CHILDISH FAITH

There is no faith like that of little children. No child but believes in its parents, friends and companions. Whenever a child makes a confession of faith in the Redeemer that faith is unbounded and his life is lived according to the tenets of that belief.

A case exemplifying that faith was shown in the illness of little Delmar Frischknecht, who passed away last week at Redmond. Delmar early professed his belief in the miraculous power for good told of in the Scriptures.

A little of that belief scattered among the people might do much good. It is that which happened our country out of the rut and gave it a reputation for progress instead of bearing a reputation for stagnation.

The question of the length of women's dresses is one that is agitating the female minds of this country. We'll bet a cookie that dresses will not be lowered much below the knee as long as flappers and girl cigarette smokers enjoy wild parties.

It has been charged that the Radio Commission is in collusion with certain radio manufacturers and that members of radios outside the pale of the combination are hindered in marketing their products.

Don't Burn the Beans

That is, don't burn the beans on the stove, but you can profitably burn them up inside you for energy this winter.

Their variety is endless—kidney beans, lima beans, baked beans, pork and beans, beans in tomato sauce. And the ways in which they can be served are correspondingly numerous.

Curried Baked Beans: Fry one-fourth pound of bacon and remove to dish to keep hot. Add two shredded green peppers to the fat, and sauté until tender.

chines wherever one of the trust's radios are set up. In that event the interference might soon open a way for distribution of all makes of radios.

CARD OF THANKS

We desire to extend our heartfelt thanks to all those kind friends and neighbors who so sympathetically and willingly extended their aid during the illness and at the funeral of our father and brother, Wilbur E. Hurst.

And Still it Snows

The snowfall of Tuesday night was augmented on Wednesday by a fall of about six inches. The snow was light and is reported as drifting badly on the higher levels.

HOME POINTERS

Salads are an easy means of getting some of the raw foods in the diet.

To keep the juice from running out of apple pies, moisten the under with a fork. Slits in the top crust over it, pressing the two together with a fork.

While a little cocoa occasionally adds variety to the child's breakfast, it is best to use only enough cocoa for flavor, and to have the beverage only slightly sweetened.

If mayonnaise dressing fails to form a smooth emulsion or separates, one common method of repairing the damage is to start over again, using another egg and beating the separated mixture into it.

If the menu for the day has been lacking in vegetables or fruit, a choice of fruit as dessert for the evening meal will help to make up the deficiency.

The wise housewife will not have all the expensive foods in one day and then have a conscience about the grocery bill and have all the less expensive ones for a while.

It is estimated that one-third of the dairy cows in the United States are kept at a loss, about one-third return little or no profit, and only one-third yield large profits.

In some sections of the country pregnant cows are affected by a lack of iodine in the ration. This deficiency produces goiter, or big neck, in the calves at birth.

Far more important than to kill weeds on the farm is to avoid having weeds to kill. A farm can be kept almost free of weeds by strictly observing these rules: Prevent weeds from going to seed on the farm; prevent weed seeds from being brought to the farm; and in case of perennial weeds, prevent them from making top growth.

Grain mixtures for dairy cows should be sufficiently palatable so that every cow will consume as much as is required for highest milk production.

QUICK FOOD FOR THE HUNGRY CROWD

WHEN a committee meeting drags itself out longer than was expected, when a glowing crowd of bright-eyed high-school girls come in with a hungry look in their faces, when unexpected guests drop in during the evening—then what a comforting feeling it is to know that on a certain shelf in the kitchen there are the makings of a dainty bit of food which will take only twenty or thirty minutes to prepare and will win the crowd's plaudits.

Let Your Daughter Cook

This shelf is especially desirable if your daughter—or son—is of the gregarious type who is always bringing friends home after school, for you can teach her, or him, to make a few dishes and rest serene in the knowledge that the responsibility is off your hands.

is the work of only a minute to add spices to taste to the canned apple sauce, pour it into the shells, sprinkle with grated cheese and heat in the oven until the cheese is melted.

Apple and Date muffins are simple to make and with chocolate or coffee are enough for such a light lunch. To make them, beat two eggs and add one cup of milk. Mix and sift two cups of flour, three tablespoons of sugar, four teaspoons of baking powder and one-half teaspoon of salt.

Versatile French Toast French Toast is a quick and universally liked dish and can be varied in many ways. You can sprinkle it with powdered sugar or a mixture of cinnamon and sugar, or you can serve honey or a tart jelly with it.

Another variation is to cut the bread in circles, dip in the egg and milk mixture and sauté in the usual way. Then force canned apricots through a sieve and spread half the slices of toast with the puree.

A pineapple sauce to be poured over French Toast is made by boiling until thick the contents of an eight-ounce can of pineapple tidbits, one-fourth cup of orange juice and one-fourth cup of sugar mixed with two teaspoons of flour. Pour over the hot toast and serve immediately.

Peanut butter may become a partner in the French Toast business, too. To make it, cream together one-half cup of canned peanut butter and one cup of milk. Add salt and pepper and a slightly beaten egg. Remove the crusts from slices of bread and cut in strips. Dip the bread in the mixture, and sauté in butter. Serve hot with a garnish of sweet pickles.

Pie Crust Sandwiches Pie pastry may be kept in the refrigerator for some time all ready to be rolled out and made into turnovers—if you have a filling ready.

Or you can roll the pastry out and cut it in circles the size of a slice of pineapple, and bake it in a hot oven. Put a pastry circle on a serving plate, and place a slice of drained pineapple on top. Spread with marshmallow creme and sprinkle with nuts. Another circle of pastry goes on top of that, and a dab of marshmallow creme to top it off.

By a little home practice in making the foods which will appeal the most to your crowd, and by seeing to it that supplies are always on hand, you will have no qualms when the crowd descends on you.
