Pick Ups About Town

There is a certain business man in Maupin who got sore at The Times because this paper, in telling of a new business place coming, said that business was one long needed. And so it is. Any business coming to a town is needed. To have a monopoly in any line is not good business, and when competition comes in it means that people will have a chance to choose just where they will trade. For the benefit of the first mentioned man we will say that when the new restaurant opens for business nothing but whole milk will be served, neither will any but pure soft drinks be retailed over the counter and no card games, either for fun or money will be tolerated. Put that in your pipe and smoke it.

Attorney Galloway would have made a good slave driver in the days before the civil war. We will give him credit for getting just what he desires from a witness but the means he employs to do so, while ethical, are far from being the most gentlemanly. To roar and rant at a witness savors of bulldozing tactics rather than by using more conciliatory means to secure the answers he desires.

Fishing on the Deschutes should be undertaken with a knowledge of the treacherous nature of the stream. No one knows the precariousness of the undercurrent of that river, and those who frequent its banks should take precaution against falling into the water, especially in a rapid place. The drowning of Mr. Gronewald and his son is an illustration that should be studied carefully by all who fish in our trout stream.

Bill Staats, while still a comparatively young man, does not object to being called old enough to trail with the early settlers. He is old in years here but has not yet reached that allotted three score years and ten. While his health is not as good as it has been still he is young in heart and disposition and that should be considered when applying the appellation "old" to him.

Art Fargher is some hustler when it comes to packing filled wool sacks into a box car. He tried that job last Friday and when he emerged from the car looking as though he had been taking a Turkish bath with all his clothes on.

Kramer Bros. are enjoying a brisk trade in selling new Ford cars and trucks. They have disposed of quite a number thus for this season and have other sales in prospect.

All that has been done without newspaper advertising. Get Whiz! Had they used the Times' columns to let the people know of their goods how many more cars could they have disposed of? Try it once, boys, and notice increased results.

Reliable Service

Auto garagemen advertise "Reliable Service" as does also all kinds of business that deals with the public. Banks, as well, render reliable service to thousands daily. They function for the public, take care of business matters, guard funds entrusted to them and in a thousand and one ways render services that are never realized by the general public.
