far as to be recognized as a coming musical celebrity. The young lady has acquired a technique and touch simply wonderful, while as a sight reader there is hardly her superior in this section. Mrs. Bothwell is entitled to great praise for the showing Miss Weberg made in so large a field of young musicians.

Tygh Valley Items

Class Graduates
The graduating exercises for the Class of 1927 of the Tygh Valley High school were held in the I. O. O. F. hall Friday evening, May 13. The members of the class were Clair Norval, Rachael LuCore and Henry McGreer.

The address to the class was given by Rev. Bruce J. Giffin, pastor at the University of Oregon. Owing to the unavoidable absence of chairman of the school board the diplomas were presented by Principal Clyde T. Bonney.

An unique feature of the evening was the presentation of track, baseball and basket ball letters. Thirty letters were given. To the two boy graduates the baseball suits which they have worn during the season just closed were given them as a reminder of the jolly times on the baseball field. To Kenneth Webb, who was next to the highest point man in the county track meet, was given the shoes and track suit which he wore, as he covered himself with honors on the third Saturday of last April. It is confidently prophesied that the suit will be in evidence on the third Saturday of April, 1928.

This score would seem to indicate that the Tygh boys could have given the Maupin High school team a run for their money, inasmuch as Maupin had been able to beat Wapinitia the week before by a score of only 8 to 7.
