Fashion Revue Feature of Heralded Fort Dalles Frolics

Merchants Join in Showing Latest Concepts in Women's Togs—Two Showings Billed

One of the pleasing features of the coming Fort Dalles Frolics will be a fashion revue, all the merchants dealing in women's clothing joining to make the event complete. There will be two showings of latest concepts in women's togs, at which many beautiful young ladies will be used as models.

The city government will be super-edged by officials chosen especially for the Frolics. A. Nish, the sole survivor of the Civil War Veterans post of The Dalles, has been chosen as mayor, Bert McClure will be chief of police while Barber J. W. Thompson will direct activities of the fire department as chief during the festivities.

A parade of veterans and as many of the old-time vehicles as can be obtained will be features of the three-day celebration. Veterans have been developing whiskers for the past month and when the time comes to join in the festivities there will be whiskers of every shape, style, color and size in evidence.

The streets of The Dalles will be gaily decorated and the civic auditorium especially trimmed for the celebration. It is expected there will be a great number from outside cities and surrounding country at The Dalles during the Frolics, which has become an annual affair, and is growing bigger and better with each succeeding show.

TRUCK TIPPED OVER IN SKID

Load of Bucks Scattered Broadcast On Columbia Highway

While returning from the buck sale at Pendleton last Wednesday Billy Hunt and Ed. Fitzpatrick, riding in a truck, tipped over on the Columbia highway about 20 miles east of The Dalles.

As they approached a curve with the load of bucks shifted position with the result that the truck skidded. Billy brought the vehicle back to a level, and upon another turn the bucks crowded to the back end, causing the front wheels to raise up and throwing the truck into a skid. The truck went a short spurt and turned over, scattering the load promiscuously on the roadway.

Billy left Fitzpatrick to round up the flock while he went to The Dalles after a wrecker to pull their truck in. As a result of the accident Ed. suffered several contusions, the truck a broken wheel, door windows and a badly bent fender.

Went After Cars

Joe Kramer and Carl Pratt went to Portland yesterday and when they return today are expected to be driving a new Ford car each.

on "Practical Method of Teaching Silent Reading," and Dr. Moore speaks to the high school instructors on general topics of interest. These talks will be given in the same rooms as the preceding classes.

The Wednesday afternoon program, the closing of the institute, is scheduled for two inspiring and worthwhile talks by Dr. Moore and D. V. Poling, respectively. Preceding the talks, the group will be led in singing by Mr. Poling accompanied by Dagmar Johnson. Professor Endicott will play several numbers following the afternoon recess.

Marked Attractions For Tygh Valley Friday and Saturday

"The Barker" Friday With Big Play, "Abie's Irish Rose," on Saturday Evening

Manager Miller has arranged most pleasing programs for his shows at Tygh Valley Odd Fellows hall on Friday and Saturday evenings of this week. Friday's offering will be a well known circus picture, "The Barker," being a story of the big top and containing thrills and situations that keeps one on pins and needles from the first to the end of the picture. "Abie's Irish Rose" will be shown Saturday night. That picture had its premier showing in New York and for a period of nearly a full year called out thousands nightly. Comment is unnecessary, for this film story is well known to all readers of newspapers, which have contained commendable comments on the play ever since its initial production.

Mrs. Miller tried to make connection with the fair managers with a view of securing the picture showing permit for the fair, but being unable to conclude such arrangement secured the hall and will add the fair's attraction by making his showing at Tygh Valley.

Bought Blooded Bucks

Billy Hunt and Ed. Fitzpatrick attended the buck sale held at Pendleton, Round-up grounds, last week, and each purchased a number of blooded Hampshire bucks. Billy added eight to his flock; while Fitzpatrick brought four of the same breed home with him.

Hauling Sheep Guano

A truckman from Hood River has been busy for several days hauling sheep guano from the Hunt corral on Criterion hill. Several hundreds of sacks of the fertilizer have already been taken to Hood River. The guano will be used in the orchards of our western neighboring county.

Some Song Writing

Erwin Ehaunds, the young man who issued the fair program last year, has come out as a song writer. Two of his compositions—"Take Me Back to Mammy's Shack," and "On the Round-Up Trail," have been set to music and are making a bit wherever heard. Jack Fox, well known black face pianist, will introduce the songs to the denizens of the fair grounds this week, and when Jack sings all will listen to something out of the ordinary. The last-named song was adopted as the official song at the recent Oregon City rodeo celebration and also by the Pendleton Round-Up committee.

MY MOUNTAINS

(By Jerry Mack)

Dear Mountains, I love you; but I Ne'er shall see thee more. The fine white mist o'er the tall trees sift, Nor hear thy rivers roar; For rocks and hills divide us and you no more I see; Please, Mountain, take your paper and write a line to me.

For my heart is hungry, aching and yearning every day. Again to see thy grandeur I would start right now today— Because of those fond memories of the seasons past Within my heart are fresh today And will forever last.

Dear Mountain, how thy stately head that I may whisper true, I have a sweet, sweet secret I would impart to you: Just yesterday again I stood to my great surprise Upon thy crested summit to view a grand sunrise.

Oh cradle me, dear Mountain, in thy tender grace With loving arms entwine me in loving, fond embrace. For again I saw the grandeur I thought to see no more And the fine white mist o'er the tall trees sift And I heard thy rivers roar.

My Mountains, now I long to stand upon thy heights again; Dear lover bid me come to thee, forever to remain. Fond memories of yesterday go with me day by day And brighten up my darkest cloud with a silvery ray.

Please rock me on thy loving breast and bid me have sweet dreams Of a certain trail, a certain tree, a certain nook, it seems So very realistic as I ponder o'er today And live again, and dream again my dreams of yesterday.

Ogden Elwood, son of Maupin's popular doctor, visited with his father several days the first of the week. Ogden is representative of the Portland Oregonian at Klamath Falls.

INDIAN BEATS WIFE; NOW IN COUNTY BIG HOUSE

Booze and an Ugly Disposition Mix to the Injury of Spencer's Indian Wife

Indian Bill Spencer was arrested by Deputy Kramer on Monday and taken to the county jail at The Dalles. Spencer, with some other Indians was camped at Bear Springs. He had been to The Dalles and when he returned was filled with moonshine. His ugly disposition prompted him to begin working his wife over, and in this was assisted by a couple of other red men. He mauled his wife in a terrible manner she being held by another squaw so the brute could work a spite out on her.

The wife of a forest ranger appeared on the scene and at the point of a revolver made Bill cease his assault. Later the authorities were informed of the fracas, and Kramer was directed to apprehend Spencer, which was done and he was taken to jail as above mentioned.

Later W. H. Williams, another deputy sheriff, was detailed to go with Joe to Bear creek and directed to arrest the other Indians who figured in the trouble. The husband of the squaw who had held the Spencer woman made his get away and the officers failed in his arrest. He will be taken to the county seat as soon as apprehended and there made to suffer for his temerity in assisting in an assault upon an unprotected woman.

Changing Over Mail Cart

Mail Carrier C. A. Hartman has his mail truck in the shop for a general overhauling, while the body is in a body and fender shop. That part of the equipment will be made wider and a door put in and another seat added. This is being done for the accommodation of passengers, Hartman having complied with the traffic laws and being licensed to carry express and passengers to from this place and intermediate points and The Dalles. He expects to begin the new service in about 10 days. In the meantime he is hauling mail in his old Buick with a trailer.
