PINE GROVE DOINGS

John Davis gave a dance last Saturday in the Dodge ranch house. A small crowd attended.

Ed. Davis was a Maupin visitor on Monday, hauling wood for his daughter's comfort.

"Dad" Moore will move to the George Davis sheep camp next Saturday, to help with the herding. "Dad" has just completed a five weeks' contract of ditching for the McFarlane company.

Harry Lewis has completed his lease of the J. S. Brown alfalfa and hog ranch and is now looking for another ranch to lease.

Wm. Sturgis has rented the vacated ranch by Julius Shepflin, known as the "Old Sam Brown ranch," now owned by the Wapinitia Ranch Co., Inc. The new owners are Lee Boyer and L. C. Sanford of Portland. Sturgis will rent 960 acres of the main farm and 240 acres of the Hunter place, held jointly with the J. S. West estate.

The Shepflin auction last Saturday was a success, cattle and hogs selling at top prices. About 250 people attended from all over the county. Frank Stuart and L. C. Henneghan acted as clerks and Newton G. Hedin auctioneered the sale.

Ed. Mathews and Geo. Burnside were again out from The Dalles, working on the Burnside ranch, unroofing buildings and cleaning out the well. Mathews will move to the ranch about November 5th.

Tim and Frank Linn returned from the Blue mountains with one deer to their credit.

The cattle riders got in Sunday with a lot of fine cattle.

The game Friday between Wapinitia and Tygh Valley, was won by the latter team by a score of 6-0. That was Wapinitia's first game and the team of that place made a good showing for a team of but meager experience. Wapinitia meets the Maupin High team this week.

Julius Shepflin found a bee tree on the White river bluffs one day this week getting a big lot of fine alfalfa honey therefrom.

Miss Ella Shepflin accompanied Lee Boyer to Portland last Sunday. She will attend business college there.

Farmers hereabouts are supplying grain and provisions for the crews at the Clear lake dam project.

J. S. Brown and L. C. Henneghan made a hunting trip to Clear lake on Wednesday. They also inspected the dam site and camp.

George Claymier is chopping grain for various of his neighbors.

Wapinitia Basket Supper

The social and basket supper at the Wapinitia school house last week evening was a success. It was held in order to raise funds to meet the cost of the football team's playing outfit. Many school patrons were present to boost for the team.

Players on the team made brief talks explaining their position in the lineup, as well as plays that interested them especially. The pies and baskets sold by Hedin brought a total of $46.95, which will meet about 25 per cent of the cost of the equipment.

Wapinitia Plains

The Shepflin sale at the Sanford & Boyer ranch beckoned so invitingly that all but two members of our High school attended.

Classmates of Frank Hackler surprised him at his home Wednesday evening this week, it being his 19th birthday.

Robert Holman reports his injured arm as healing rapidly. Dr. Elwood lanced the member last week. Robert had received a scratch, which caused a swelling, resembling a boil.

Due to her father's illness, Rilla Powell was absent from school on Monday.

Our excellent attendance record in the High school was badly marred recently by absences, caused principally by illness.

Roscoe Batty missed his Monday morning classes because of necessary work subsequent to Saturday's auction sale at Shepflin's.

Report has it that Marion O'Brien has purchased a Ford bug.

The second football game scheduled to be played by the Wapinitia "Cyclones," is that with Maupin this week Friday, October 19, on the Maupin field.

The Typing class is advancing on the exercises of section II of the text. The foremost are working on section III.

Last Sunday our football boys received some fine points in the game from a Mr. Moore, an O. A. C. graduate, the first Pacific coast man to be selected on an all American team.

The teachers and several pupils plan to follow the football team this week end.

A basket social and "pep" meeting was held at the Wapinitia school on October 11, the purpose of which

Sheep Breeders Establishing Production Standards

Just as dairy cattle raisers select breeding stock on a basis of milk and butter production, so are wool growers now adopting a system of selecting breeding stock based on wool production. One prominent Rambouillet breeder retains only those ewes which shear 15 pounds of wool or more annually. The progress made in this growing industry will be demonstrated by the larger and more comprehensive exhibits and displays in the Sheep and Wool divisions of the forthcoming 18th Annual Pacific International Livestock Exposition at Portland, Oregon, November 3-10.

This event affords an opportunity to learn from the experiences and achievements of other wool growers. For this reason the Maupin State Bank is very much in accord with the splendid work of the Exposition. We believe that local farmers who attend will bring back a knowledge of better farming practices that will assist in the further prosperity of this section.

was to raise money for athletic equipment. A short program was rendered by the school departments, after which Newt. Hedin sold the baskets and the crowd enjoyed a social affair. Each player wore his new uniform and each made a brief speech during the supper period. By this event, and the game on the following day, the High school treasury will be about $70.00 ahead.

Our three freshmen girls sold hot dogs Friday afternoon.

The Tygh Valley football team might say with the Roman warrior: "veni, vidi, vici"—came, saw, conquered—when the recount the game here last week. While the visitors won the game, still they knew they were in the scrap, for the Wap. boys, although but novices, gave them all they wanted. Hereafter the Wapinitia players will give better account of themselves, as they are improving by leaps and bounds—Ed. The Times.

SHORTY BEHNKE HEARD FROM

Ex-Tygh Valley Scrapper Now In Detroit With Another Fighter

M. D. Behnke, better known hereabouts as "Shorty" who cut some ice in local fights rings last winter when attending school at Tygh Valley, writes The Times from Detroit, Michigan. Shorty says he has fought from Seattle to Detroit, with bouts at Pontiac. He evidently longs for the salubrious climate of eastern Oregon, as he is anxious to learn what is contemplated in the smoker line for the coming winter.

Shorty says he is traveling with another fighter, a novice but one who packs a deadly punch, is fact and gives promise of making a mark as a boxer. The Tygh Valley school boy says he intends to start for the west in a month or six weeks and will then be ready to take on anyone at his weight—148 pounds.

Klamath Falls—Ice pavilion will be opened here.
