Wapinitia

Studying Cray Fish

The Biology class has been studying the chapter "The Cray fish and their near relatives." This chapter takes up the different groups of animals as Crustaceans, Arachnids, Myriapods and Mollusks. The class has made several drawings of the Cray fish.

Game Schedule

Grass Valley, Nov. 9, at Grass Valley.

The "Cubs" of Maupin journeyed to Wapinitia last Friday and played the "Cyclones" a game of football in which neither team scored. The game was scheduled to start at 2:00 p. m., but it was delayed due to the late arrival of the referee, Mr. Murray of The Dalles.

Both goals were threatened a time or two, but most of the game was fought on the central portion of the field.

The "Cyclones" showed better team work and more fight than in previous games.

Primary Grade Notes

The Health organization in the Primary room is progressing rapidly. The chairman for this week is Bob Holloman. Harvey Wall is desk monitor. A health contest has been started for the entire room. The sides have been chosen, and all are working hard to be victors.

A Trip to the Moon

(By Marion O'Brien)

One night, about a month ago, when I could not sleep—to be exact it was the night before the Dufur foot ball game—I tried to think of something to pass the time. I finally decided to take a trip to the moon.

I got out of bed, dressed, and went into the garage and wheeled out my little rocket-plane, capable of making eight hundred miles an hour. In this plane one can ride in comfort. You could tune in on some snappy music, sleep, or read and never once think of where you were going. All one had to do when wishing to take a trip was to write his destination on a special paper and the little plane did the rest.

This particular night I wrote the name "moon" on the paper, tuned in on a lively orchestra in New York, and enjoyed myself immensely. All too soon I thought, for as I was enjoying my ride, a light flashed on the instrument board in front of me, telling me that I was nearing my destination.

Much to my disappointment, I found that the moon was made of green cheese, but the inhabitants seemed to getting along nicely, for there were many large structures which on earth would have been called buildings. Upon landing I went up to the nearest of these and found a horn, evidently used for announcing the arrival of a visitor, hanging on the wall. I put my lips to the horn and blew with all my might but accomplished nothing. Again and again I tried but had no luck. Becoming tired of blowing, I walked into the opening before me. I received the greatest surprise of my life. The inhabitants weren't what I would call people at all. They resembled huge fowls, with the exception that they had a man's head, arms, and were not covered with feathers. They were much smaller than myself. One, apparently the chief, came toward me.

"Who are you?" he asked angrily. "Where did you come from? Why didn't you announce your arrival on the horn?"

"I am from the earth," I replied. "I tried to blow your good-for-nothing horn but could not."

"Are all people on the earth as weak as you?" he asked. "I thought that was a place of giants."

If you are as weak as that, you better go back to the earth."

With that he kicked me out. My how hard he kicked. I kept going down, down, down, until I thought I never would stop going down. Suddenly I landed with a thump. I looked around and found myself on the floor in my room. It was only a dream.

The Higher Arithmetic class has been having some very difficult problems but has succeeded in solving all of them.

The English II class has been writing very interesting compositions.

The county nurse, Miss Marion Lord, visited the school on Wednesday.

The American History class is making an outline on each lesson as they study it. Several find it difficult to keep up in this part of the work.

Billie West doesn't think it is fair for him to have to wear his green lid this week when other Freshmen boys aren't. This is his punishment for talking too much.

Last Wednesday Mrs. Violet Crabtree was a visitor to the Wapinitia High school.

Miss Lord, county school nurse, is holding a diphtheria clinic at Wapinitia for the next three Wednesdays.

Freshmen class members wore their dresses and shirts backwards for the last time Monday.

Lloyd Claymier is suffering from an injured leg as a result of football practice.

Eva Linn was absent from school Monday morning.

The best spellers for the past week were Billie West and Lenora Hammer, Freshmen, each with a grade of 86 per cent; Wilbur Matthews, Sophomore, 96 per cent and Hazel Laughlin, Senior, 94 per cent.

Teamwork

(Omitted last week)

When we have first down and goal to go,

Why can't we fight that other row?

They're getting scared and feeling blue,

We know how they feel, we've been there too.

We need more spirit, more get-up and fight.

With goal to go and a touchdown in sight.

We lack the punch to put the ball over,

When we make a bad fumble, they are apt to recover.

Then we all lose heart and they drive us back,

We need more teamwork to stop the attack.

More teamwork and spirit, more pride in the team.

Come on Wapinitia, let's build up some team!

Tygh Valley

Last Friday found us with no football game on hand, and as it was a wonderful day several had the feeling that we would like to attend one. As the Grass Valley team stopped in Tygh during noon hour on their way to Dufur, it made us all the more convinced that we would like to play a little hooky.

After a few minute's debate of a small crowd we decided to go to Wapinitia, to see the game which we thought would be the evener of the two. Two cars were loaded and off to the game we went. A very interesting game was witnessed, as neither side attained a score. We came home happy to find our names on the absent list.

Saturday the football team went to Prineville. As the teams were unevenly matched Tygh was beaten very badly. But the boys came to school with smiles on their faces and said they didn't mind the few bumps and bruises, for they enjoyed the trip immensely.

Several of the girls have gotten together and with the assistance of Mrs. Stephens they are planning on organizing a Camp-Fire Girls club. Many necessary articles are needed, so it will be a few weeks before they will be completely organized.

The orchestra had a very successful practice. We are very proud that we have such a group in our school, as few schools our size can organize an orchestra.

The Student Body has planned to give a mask dance the 9th of November. We hope everyone will come and have a good time.

The list of absents was very noticeable, as several left from here to attend the stock show: Among them were Mary Gesh, Leslie Woodcock, and Roland Lewis.

(Crowded out last week)

There was no school Friday as the teachers went to the Valley to a teachers' conference.

The Student Body was called to a special meeting to day for the purpose of ordering nine helmets, for which the boys are more than thankful to get.

The Hood girls have moved to Tygh so they might be closer to school and avoid the tiresome drive to and from school each day.

There were a few absent through the last week. Among them being Lewis Brown, Hazel Johnson, Lawrence Knighten, Sylvia Conley and Roe Ashley.

The jokes for the "Laugh" are stacking up and we're hoping to have another laughable paper.

Roland and Carl walking thru the woods. Roland found a Chestnut bun.

Roland: "Oh! See what I've found."

Carl: "What is it?"

Roland: "A porcupine egg."

Wapinitia Jottings

W. L. West and family planned on visiting Clear Lake Sunday but as it was snowing changed their minds and went to Dufur instead.

Robert Holman and Gerald Claymier were hunting Sunday and report that the sport was good.

The Batty auction last Saturday brought many out. Nearly everything listed was sold. The family left for Battle Ground, Washington, the next morning.

Mac Holloman and son, Floyd, were visitors at The Dalles on Wednesday.

A toxin anti-toxin diphtheria clinic was held at the church Wednesday with a good attendance.

Criterion News

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Duus and son, Rex, are visiting in Portland and Estacada this week. They will attend the International Stock Show.

Bill Hunt and Carmel Woodcock visited the D. B. Appling home Sunday.

Mrs. McLeod and Janet and Olive McLeod visited at D. L. Rutherford's Sunday.

Mrs. W. E. Hunt was in Maupin Tuesday consulting Dr. Clarke the eye specialist.

The D. D. Wilson children have been on the sick list.

Mrs. Kirsch visited at the W. E. Hunt home and the Rutherford home last Wednesday.

FARM REMINDERS

A poor producing hen is almost invariably a nervous individual, easily frightened and tense.

Anyone who "knows his onions" knows that they are a hard vegetable to manage, in more ways than one. They are one of the most difficult vegetables to keep in storage. But it can be done if they are first well-ripened and thoroughly cured. Those that are immature or soft, or possess thick necks never keep well in storage and are best sold at once for whatever price is available. Onions demand storage conditions moderately low in temperature and well-ventilated, with cool, dry air.

Washington is now the leading alfalfa raising county of the Willamette valley, growing approximately 6000 acres.
