Indians Sucked Down In Whirlpool at Celilo Falls

Last Sunday morning four Indians, Willie Sam, Charles John, Robert and Albert Charley, were thrown into a whirlpool at Celilo and were drowned. Another Indian, who had clung to the boat, was later rescued by friends, after having been sucked under by the swirling waters.

Ernest R. Webb, former resident of Maupin, now section foreman at Celilo, was the only white man to witness the accident and he told the following story:

Crowing into a skiff too small for five adults, the natives started from the mainland on the Oregon side of the river, across the narrow turbulent stretch of water toward the fishing rocks. When about 50 yards from the shore the boat swamped in the choppy water, throwing the Indians out.

Upon hearing the screaming I rushed to the bank and saw the natives struggling in the water. Three of them had hold of the overturned boat.

As the boat and the Indians drifted down stream, the skiff suddenly dived nose downward into a whirlpool, remaining under several minutes. When it again shot to the surface, Walters was the only one who had retained his hold on the slippery craft as it careened about in the boiling whirl. Walters was rescued a short distance below by another boatload of Indians who were preparing to put off from the shore when the upset occurred.

I ran downstream ahead of the boat and watched it until it went into another violent whirlpool, from which neither the skiff nor the bodies of the four Indians which followed it ever reappeared at the surface.

LOCAL MEN ACQUIRE THE BUTLER STORE AND MARKET

Mark Stuart and Oliver Reah Conclude Deal to Take Over Maupin's Leading Grocery Store

A new grocery firm looms on the horizon for Maupin, a deal having been concluded whereby Mark Stuart and Oliver Reah, former clerks in stores here, become owners of the F. C. Butler grocery stock and meat market. They will take possession October 3.

Both Messrs. Stuart and Reah are well known to people in this section. The former was for some time a clerk in the store, leaving there to conduct a dairy and stock farm at Tygh Valley a little over a year ago. He is a butcher and meat cutter by trade, but also has a wide knowledge of the grocery business. Mr. Reah has been confidential clerk and assistant manager of the Shattuck stores for several years. He is conversant with all phases of mercantile trade, is a good buyer and now that he has embarked in business will make especial efforts to retain the present Butler business as well as to increase same. The two gentlemen have leased the store building and fixtures, the lease also including the cottage of Mr. Butler, now occupied by J. F. Kramer, next to The Times office, where Mr. Stuart's family will reside.

The Times welcomes the new firm to Maupin's business roster and predicts that Messrs. Stuart and Reah will enjoy a large and increasing patronage in their new venture.

HOUSE MOVED FROM RANCH

Virgil Brings Farm Residence to Town on Trucks

In this age of mechanics there is hardly anything but what can be accomplished if the right men get hold of it. Virgil Mayhew had a fine little bungalow on his ranch on the Wapinitia road. He desired to move it to town and in order to do so cut it into, then hoisted the parts on trucks and proceeded to bring them to town. He is the owner a lot opposite the A. H. DeCamp residence and soon will have a modern home erected thereon.

DALLES YOUTHS LOST IN RECESSES OF THE CASCADES

Guy Ferry and Henry Cramer of The Dalles Being Sought by Mountaineers—Wandered Away Sept. 5

Two Dalles youths, Guy Ferry and Henry Cramer, have been lost in the recesses of the Cascade mountains in the vicinity of Three Sisters since Monday, the 5th. The two had signified an intention of climbing the Sisters and started on their climb. A snow storm overtook them and since then all trace of them has been lost. Many members of the Mazamas and Crag Rats have engaged in the search for the missing men, and the search will continue until the fate of the men is known. It is reported they might have sought refuge in one of the numerous lava caves in that section. More snow in falling in the mountains, which makes the hunt for Ferry and Cramer all the more difficult. Forty-two men left Frog Camp Tuesday morning to take up the hunt and to relieve those who have been in the mountains fastness since the men were reported lost.

SOMEONE ADVISED TO PAD SEAT OF THEIR PANTS

We're Tired of Molestation and Have Loaded Shotgun—Stay Away or Stand Up To Eat

A day or so ago the junior member of The Times force had the tank of the office Dodge filled with gas. The machine was parked in front of the shop. That night someone tapped the tank for all it contained. Monday night the car was overhauled by someone unknown, several parts being taken. Right here we serve notice that we do not propose to supply night prowlers with gas and accessories. Also that the family shotgun has been loaded with bird shot and that whenever we are awakened by someone tinkering with that old Dodge we will get busy with the shotgun and make a healthy attempt to fill the prowler's posterior with a heavy charge of bird shot. This goes as it looks.

SMILES PLUS SCENERY BRING TOURISTS WEST

Scenery, Climate, Modern Transportation Conditions—Friendly Spirit Is Factor

Four reasons for the growing pre-eminence of the Pacific Coast as an international tourist mecca were given at Portland recently by John M. Scott, assistant passenger traffic manager for the Southern Pacific.

They are scenery, climate, luxurious modern transportation and the friendly spirit westerners display to visitors. "It is the hearty welcome and the courteous treatment accorded tourists by the man in the street, the clerk in the store, and the crews in the trains and street cars that is spreading the name of western hospitality to the farthest corner of the earth," Scott said.

"In comfort of travel the west may claim world leadership. Such fast trains as the Cascade, plying thru Oregon between Portland and San Francisco, set the highest deluxe passenger standards ever achieved."

"The fact that the tourist is welcomed, but not exploited and worried by beggars and promoters, is giving the Northwest an international reputation as a comfortable, restful and worth-while place to visit."

Little Safety Hints

Many accidents are caused by sending the body out to work and the mind to play.

SCHOOL IS CLEARING HOUSE FOR DISEASE SPREADING

Parents and Teachers Should Co-operate in Disease Prevention—Consult Doctor If in Doubt

The time is here when once again the schools of the state are open to receive the youth. We are hereby reminded that the school is a clearing house or the spread of communicable diseases.

There are nearly 200,000 children of school age in this state, who early in September will assemble in the various schools; among this number there are, no doubt, many who are disease carriers. If Oregon is to come under the wire a winner in the suppression of communicable diseases she must look more closely to the protection of the children who must spend five days a week in the school room.

In school the spreading of infection is a serious thing, because it is more frequently here that infection is transferred among children of widely separated households.

Teachers, parents and children should realize that when many children gather together the danger of measles, scarlet fever, whooping cough, and diphtheria is great. It is very important for parents and teachers to co-operate with the local health officer and the family physician in trying to discover and isolate these childhood diseases.

It is particularly important to do this in every family where some child is starting off to school. The school when it opens will therefore not become the medium of spreading some communicable disease through the community.

If you have any suspicion that you may have had a childhood disease in your family during vacation time be sure to consult your family physician or local health officer before school opens.

WOMAN BADLY CUT IN WRECK ON TYGH GRADE

Thrown Against Windshield and Had Face Severely Lacerated—Man and Girl Slightly Injured

Last Tuesday morning, while descending the Tygh grade, Robert J. Knudson of Bend, who was driving a Whippet car, collided with a guard rail on one of the short turns on Tygh grade. A woman riding with him was thrown against the windshield with sufficient force to break the glass, jagged edges of which cut her face in a terrible manner. The car extended from the right cheek bone over the nose and down the side of her mouth to the chin. Dr. Elwood stated that the wound was such as to cause the lacerated flesh to lift from the left side to the right, and that 10 stitches were required to close the wound. Mr. Knudson sustained a sprained knee while the little girl was practically uninjured. Verne Fischer went after the wrecked car and brought it in with his new wrecking car. The floor of the Whippet, as well as the right running board, resembled a slaughterhouse floor, both being covered with blood from the injured woman.

HIGHER PROTEIN CONTENT CHARACTER OF NEW WHEAT

Crop Estimates Run High Which Cause Drop in Market—Live Stock Prices Make Advance

The O. A. C. bulletin of Sept 13 summarizes the wheat and livestock market as below:

A general weakening of the wheat market but continued comparative strength in high protein hard milling wheats and low protein soft milling wheats summarizes last week's markets. The general weakness was due to some increase in estimates of the new crop as a result of very favorable weather in August and heavy seasonal marketings. High protein wheat is scarce, however, and the supply of good low protein soft milling wheat in St. Louis and Kansas City territory is small enough to cause movement of eligible lots of wheat in that direction from the Pacific Northwest. Favorable corn weather caused lower prices to develop and barley went lower except on the Pacific Coast. European barley markets did not change materially.

Sharp advances for top top quality killer cattle but steady to weaker prices on poorly finished kinds and for stockers and feeders characterized most markets last week. Buyers are keeping an eye on the weather and its effects on corn and forage crops. Heavy receipts and lower prices above killers, and feeders were scarcely steady at prices above killers.

Fish Ponds Completed.

The new feeding ponds at the Oak Springs trout hatchery have been completed and now contain 1,100,000 baby trout. These, with 800,000 previously hatched and held in the old pond, make a total of 1,900,000 young trout in the ponds. They will be held until spring, when they will have reached a size which will give them strength sufficient to escape from larger fish when turned loose into the Deschutes river. The Oak Springs hatchery is one of the leading fish propagating places in Oregon and turns out millions of young fish each season.

Hunting Near Paulina.

Bates Shattuck, with his wife and brother, Lew Shattuck of Vancouver, Washington, and brother-in-law, Ed. Strett of Portland, left last Friday morning for the deer hunting section near Paulina. The party intends to stay there until the 20th instant, when they will return home.

Three score and ten is considered the allotment of life of man, but when a man exceeds that time by more than a decade, then his life must have been exceedingly clean and upright. Gabriel Cannon Stakely, the subject of this sketch, lived to the age of 84 years 7 months and 25 days, passing away on Sunday, September 11, 1927, at his home near Wamic, and had concluded a life filled with good, a life of uprightness and a firm belief in the celestial happiness to come after death.

Mr. Stakely was born January 16, 1844, in Hawkins county, Tennessee. While yet a child he went with his parents, George Stakely and wife, to Indiana the family later moving to Missouri, where Gabriel spent his early manhood. He was an early convert to the Christ Adelphia faith, and later took up the dissemination of tenets of that creed from the pulpit. He completed a common school education, and for some time thereafter engaged in teaching.

When the tocsin of war sounded throughout the land in the early '60's, Mr. Stakely answered, and was in the service many years. He took part in many major engagements, notably that of Pea Ridge.

March 17, 1879, he was united in marriage with Miss Lydia Tillotson. Later his wife's health began to fail and in order to benefit her Mr. and Mrs. Stakely sought relief in the farther west, staying for a time in Colorado, then coming to Oregon, settling at Toledo. In the year 1900 the Stakely family moved to Wasco county, where Mr. Stakely took up a homestead in what is known as the Wamic cuntry. There he spent the remainder of his life, spacing his residence between Wamic and Tygh Valley.

Remaining to mourn his loss Mr. Stakely leaves his aged wife, Lydia Stakely, and two daughters, they being Mrs. S. B. Meiser of Connell, Wash., and Ercell Stakely of Seattle. Two brothers, Thomas Stakely of Portland, and Richard Stakely of Tygh Valley, also survive.

Decedent was a devout christian, a loyal citizen and a devoted husband and father. While his taking away may be laid to ailments incident to old age, still his place is one which never will be filled in the community in which he lived so many years. He was loved and respected by all who knew him and all rest satisfied in the knowledge that he has gone to that place where there is eternal rest and where peace and happiness reign forever.

Funeral services were held at the Wamic church on Tuesday, the funeral sermon being delivered by Rev. Alfred Frischknecht, while the services at the grave were taken care of by the Masonic lodge of Dufur.

Monte Perry Warehouse Expects Record Run of 1927 Wheat—Much Placed in Storage

The Monte Perry warehouse expects that before all the wheat in that house will have received in the neighborhood of 100,000 bushels of the 1927 wheat crop. Grain is still coming in and when the last has been checked at the warehouse a record will have been made, both in storage and shipments.
