The Times man enjoyed the hospitality of Noel Shearer on Tuesday, the former resident conveying the newspaper man to The Dalles that day.

Miss Maggie Wray, who is attending Northwestern Business college, Portland, is at home for a short vacation. She visited friends in Maupin Sunday evening.

Morgensen Visits Maupin—T. E. Morgensen, who owns the ranch just below the top of White river grade, now living at Mosier, called on The Times Tuesday. Mr. Morgensen is engaged in the orchard business at Mosier and says the fruit growers of his section have suffered from lack of water this season. He also stated that many orchards there had been abandoned, the owners leaving because of failure of crops and the low prices obtained for what was picked and packed.

Will Improve Road—P. B. Driver, road master for the district, informs The Times that he will soon begin the improvement of the old hill road below the Jake Davidson ranch, making the roadway better from the second bridge to the Davidson ranch.

Another Son Comes—Dr. Elwood reports the birth of a 10-pound son at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Cox on the Flat last Friday. The newcomer is the fourth child born to that family, but is as welcome as though he had the first.

At Paulina Lake—Fiske Bothwell and R. W. Richmond went to Paulina lake Tuesday afternoon and spent the time between then and this afternoon taking in the beauties of that body of water.

Gone to Portland—Frank Dyer and wife went to Portland last night, Frank going to the big town to seek surcease from an ailment that has bothered him for many years. He recently was examined by a Dalles doctor, but his wife decided that a specialist should be consulted, hence the Portland trip.

Found Coat and Cash—While coming down the Criterion grade one day recently, Clarence Hunt picked up a coat, evidently dropped by some motorist. Investigation disclosed a pocketbook, which contained the sum of $35.00 and some cards, among which was a driver's license made out in the name of Alex Gustafson, Portland. The find was left at the Maupin State Bank and may be recovered by proving property.

Pick Ups About Town

Dolph Goetjen is a raiser of turkeys. He raises none but the best kind. He watches his flocks with the eye of a Hawkshaw. Nothing please, him better than to observe the steady growth of his Thanksgiving birds. He herds his flock to where grasshoppers abound and is not stingy with wheat scrapings. Anything to keep his little turkeys fit. This season he raised about 90 fine bronzers. One night recently his turkey roost was visited by some prowler, who, when they left, were accompanied by 85 of Dolph's turks. One bird escaped and while trying to make home base was pounced upon and killed by a vagrant coyote. Now Dolph has no turks, but the memory of his lost pet, remains and their erstwhile owner has cleaned up the old 10-gauge shotgun and proposes to give the next night thief a dose where he will be compelled to stand up when he eats.

Billy Hunt is among our most ambitious ranchers. Recently Bill Staats (notice we did not say "old Bill") and Hunt spent a time at Warm springs. During the time they were there idleness palled upon the sheepman. His active nature demanded attention. One day the man who runs the springs sanatorium had some blacksmithing work to do and went to the agency for that purpose. Billy went along and put in the day twinging a heavy ledge hammer. Returning to town, Friend Hunt declared that the day he spent in the blacksmith shop was one of the most pleasant he enjoyed for a long time. Verily a little work chases away a multitude of lonesome feelings.

Jimmie Wray has been working as assistant to Clarence Ziegenhagen and has been chaperoning an oil truck about the country. Jimmy had previously been confined to the counters at the drug store. He took the oil job as a sort of filler in. Now he has resigned that position and will enjoy a few days rest before heing himself to some school where he will marticulate in pharmacy. His brother, Addie is now a graduate pharmacist and, like webb toe, the profession seems to run in the family.

"Jerry Mack" is responsible for the poem appearing on another page of this issue of The Times. "Jerry" must be a lover of nature for the sentiment expressed in the poem savors of that attribute. The poem is filled with a yearning, a longing that fills the breasts of all who have lingered 'neath the shade of our own Cascades and who have been taken deep breaths of our incense laden mountain air.

One of the Scouts who recently spent a vacation at Lost Lake, and who went there with a determination to learn to swim, came home without having acquired that art. When asked about his natorial experience the lad replied that while he did not master swimming exclaiming he got his feet wet while at the lake.

A certain resident of the up-river section has ridden with Mail Carrier Hartman to and from The Dalles on divers occasions. Recently he was observed hanging around the post office at the county seat and finally asked the carrier if he had a load. "Yes" replied Hartman, "Then I will go out with you," remarked the up-river man. "All right," said the truckman, "but it will cost you $2.50 for the trip." "Den," said the other, "don't tink I go wid you," and he stayed in town that trip.

"You are coming right to the front, aren't you?"

So observed an officer of this bank the other day during an interview with a young business man. "Yes," he replied, "and your friendly, helpful counsel and banking service have been important factors in my success. . . . And, by the way, your bank is coming right to the front, too! And, deservedly—if the constructive assistance you have given me is a sample of what others receive."

The above, and many more commendations, show the relation in which we stand to the business interests of Southern Wasco County.

"The Road to Ruin"

This showing is one that should appeal to all who are bringing up children, as it clearly demonstrates how the young especially the girls, are beguiled from the straight path and subjected to a life of despair and eventual miserable death. The moral lesson of the picture will be learned by all who witness its showing.

A Dollar Dinner For Four

- Spaghetti with Meat and Vegetable Sauce—44¢ Young Green Onions—5¢ Currant Jelly—5¢ Bran Muffins—20¢ Dessert Salad—25¢ Iced Tea with Lemon—3¢ Total Cost—$1.00

YES, a dollar dinner can be prepared for four people, and it will be ample as shown by the menu given above. Food should be bought at sales whenever possible, and purchases made in just as large quantities as one's storage space permits.

Recipes for Four To make the Spaghetti with Meat and Vegetable Sauce, boil and drain three ounces of spaghetti. Saute two tablespoons chopped onion and one chopped green pepper in one tablespoon of drippings, add one-half pound of hamburger steak and cook thoroughly, stirring with a fork to keep it in tiny pieces. Mix one can of vegetable soup and one and one-fourth cups water with one tablespoon of flour, add to the meat, and cook until slightly thickened. Season to taste with salt, pepper and kitchen bouquet. Pour over the spaghetti. For the dessert salad, slice two large bananas lengthwise and place them cut side up in four individual nests of lettuce. Sprinkle with the juice of half a lemon, and pile half a cup of canned apple sauce along the tops. Sprinkle with canned moist coconut and chopped walnuts, and garnish with mayonnaise.
