

Hoover Stands Before the People Absolutely Clean!

"BOLOGNA" OF DEMOCRATS DISAPPROVED AND HOOVER GIVEN CLEAN SLATE—GAVE OF TIME AND MONEY DURING LATE WAR AND SUPPLIED RELIEF TO MANY

"Hoover supporters, be on guard for last minute attempts to turn sentiment against your candidate." Such is the warning that is being sent out by Phil Metchan, chairman of the Republican State Central committee.

"If there is one flaw in the long and honorable career of Herbert Hoover it would have been discovered and broadcast long ago," declared Mr. Metchan yesterday. "Those who seek to accomplish the defeat of our candidate have left no stone unturned in an effort to impeach the character and record of Mr. Hoover, but their attempts have been in vain, and any last minute attack on him may be classified as what Mr. Smith would call 'bologna.'

HERBERT C. HOOVER

"Whisperers have attempted to turn votes from the republican candidate by questioning his American citizenship but it has availed them nothing, for even though Mr. Hoover did spend parts of many years in far-off lands as a mining engineer, his heart was in America and this was always his home. Efforts were made to convince people that on the great Hoover farm in Kern county, California, no white labor was employed, but this story was refuted by a committee of republicans and democrats who made an investigation and reported that white labor predominated the farm.

"Slanderers have whined that Mr. Hoover grew rich during the world war. The intelligent voter knows this to be a campaign falsehood, for as head of the Belgian Relief and as chief of the Food Administration Mr. Hoover not only gave his time and his great ability, but paid his own expenses through the long period and sacrificed the wonderful opportunities he had to make money during that time.

"It has been said that Mr. Hoover fixed the price of wheat during the war but this has been proven untrue by the words of no less authority than the late President Woodrow Wilson. What Mr. Hoover did for the American farmer in the four month period following the signing of the armistice is not well known. Suffice to say that he, singled handed, forged the allied powers to carry out contracts they had made for American foodstuffs and thus saved the farmer from ruin and bankruptcy.

"It has been said that when the people of the United States were in need of sugar Mr. Hoover dumped tons of this commodity into the Atlantic. Another campaign myth concocted out of malice and evil design!

"Stories have come into our office that Mr. Hoover practically starved the American soldiers when they were in France. We would leave that for veterans of the A. E. F. themselves to answer, if indeed a story of such character requires an answer.

"A thousand things of like type and of like folly have been told of Mr. Hoover in an effort to bring about his defeat in Oregon. Tammany has known for months that Mr. Hoover would be its opponent in the presidential election. Tammany is shrewd and its ability to unearth old scandals or unsavory records is well known. If during the last few months a flaw had been found in Mr. Hoover's record it would have been brought forth into the light of public view. We know that Mr. Hoover's record is clean, that his work for humanity has been greater than that of any individual the world has ever known and that as a man qualified for the high office of president he stands without a peer.

"The presidency is the highest office in the world. It is one of great dignity, and in attempting to win Oregon for Mr. Hoover our committee has sought to carry on a dignified campaign that will be a credit to our candidate. We have sought to build up Mr. Hoover in the eyes of the Oregon electorate, rather than tear down his opponent and we hope, in the interest of decency and honesty some who follow the banner of Mr. Smith will pursue a like course."

A. E. LAKE SELLS STORE BRINGS WIFE FROM KENTUCKY

Wharton Bros. Buy Business and are Now in Possession

A deal whereby the A. E. Lake store at Wamic passed into the hands of Wharton Bros. was consummated the first of the week. The buyers, A. L. Wharton of Boise, Idaho, and F. R. Wharton from Antelope, took possession the first of the week. We understand the new proprietors are well versed in the mercantile business and that it is their intention to give the Wamic people an up-to-date establishment. Failing health caused Mr. Lake to relinquish the business and he will now retire from active life. He lately suffered an attack of paralysis, which left him in a feeble condition, making it impossible for him to continue in business longer.

FATHER OF LICENSE BILL HERE

Senator Joe Dunne Says He Does Not Look for Victory

Senator Joe Dunne, father of a couple of initiative bills looking for a reduction in auto licenses, was in Maupin Tuesday morning. Senator Dunne has asked that his bills be withdrawn from the ballot, but his request came too late and they will appear on the ballot. The senator said he did not look for the gasoline tax bill to win out, but thought the low license measure stood a possible chance of pulling through.

Noel Shearer Marries Blue Grass State School Ma'am

Nel Shearer recently made a trip back to his native state, Kentucky. While some surmised that the object of the journey was matrimony, still there was nothing upon which to base the surmise. Noel returned home a couple of weeks ago and with him came a blushing bride who became the wife of our popular dairyman on October 12th, the ceremony taking place at Richmond, Kentucky. The new Mrs. Shearer is said to have been a high school teacher. Both Noel and his bride are receiving congratulations of the friends of the Shearers and all wish them a long and happily married life.

Killed Albino Quail—

There have been reports of white blackbirds and white robins in this section, but it devolved upon Douglass Bothwell and Herbie Kramer to prove there was such a bird as a white quail. Sunday afternoon the little fellows were hunting below Wapinitia creek and among the birds shot was one as white as snow. Even the top-knot was white. The bird was sent to a taxidermist for mounting.

W. E. Hunt and W. H. Staats were business visitors at The Dalles last Saturday.

John Powell, who lately underwent a severe attack of pneumonia, was able to be in town a few hours on Monday.

City Ticket Named at Caucus Held Friday Evening Last

L. C. Henneghan Chosen as Mayor, Jim Woodcock for Recorder—Councilmen Nominated

Electors of Maupin met in caucus last Friday night and nominated a ticket to be voted on the first Tuesday in December. There was no opposition to the nominations made, each one named receiving the united vote of the caucus.

There was some trouble finding a man who would accept the nomination for mayor, but after it had been shown that it was absolutely necessary that a business man be placed at the head of the city government owing to the fact that a reservoir was to be constructed next year, and that the city needed a man with enough business experience to oversee that project, L. C. Henneghan, after some hesitation, agreed to make the run.

J. H. Woodcock was mentioned for the office of mayor, but he declined. When it came to nominating a recorder and Jim's name was mentioned, there was no declination of his part. He has been in that office the past two years.

For the office of city treasurer there was no opposition to the reelection of George McDonald, and he was unanimously voted as the candidate for that position.

Joe Kramer received the nomination for the office of city marshal. Gus Derthick, present incumbent, has filed for the office of marshal as an independent candidate and will make the run in opposition to Kramer.

The ticket as nominated, follows: For mayor—L. C. Henneghan. For Recorder—J. H. Woodcock. For Treasurer—George McDonald.

For Marshal—J. F. Kramer.

For Councilmen—James Chalmers, F. D. Stuart, E. W. Richmond, O. P. Reah, B. W. Welch, R. E. Wilson.

Wilson was the first mayor of Maupin, later serving as councilman. Of those nominated Stuart, Chalmers and Richmond are members of the present council.

Discharged Lunatic in Role of Would-Be Sneak Thief

Given Sleeping Quarters Man Turns Burglar—Power Plant Man Awakens in Time

One night last week E. C. Marks, operator at the Oak Springs power plant, was approached by a man who said he was looking for work. Marks took him to the fish hatchery, but no one was needed there, so the two went back to the power plant. As the traveler had no place to sleep the operator allowed him to occupy an extra cot in the plant house. Before going to bed the stranger exhibited discharge from the army, and glancing over it Marks saw the word "lunatic" and looking closer found the fellow had been discharged because of mental disability. Marks became somewhat perturbed and made up his mind to keep awake during the night. Sleep overcame him, and about midnight he awakened, looking toward the other cot and discovered his guest had rolled up the bedding and was peering into a wardrobe.

Marks quietly arose and as the fellow emerged from the clothes closet the operator delivered a knock out blow. Then he proceeded to tie his night guest up. When the fellow came to he begged to let him go, saying he was not responsible for his actions. Marks believed him, untied the ropes and the man made a hurried get away, the last Marks saw of him was a blur up the track heading for Maupin.

New Man at Garage—

Wm. Schilling, well known auto mechanic about Shaniko, has been employed by Ben Fraley and is now at work in the Maupin garage. Mr. Schilling at one time worked in a garage at Shaniko and also put in some time in the employ of Ben's father at Grass Valley. He is said to be a first class mechanic.

A. H. Jones and wife, old-time Willamette Valley friends of W. H. Talcott, called on that gentleman this morning while passing through Maupin.

Candidates Named Below Form Winning Co. Ticket

ALL GOOD MEN AND TRUE—WILL WORK FOR TAX REDUCTION AND COUNTY BETTERMENT—EACH ONE PROMISES ECONOMY IN OFFICE

After viewing the political field, Northwest Society Highway Engineers, each of which admits none but those qualified by training and experience in the various lines of engineering. Mr. Fauerso promises, that if elected, he will furnish private surveys at actual cost, and deal with all matters squarely.

Sheriff—A. S. (Sid) Johnson. Attorney—Paul Childers. County Clerk—Henry Scherrer. Surveyor—Christ Fauerso. Assessor—Will L. Doud. Congress R. R. Butler.

To begin with we will tell you we think (Sid) Johnson is the best man for sheriff.

He has the advantage of age; has farmed in this section for over 28 years; knows the tax situation from one end to the other; has made a success of his business at The Dalles; his word is as good as his bond; will conduct the office with dignity, courtesy, honesty and a desire to do his best to ameliorate the farmers' tax condition. He will go into office with the idea of conducting same on a business line, not as a means of providing bread and butter but to be a real sheriff in a real county.

By electing Paul Childers to the office of district attorney the people of Wasco county will have placed in office a man who will work to the end that the legal business of the county will be attended to ahead of his private practice, one who will analyze matters coming before the county court and will advise county officers in any matters that may come before them requiring legal attention. He has practiced law in this county for 16 years and has been most successful in that work. He is fully awake to the tax situation and will work to the end that property equalization and a lower tax rate will be brought about. Mr. Childers promises that people coming to his office on county matters will be given a hearing first hand and not be compelled to wait his pleasure. In bringing matters to the district court for hearing he will at all times go fully into the merits of the case and not put the county to unnecessary expense when there is no chance of conviction by insisting that such cases be placed on trial. In a nutshell, he will attend to the county's business first, using his best judgment in everything coming to him and will strive to make the district attorney's office something else than a means to increase his private practice.

Henry Scherrer needs no introduction to the people of Wasco county. He is a native son, comes of a family well and favorably known, and is one of the most promising men of the county. He has had considerable experience in the clerk's office and is well informed regarding the duties thereof. He received one of the largest votes given candidates at the primary election and will fulfill the duties of the office with dignity, honesty and guarantees that all fees coming into the clerk's department will be turned into the coffers of the county.

Christ Fauerso is the man chosen by the county court to take the place made vacant by the resignation of the late county engineer. He is one of the best known engineers and road builders in the west and was chosen because of his especial fitness for the position, as the road question in Wasco county is a vexed one and needs a man of ripe experience to straighten matters out. Mr. Fauerso is a member of the society of Military Engineers, a past associate member American Society Civil Engineers and belongs to the Northwest Society Highway Engineers, each of which admits none but those qualified by training and experience in the various lines of engineering. Mr. Fauerso promises, that if elected, he will furnish private surveys at actual cost, and deal with all matters squarely.

At the primary election Will L. Doud, who is running for the office of county assessor, led the ticket with a handsome majority. He stood for tax equalization, and tax reduction wherever possible and promised a square deal to all. If elected Mr. Doud will be a real assessor and courteous county official. Anyone having business with his office will be given the consideration due and his troubles taken up and adjusted in the best possible manner. Mr. Doud is a real estate man, knows property values and will leave no stone unturned to make assessments as equal as is possible. He will play no favorites and will give all property owners a fair, square valuation, and will also see to it that all things assessable be placed on the tax rolls. By so doing many who are now escaping with low valuations will be compelled to come to tax and pay their share of the taxes of the county. By nature Will L. Doud is affable, pleasant in manner and easily approached. It is against his nature to "high hat" anyone, and any visiting his office may be assured of courteous treatment and all the time necessary to adjust his grievance. Mr. Doud served with distinction in the Spanish-American war, after which he was in the insular service for several years, being stationed in the Philippine Islands. A vote for Will L. Doud is a vote for economy, courtesy and ability.

When Nick Sinnott was elevated to a prominent office at the national capital a successor was necessary. That successor must need be a man who carried the capabilities of the retiring representative, and the choice fell upon Robert R. Butler, well known attorney and jurist of The Dalles. No better choice could have been made, for Mr. Butler possesses that needed quality—knowledge of the needs of the district and the state and the country as a whole—which makes for an able, diligent and progressive representative. His opponent has been granted opportunity to shine in political circles, but has woefully fallen down in many matters in which he might have bettered the district and state. By electing Judge Butler the people of Oregon will have chosen a worthy successor to Mr. Sinnott, one who will soon be recognized as a power in the house of representatives and who will work for everything that tends to the best interests of Oregon and the whole country. That Mr. Butler will be elected goes without saying. One matter which will out saying. One matter which is of importance to voters is, that at the coming election there will be two congressional ballots, one the regular ballot and a smaller one. It will be necessary to vote both ballots, for one is to mark choice of a man to complete Mr. Sinnott's term, the other for the regular term. See to it that you mark both ballots for Robert R. Butler for representative in congress.

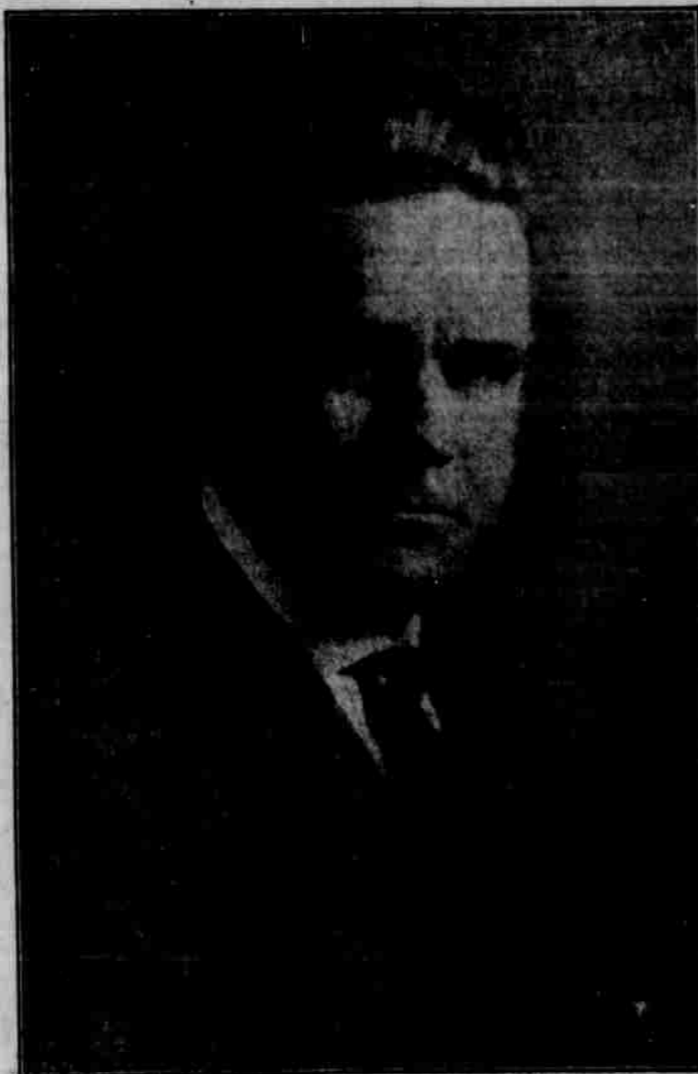

We believe the above men are the best for the respective offices. In making our choice we have given close attention to the fitness of each for the office, compared the ability of each with his opposition, and we believe we voice the sentiment of a majority of the electors of the county in our support of those men.

Working at Hatchery—

Job Crabtree and Arthur Creighton are now at work at the Oak Springs hatchery residence, building a bath room and other conveniences for the family of Andy Smith. When the work is completed Andy and his wife will have a modern residence, and as soon as electric lights are installed will be as well as Al. Smith would be in case he was elected to occupy the White House.

Now a Cabaret—

Ben Fraley has installed an electric phonograph, cleared the tables and chairs from his dining room and each evening is entertaining Maupin's devotees of the dance. Several evenings last week the floor was well filled with dancers and such will continue, except on those evenings when the Legion hall is occupied by entertainments.

A. S. (SID) JOHNSON, OUR NEXT SHERIFF

The above picture is that of (Sid) Johnson, who stands a mighty good chance of occupying the sheriff's office for the coming four years. If our readers will note the strength of character shown in the picture, the determined set of the jaw, and general expression of do or die, they will have no hesitancy in casting their votes for Mr. Johnson next Tuesday.

Mr. Johnson has been around the county somewhat, and wherever he has visited he has created a favorable impression and made votes for himself. To meet the man one is at once impressed with his calibre and fitness for the sheriff's position. He is built for it and if elected the people of Wasco county will have cast their ballots for a man who will be a real sheriff, one will fill Levi Chrisman's shoes with honor and a credit to the county. This is no ballyhoo, but our honest opinion.

Mr. Johnson will go into the office without any strings tied to him. He promises an economical, honest and conscientious administration of the office and all who know him also know that when (Sid) Johnson says a thing it is so, doubters to the contrary notwithstanding. Work for you own best interests, Mr. and Mrs. Voter, and see to it that your vote is cast for A. S. Johnson next Tuesday.
