DESIRES LOOK INTO THE PAST
Old-Timer Wants Clock Turned Back also Old-Time Styles

The following poem was discovered among a lot of old papers by a Maupin man, who had transcribed it many years ago. It was given to us and we publish it as the desire of some who are against the prevailing short hair and short skirt styles:

Backward, turn backward, oh time in your flight,
Give us a maiden whose skirts are not tight,
Give us a girl whose charms, may be few,
Are not exposed by much peek-a-boo,
Give us a maiden, no matter what age,
Who won't use the street for a vaudeville stage;
Give us a girl so sharply in view,
Dress her in skirts that the sun won't shine through.

And give us the dance of days long-gone by,
With plenty of clothes and steps not so high,
And turkey trot capers and butter-milk glide,
And hurdy-gurdy twist and wiggle-tail slide.
Then let us feast our tired optics once more
On a genuine woman, as sweet as of yore!
Yes, Time, please turn backward and grant our request
For God's richest blessing, but not one undressed.

A CLAM CHOWDER PROBE

As Political issues, prohibition and allied debt, next is the great question, which at this season directly effects every citizen of this country—Does your clam chowder contain clams, and how many? The Electric Sun employed Henry J. Bivalve, C. P. A., (Clamgrowers Protective Association) to make a thorough investigation of the leading restaurants (and some that are not leading.) In 536 plates of chowder he found no clams. In 264 plates he discovered traces of clams. In 128 plates there were one-half clam in each plate and in one plate he actually found one clam.

Incidentally many of the portions sampled contained chopped white rubber bands and one even contained a synthetic clam made of gelatine and dress shields.

The restaurant in which the one clam was found in the chowder, is now out of business.

We stand squarely for federal control of chowder and for rigid enforcements of three clams per chowder as a minimum.

Write to you congressman at once, or call a cop.

When it comes to giving our people a good time count Kramer Bros. at the head of the list. The free show and dance at Legion hall Saturday night brought out one of the largest crowds ever in the hall, and both show and dance proved to be pleasureable events. The picture showed the assembling of the parts in the new Ford cars and were most instructive and interesting. The Legion auxiliary was on the job with a fine line of eats, and the dancers liberally patronized them.

It has been suggested that the rear curtains be drawn down when auto traveling at night. Some of the Maupin lotharios go a step farther and draw all the curtains when indulging in joy ride at night.

ELEVEN YEARS AGO

(From The Times March 16, 1917)

About thirteen inches of snow fell at Wapinitia last Thursday night. As there was no frost in the ground most of this dampness will sink into the ground, thus helping with the wheat crop.

Earl Barzee has installed a carbon lighting system in the hotel at Wapinitia.

It is reported the government is about to cause all dogs in the Wapinitia section to be muzzled. The prevalence of rabid cyotes in the reason for this move.

Mr. M. I. Shearer from Kentucky arrived in Maupin Monday and Mr. Fleming showed him the beauties of Maupin Tuesday morning. (Since coming here Mr. Shearer has become one of the leading dairymen of this section, and is also one of the most progressive. He is using a power milking machine in his dairy barn and raises sufficient alfalfa to feed a much larger herd than he now has.—Ed. Times.)

Vanderpool Bros. will begin the construction of a garage building 45x70 in size next Monday. It will be built on the lot opposite Fraley's blacksmith shop.

A. A. Derthick and wife moved to Dufur recently, having purchased property in that city.

Pick Ups About Town

Spring plowing is taking many Maupinites to their ranches these days.

After sojourning in town on and off all winter, Julius Shepff is again operating his tractor in the fields. Julius recently lost a fine bunch of heifers and steers through them eating poison. Too bad, as they had come through the winter in fine shape.

Harry Redding's feet are beginning to itch for the road. He and his brother, Charley, have been in Maupin all winter, but now that the meadow larks and robins have returned the call of the orchards is proving rather strong and we may expect to soon hear of those boys hitting out for a summer's work.

Phil Starr is plowing the lots of Harve Morris in preparation of another garden there this summer. Last year Phil planted onions on the lots and realized quite a crop. We advised him to plant melons this year, then they would be handy for us to go across the road and pluck one once in a while.
