Chas. Davis, former Maupin High school student, is working for Bruce Broz.

Robert Lewis is homee from O. A. C.

Engineer Farmer of the Board of Public Roads, was a Pine Grove visitor last week. While here he had a conference with John Sinclair, local maintenance man, who dragged the new road this spring. Mr. Farmer said the Mt. Hood cut-off will be finished grading this season, but that traveling would be delayed until 1929. Men interested in hastening this work held a conference with N. G. Hedin and J. S. Brown at Pine Grove last Sunday.

Ben Richardson and three other men are buying oak wood on the McKetrick tract. Jess Cox of Tygh Valley is visiting at Pine Grove with his brother, Charles, and his step-father, Ben Richardson.

PERTINENT—HOME REMINDERS

From School of Home Economics—O. A. C.

Stale cake makes an excellent dessert when steamed and covered with sauce.

Cornbread is very nourishing, especially if made up with milk and eggs.

An interesting canape is made from a slice of bread with a slice of tomato in it. Grated cheese is sprinkled over the tomato, and a slice of bacon put across the top. The canape is placed in the oven until the bacon has been broiled. Serve hot.

Welsh rarebit may be varied by adding tomato sauce instead of white sauce.

Grinding bread crumbs does not mess up the kitchen if a paper bag is tied on the food chopper and the crumbs are allowed to go into it. Time is also saved by this method for the crumbs are then used directly from the bag.

When sewing buttons on a child's dress, run a tape down the wrong side first. This gives a good firm foundation to sew the buttons on and they are not likely to tear away from the goods.

One way of lengthening a child's dress is to put a tuck under the hem at the time the dress is made. When let out this will be folded evenly with the rest of the dress.

If button holes are made with soft mercerized cotton they will be more durable and will be easier to make.

If window shades have become soiled at the bottom remove from the roller and reverse; hem the top, tack the bottom on the roller and use again.

Went Back 100 Years—

In our advertisement of the sale at Cervin's ranch which is scheduled for Saturday of this week, we said that notes, "payable October 1 1828," would be accepted. The "8" got into the "9" box and in reading proof on the ad, the error escaped our eagle eye. If you attend the sale and buy something and desire to give a note therefor, make it payable October 1, 1928, and it will be accepted.

Lion-Like March Weather—

March came in with a meekness surprising to old settlers of this section. Many days of fine weather tended to cause the wheat to sprout and take on substantial life, but Monday morning of this week the lion became awakened and showed that he, for the latter part of the month at least, would be on the job. During Sunday night rain fell in copious quantities and when the sun came up it was accompanied by a heavy snowstorm. Eight inches was reported from the Upper Flat, while the Criterion section had nearly as much as that of the beautiful.

Visited at The Dalles—

Mrs. Jean Wray accompanied the Tillotsons as far as The Dalles last Friday and visited with friends there during the day. Mrs. Wray will give up her employment at the Shattuck store the first of April, this being done because of a change in personnel in the store's conduct.

PERTAINING TO AUTOMOBILES

Terse Paragraphs Copied From A. A. News Letter

The only difference between a rut and a grave is the depth.

In a certain province liable to floods there is a notice on a low-lying road which read:

"When this notice is under water this road is impassable."

The Cop: "Say I almost broke my neck following you around them curves."

She: "Well, I hope this teaches you not to chase after every pretty girl you see."

Judge: "What have you to say for yourself?"

Prisoner: "I say I wish I was in a place where there are no traffic cops."

Judge: "Granted, 30 days."

Notice to Subscrib'rs

Next week we are going to send a statement of subscription to each of our subscribers who is delinquent on our books. We do not like to do this, but there is a limit to all things and we have about reached the limit of carrying a list of people on our cards who make no effort to come in and pay up. It takes money to run a newspaper, and that is what we are in business for.

One delinquent does not cut much figure, but when there are numbers who are in arrears the aggregate amounts to quite a snug sum. There are several hundreds of dollars owing to us and we shall now insist that they be paid. You take the paper and enjoy reading it, otherwise you would order it discontinued. We ask that you be as square with us as you are with your grocer. All we want is an even break—will you do your part in seeing that we get it?
