Smock Prairie

Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Scott motored to Portland on Friday returning on Tuesday.

The Woodcock mill is getting out logs for sawing lumber after two weeks rest.

R. Ruffer shipped a carload of steers off the range to Portland markets last week.

Mrs. Carrie Horney of Wilbur, Oregon, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Bradway.

Mrs. Loren Barber went to Madras to visit relatives.

Mr. Scott, Senior, and wife are taking care of their sons' place in his absence the last few days. Burt took hogs to Portland on Saturday. There will be church services held at the Smock church on Sunday at 2 p. m., September 2. C. Stevens, pastor of the Christian church at Dufur, with a number of his congregation, will be here at that time. Everyone is invited to attend this service, and it is hoped there will be a large turnout to meet the visitors.

F. T. Felch took a truck load of lambs to The Dalles market on Saturday for Edward Disbrow. They were a fine bunch.

J. W. Ayres made a business trip to The Dalles on Thursday.

W. L. Dodge had the misfortune to break his collar bone when his car turned over on a turn near the Abbott ranch last Saturday. Dr. Christenson fixed him up and he is getting along fine, but it will be sometime before he will be able to work. Mrs. Dodge was with him but escaped injury.

R. Ruffer and family attended the Buckey sale near Tygh Valley on Tuesday.

Pine Grove News

Road notices are posted on the upper White river grade telling of both grade and bridge improvements.

Mrs. Julius Shepflin has returned, after having been away over the summer at three Jackel ranch above Wrentham.

Fred Ault and John McFarlane, the new mill man, expect to be able to start their mill in September. Mrs. Julius Shepflin has accepted the position as cook in the cook house.

Newton G. Hedin and daughter, Nova, have gone to Portland to visit relatives before the beginning of school.

Robert Shepflin expects to again enroll in the Maupin High school. His sister, Ella, will attend the Behnke-Walker business college at Portland.

J. S. Brown and wife are at Swim where they expect to capture some huckleberries.

David Glass, city engineer of The Dalles, spent a few days at Wamic recently. He also visited Smock and Wapinitia, being on water business.

Stock water seems to reach the extreme ends of laterals under the system of rotating.

Many flocks of pheasants, prairie chickens and quail are often seen along the line of the canals. Many sportsmen are of the opinion that the late fall water is a great aid in propagating wild game birds.

Ben F. Richardson is gradually increasing his stock of goods, as the local and transient demand increases. His gas and oil sales have jumped ahead since the summer travel of the Wapinitia cut-off has increased.

Leonard Weberz pilots two wagons with a four-in-hand from the home ranch to Maupin daily.

Lloyd Woodside, Alva Hammer and Reuben Walters are each conductors on wheat hauling outfits to Maupin elevators.

Roy Batty throws a wicked rein over the backs of his four horse mustangs with lead and trail wagons loaded with "desert gold."

Wm. Sturgis is stacking hay on the Jack Kelly ranch.

Leotta and John Hagey, daughter and son-in-law of Jack Kelly, of Portland, are here concerning crop rental on their ranch. They are visiting at the home of Louis Woodside and wife.

Frank McCoy is located back of Jack Pot and Black Wolf meadows with J. P. Abbott's sheep.

Roy Ward has completed his second cutting of hay.

Linn's mill is distributing considerable lumber to various ranchers, to be used in general construction. Charley Pierce is helping H. E. Wray haul in his straw crop.

Prof. Broughton and family will occupy the E. E. Miller cottage at Pine Grove for three months, after which they expect to move to the J. P. Abbott cottage at Wapinitia, now occupied by Engineer Corrigher and wife.

Louis McCoy has been the leading spirit in a movement to secure water for Pine Grove from the Wapinitia irrigating system.

Walter Woodside is busy getting his wheat to the Maupin warehouse.

The Ladies Aid had two Friday meetings last week—one at Fred Laughlin's and the other at the McClain cabin. Carpets and rugs were made at the first gathering and towels were hemmed at the second meeting, they to be offered for sale at the coming bazaar.

Hazel and Lee Laughlin have arranged for light housekeeping in the Evick cottage at Wapinitia for the school year.

Wapinitia school plans were somewhat upset at the eleventh hour by the resignation of Miss Merifield. An SOS broadcast is expected to fill the vacancy caused by the failure of Miss Merifield to teach here, but that lady may be excused, as she has secured a school near The Dalles, which will permit of her staying at home this year.

Jack Howard, who will teach the Batty school the coming year, is at Heppner, at work, during the vacation.

The marriage of Miss Florence Mathews and Leonard Farlow leaves a vacancy in the ranks of teachers at the Victor school.

Wm. Moore, veteran trapper, has accepted a position as watchman for the McFarlane & Sons sawmill.

The U. S. Enderby threshing machine has completed its run for the 1928 season.

O. S. Walters has finished a short season's run with his threshing outfit.

O. P. Weberz and family visited and had dinner with the Fred McLaughlin family on Sunday last.

Fred Ault made a flying trip to Portland on mill business during the past week.

Walter Sharp is hauling grain for John Boon.

Lou McCoy came into Wapinitia on the end of a tow rope recently. His red rambler joined the I. W. Ws. and refused to work. Newt's Dodge worked in the lead. Hedin may be seen every once in a while aiding some crippled benzine buggy in port.

Ben Richardson piloted a belated traveler's auto (via the tow rope route) into Maupin one day last week.

Isham West's wheat seems to be a fair prey for stray hogs. A goodly herd is feasting daily on Isham's unprotected sacks along the highway.

George Claymier is fanning and treating club hybrid wheat for seed which he will sell to neighbors. Earl Cunningham hauled a bunch of hybrid wheat from Maupin, for which he paid $1.00 per bushel. He will use it for seed. O. L. Paquet has obtained his seed wheat from George Claymier.
