

MILITARY TRAINING CAMP

Opens at Vancouver Barracks, Tomorrow with 600 Attending

The Citizens' Military Training Camp opens at the Vancouver barracks tomorrow with 600 young men in attendance. The camp will be operating for 30 days and during that time all the instruction possible will be imparted to the young soldiers. Attendants come from all over the Northwest and embrace the flower of the section.

"INSIDE" INFORMATION

Don't leave the lettuce that forms the "bed" of a salad. Lettuce is extremely rich in certain of the important vitamins and mineral salts. It also supplies bulk to the diet.

When making summer dresses of voile, cut off all selvages, even in straight skirts. Otherwise the material will draw when washed. Voile sometimes shrinks when washed, and it is well to make allowances for this cutting.

ELEVEN YEARS AGO

111 years ago and then some mayeb From The Times June 15, 1917

H. N. Dodge, the local surveyor, began work for the ditch company Wednesday last. It is proposed to construct several reservoir dams in McCubbins gulch in the near future.

O. B. Derthick has purchased the Wes Ray property near the spring and stored his household goods there. The Derthicks expect to start on an extended auto trip soon.

Woodecock & Kennedy began work at their sawmill near Wamic two weeks ago. They are handicapped for want of help, and when this is supplied anticipate a successful sawing season.

Many young men were in town Wednesday to register for the army.

A heavy frost at Wamic last Thursday did much damage to tender plants.

Lumber for the new Woodecock & Sons flour mill is being unloaded at the O. W. depot.

Criterion News Notes

Mrs. P. J. Kirch and two children are visiting with the lady's father, Frank Herrling, and family, at Salem, having gone to that place last Wednesday.

Mrs. D. L. Rutherford and daughter, Elizabeth, spent several days of this week at The Dalles.

C. A. Duus and family visited at the parental home at Estacada last week.

Ben Herring has left Cottage Grove and is now living at Turner. Ben has leased his father's ranch at that place and will live there hereafter.

Floyd McLeod is busy these days cutting his hay. He sowed rye and will harvest a good crop.

The Connollys have moved their sheep outfits from this section. They shipped their bands to the mountains, conveying them to Bend by train, shipping from Cove Creek. They are now hauling their wool to Maupin.

D. B. Appling and family returned on Sunday from a visit with relatives in the Willamette Valley.

Billy Hunt will move his sheep to Maupin this week and next week will turn them over to the shearers.

Doings at Pine Grove

E. E. Miller, project manager of the Wapinitia Irrigation company, left for the east last Sunday, to be gone until July 6th.

Mrs. N. G. Hedin is at The Dalles this week.

N. G. Hedin and W. A. Bullock made a flying trip to The Dalles on Wednesday.

Ten men are engaged this week making repairs on the canal leading from the mountain.

A portion of the Frog Creek flow is now turned into the main canal.

Linns' mill is unique in that it is operated mostly by girls and women. At that they are turning out a fine grade of lumber, mostly pine and fir.

Alfalfa (the green gold) is now being put up. In 30 days it will be ready to cut again. First cuttings last year ran as high as 2 3-4 tons to the acre.

A crew of men recently raised the canal banks on the Andrew Crabtree ranch.

Emil Hachler has sold his sheep to Colorado men and they will be shipped from Maupin tomorrow (Friday.)

Frank Richardson spent the week end at home, coming down from High Rock.

Nova Hedin accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Ellwood to Portland when those people left for California, after a visit with Wapinitia and Portland friends.

Leslie Flinn and family came out from the Joe A. Graham camp and spent Sunday at The Dalles and at Pine Grove.

John Fitzpatrick and Sons have rented a tract of land from the irrigation company on which to graze their sheep spring and fall while enroute to and from the forest range.

Fred Laughlin is busy riding and salting cattle for the Wapinitia Cattle Mens' association.

Children's Day was fittingly observed at the Wapinitia church by the joint service and program by the Wapinitia and Pine Grove Sabbath schools. Rev. Everett Hazen delivered a special Children's Day sermon in the afternoon, following the dinner.

W. A. Bullock of Klamath Falls is visiting with friends at Pine Grove and Maupin this week.

Robert C. Ellinwood and family of San Francisco are visiting at Pine Grove. Mrs. Ellinwood is the daughter of E. Miller, owner of the Wapinitia Irrigation works, and her husband was formerly superintendent of the system.

Several farmers of Wapinitia Plains have gone to the mountains for the purpose of making repairs on the Frog creek feeder canal, the only break to occur thus far this season.

Francis Confer and family are again visiting on Wapinitia Plains, having come up from their Portland home.

Mrs. Lester West will attend the summer session at Monmouth Normal school.

Grape juice makes a delicious hot weather ice or sherbet. Flavor with sugar and lemon to taste and freeze; if a sherbet is wanted add a beaten egg white when partly frozen and continue turning the dasher until stiff. Remove dasher, cover the can tightly, pack with ice and salt, and set away to ripen for an hour or more.
