Who Are You?

We have received a couple of pieces of what is supposed to be poetry and have been asked to publish them. Neither piece was accompanied by the name of the writer, therefore, following a rule established by all newspapers, we must refrain from printing until we are advised who sent them to us. Don't be afraid to let us know your names; we will not publish them if you do not care to have us do so, but we must know who you are before we can give room to your effusions.

Not Intentional.

In our writup of the Freshman play last week we inadvertently omitted mention of the work of Glenn Alexander, who essayed the part of "Ben Craige," a young lover, who sought to smooth out the dilemma of the promoter of Romeo. That young man carried himself like a veteran and added greatly to the continuity and happy ending of the story. We wrote according to our memory of the cast, and failed to recall the fine work of Glenn.

Driving State Truck.

Earl Crabtree has succeeded Gus Derthick as driver of the state road truck. Earl is a good man and Foreman Addington is to be congratulated on being able to secure his services.

at a game of penuche. He was resting in the restaurant when his better half reminded him that a pile of dishes required his attention at home. Like a dutiful help-mate John ambled home and spent the better part of the forenoon "righting up" the sink and kitchen.

To make things easier for his wife Lew Henneghan bought an electric washing machine. Being new the adjunct to the laundry hesitated to start. In order to make it turn Lew assisted the motor by applying a pipe wrench to the drive shaft, discombobulating a small connection. That was replaced and when Mrs. Henneghan attempted to start the machine the pump started to work overtime. Instead of throwing a steady stream the pump blew out the governing plug and the water soon formed on the porch floor. That part was replaced and now Lew thinks his wife has become reconciled to the power laundry assistant.

Parents have a right to know what is transpiring in our schools. We endeavor to get the news of school activities each week and publish them for the edification of those parents who have children in school. It is up to the teachers to supply the news. Prof. Nagel has religiously attended to that end of the matter, but he must have the cooperation of the other teachers. When a week is missed the parents are not informed what is going on at school. We ask that all teachers, if they care to have the activities of their departments published, supply such to Mr. Nagel to the end that due publicity may be given in The Times.

That box social scheduled by the Maupin Community club promises something out of the ordinary. Each member of the club is out to outdo the others in the beauty of the boxes and the tempting contents thereof. It is likely that F. C. Butler and N. G. Hedlin will be on hand and use their persuasive powers as auctioneers and those who attend and do not buy a box will indeed be beyond the blandishments of those well known "criers." The social will be held at Legion hall on Friday night, January 27, and all are expected to be there.

Several men of Maupin have already sent in their names as members of the Community club, and several more are ready to become members if properly approached. The ladies need the assistance of every man in Maupin and by the men joining with them they will be able to do more good than if they were working alone. Membership fees are but 50 cents a year, so, you husky males, dig up and thus help in a good cause.
