Claude Wilson had his presence known at the telephone meeting at the Legion hall. He is a phone user on the Bakeoven line and desired to be shown just how the proposed change would benefit phone users out his way.

Harvey Morris is still passing out those nifty many-colored ever-ready lead pencils. Those mem markers are the real thing in pencils and Harve has disposed of many of them to Maupinites.

Newt Hedin excavated his kitchen sink drain on Monday. While at work he received lots of advice as to the best method to employ, but Newt found that the garden hose was the best help that came along.

The amateur comedy performance at Legion hall last evening was a decided success, both from a financial standpoint as well as from merit on the part of the Dufur ladies taking part. The house was comfortably filled and the Boy Scouts, for whose benefit the show was put on, have been able to add quite a snug sum to their treasury. Should the Willing Workers choose to again invade Maupin with an entertainment they may be assured of a greeting by a much larger audience.

Pick Ups About Town

The fact that a Catholic father has been investigating the possibility of settling a colony on Juniper Flat should cause Maupin people to sit up and take notice. Father Black, a noted Catholic divine, has made a couple of trips to the Flat and with him was one of the leading colonizers of the Pacific coast. Just what will be accomplished by their visits is not known, suffice to say that something worth while is in the wind and that that something will prove of great benefit to Maupin.

The Maupin High school basketball players did not get a chance to take part in the tournament at Mosier last Friday. By some method of arrangement they were prevented from playing by an oversight in not sending in their entry until the day of the tournament. They, however, played a game with the Grass Valley team, suffering a defeat.

Something appears radically the matter with Maupin. Heretofore it was an easy matter to grab off a pint or quart, but since the sheriff has been doing a clean up job herabouts Maupin has taken on all the attributes of a desert. Maybe some brave bootlegger will open up business again and then thirsty humans may be able to get hold of a bottle of the contraband.

The state legislature as concluded its labors and has disbanded for another two years. Some meritorious bills were acted upon and passed and many received the axe at the hands of the governor. It was thought probable the house and senate would extend their sittings over the stipulated time. by Lew Henneghan went to Salem last week and the legislature adjourned early Sunday morning. Wonder whether Lew's visit had anything to do with it?

The river is coming up and is carrying a full quota of mud. Bakeoven creek has been full to the brim but now is on the decline. We may be assured of good fishing, for, as Dave Donaldson says, trout never bite good unless there has been a high water to cause them to come up stream.

Bill Williams is on the anxious seat these days. His chief chore at home is taking care of his prize foxes, and now that one of them is an expectant mother Bill is devoting extra attention to his charges. The foxes are well bred and are of a choice strain, and Bill sees to it that they are not bothered any at this time.

The gang of Gypsies who struck Maupin last Friday were well to do, at least so they seemed. Their cars were large and of a high price make, while the people themselves were dressed better than are most of their kind usually traveling over Oregon's highways. This particular band had come up from California and were bound for a gathering of their clan in British Columbia.

Ray Kaylor steamed up a new McCormick-Deering tractor on Monday and rode the machine to the ranch. Ray evidently intends to turn over a lot of acres this spring and the machine he has purchased surely will do its share in accomplishing that little old job.

Interest in the coming smoker is running high. People, who usually are considered sedate and stay-at-home folks, were asking for tickets last Saturday, while the demand for choice seats has been insistent all week.

For once The Times man was caught napping, and that time was when he failed to learn of the arrival of a seven-pound baby girl at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Davis. The little miss is a husky infant and her parents are to be congratulated that she has taken up her residence with them.

Jack Morrow in Town— Jack Morrow of The Dalles was a Maupin business visitor on Wednesday afternoon. Jack, who formerly work at the then Butler store, has decided that he will go into business for himself, therefore has taken to selling merchandise to various merchants on The Dalles-California highway.

Grading Side Streets— A county road grader hauled by a caterpillar tractor, is at work on Maupin's side streets today and is putting them in better shape than they have been in since the place was incorporated.

A Checking Account

There is just one intelligent and efficient way to handle your finances today. That is by a checking account. When you pay your bills and handle your funds by check, you put yourself in a position whereby you can control your expenses rather than be controlled by them. It makes it possible for you to utilize every aid in accumulating your funds that will some day make your dreams come true. This is why a checking account eliminates the chance of losing money from your pocket. It removes the chance of losing money by making incorrect change. It reduces the chance of paying bills twice, since a check is its own receipt.
