"BEN HUR" MASTERPIECE OF GEN. LEW WALLACE

C. M. Plyler to Show Fine Screen Program at County Fair

C. M. Plyler has arranged a fine program of pictures for the coming fair, prominent in it being Gen. Lew Wallace's masterpiece, "Ben Hur." This will be the bill for Sunday night. The picture and story is well known to every average reader as a vivid portrayal of times during the reign of the early Romans, being located in the lands of the Greco-Roman dominion two thousand years ago. The picture carries out the entire thread of the story, the chariot race being especially strong. Other incidents of the book brought to the surface with intensity, the whole being one of the most interesting and historically correct pictorializations ever attempted by film makers.

The Friday night bill will be "Hills of Kentucky," starring Rin-Tin-Tin, the wonder dog, and is replete with incidents of early Kentucky life, its trails, feuds and love incidents.

Saturday night's offering will be "The Golden Snare," one of James Oliver Curwood's best stories. Lewis Stone, Wallace Beery and Ruth Renick carry the lead, while they are supported by a cast admirable selected to carry out the theme of the story. Prices will be 25 cents and 50 cents. The pictures for the fair will be of continuous showing, so that all who are late in arriving will be given an opportunity to see the whole of each story.

Mrs. Metteer Ill
Mrs. Gordon Metteer was suddenly taken ill yesterday and at this writing is confined to her bed. Just what her ailment is we have not been able to learn.

Bridge Work Halted
While unloading the steel mast of a crane yesterday the huge beam was dropped, badly kinking it and necessitating taking it to Portland to be fixed. It is expected that work will begin in earnest by Saturday and that by Monday a force of at least 20 men will be at work

Underwent Operation
Mrs. James Chalmers returned from a visit with her mother at The Dalles last week. While at the county seat she underwent an operation for the removal of her tonsils. The operation being made at The Dalles hospital. That lady is feeling much relieved now that the offending organs have been removed.

Criterion News Notes

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Wilson and family, Mr. and Mrs. Bieren and Eleanor, spent Sunday at Warm Springs, enjoying the hot baths.

Mrs. Appling and sons, Art and Jim, went to The Dalles on business Saturday last.

Mr. and Mrs. Halbrook and daughter, Helen, of Dufur spent Wednesday night at Kirsch's.

D. L. Rutherford was in The Dalles Saturday. He is taking treatments for an injury sustained during harvest.

Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Appling and daughter, Margerat, returned from Chehalis, Washington, Wednesday where they had spent several days with Mrs. Appling's brother, Lester, who is still quite ill.

Mrs. McLeod and little granddaughter, Janet, are visiting at the Rutherford home.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kirsch and son, Earl, are visiting at the home of P. J. Kirsch this week.

Grain harvest is over at Criterion. Even though the crop was a fair one the price of wheat is enough to make the farmer wonder why he worked so hard for what he will get in return.

Mrs. Dave Wilson and sister spent Thursday afternoon with Mrs. D. L. Rutherford.

Floyd McLeod is helping Mr. Lindley of Bakeoven with his wheat harvest.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Troutman and family spent one day of last week at the D. D. Wilson ranch.

Ben Herrling, Gus Kirsch and Jim Appling spent Sunday evening at Kirsch's.

Mr. Appling went to Maupin on Monday to get him a Ford truck.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Kramer spent a week at Seaside, returning Saturday night. They report having had a wonderful time while away.

Lelalie and Albert Troutman are spending a few days with Theodore and Ernest Kirsch.

Back From Swim

Billy Heckman has no liking for fog and frosty nights, such as he experienced lately at Swim. Billy went to that resort a couple of months ago to work around a hotel, but longing for the balmy air and sunshine of the Deschutes Valley caused him to resign his position and come home, which he did yesterday.
