WILLIAM HOWARD TAFT

William Howard Taft, ex-president of the United States and late chief justice of the supreme court, passed away last Saturday after an illness covering many months.

In the death of Mr. Taft this country lost one of its most valuable citizens. As an official he was conscientious and true, as a private citizen he was a valued friend and up-holder for right. He will be remembered long after men now prominent in national affairs are forgotten. His true and loving nature will stand out as a precept for coming generations to follow and his loyalty to his country will ever shine as a beacon to guide others along the path of civic righteousness. The Taft smile should become infectious as such an expression is not seen on faces other than those worn by the most just.

The nation mourns his demise, for it has lost a true friend and patriot, his family a devoted husband and father, and the world at large a mind that fostered no thoughts other than those of doing the most good to the greatest number.

Masons at Antelope

Dr. J. L. Elwood, A. B. Smith, R.
E. Wilson and T. B. Slusher were four Maupin Free Masons who attended a meeting of the order at Antelope last Friday night. Other members of the order were present from many other points. A banquet was served and a most entertaining evening participated in.

Visited at The Dalles

Aaron Davis took a day off from the section last Friday and with his wife and two babies went to The Dalles. The Maupin Davises were auto guests of Aaron's brother, John Davis, of Wapinitia.

Driving New Chevie

R. W. Richmond and son, Everett, went to The Dalles last Sunday and when they returned were riding in a new style Chevrolet car. Richmond & Son are Maupin agents for the Chev. and will be pleased to quote prices and show all the new features of the 1930 car.

Prolific Sows

Art Gutzler, manager of the L.
C. Hennehan Juniper Flat ranch, reports birth of 150 pigs to 19 sows.
Of that number 140 survive and Art says they are the best looking piglets he has ever raised. Mr.
Gutzler says that worms are working havoc with wheat in some sections and that many ranchers will re-seed many acres of wheat this spring.

Pick Ups About Town

Who does not remember the days when the possession of a pair of red top boots were about the best thing obtainable and were the joy of a small boy's life. Tom Sweet, driver of the Maupin freight truck is as proud these days as was the new boot-owning boy, for he is now driving a brand new two-ton Dodge truck. Spickerman Bros., operator of the Portland-Dalles truck line concluded the old truck running on this line was inadequate for the business, therefore the new outfit.

Bill Williams is an inveterate reader of thrill-evoking magazines.
He enjoys stories of the far north; grows emotional at the trials and tribulations of northern trappers and exhales a sigh of relief when the heroes extricate themselves from perilous positions. Bill essayed the role of fox hunter one night recently. One of his black foxes escaped from the pen and hid in the large enclosure. Bill hunted high and low for reynard, finally located it and then passed a hustling hour capturing the escaper. It is now in its usual quarters and is being closely watched in order to foretell any further attempts to make a get away.

St. Patrick's Day, the day when all true Irishmen throw care to the discard, don their best habiliments and parade to the music of the bagpipes, wearing the emblem of the Emerald Isle—the Shamrock—will soon be here. That day comes this year on Monday but in order to allow participants a chance to get to work Monday morning the Maupin St. Patrick's dance will be held two days ahead—on Saturday, the 15th.
Grease your boots, don your Sunday best, unsheath your shillash and hie yourself to that dance. There do your dancing and during the evening partake of chicken supper at which ice cream and cake will be side dishes.

John McMillan has shaken off his winter's apathy, whittled to Rover and has gone to Farghers' where he will chaperone sheep until after lambling and shearing. When that work is completed John will assemble a band of woolies and will direct their noses toward the forest reserve and there will see to it that his charges obtain the most succulent and body-building feed to be found.

The factory inspector for the state visited Maupin on Monday.
Among the places he visited was the slaughter house of Oliver Resh. The inspector went over that place with a fine-toothed comb and when making his report rated the house at 74 —an extremely high mark. Oliver takes pride in keeping both store and killing place in the best order, and when the inspector comes again will find things much improved over his recent visit.

"Out of the mouths of babes comes wisdom." Monday a bevy of little folks were playing in the sand to be used in constructing the Richmond service station. One little fellow was carrying a handful of sand and was addressed by a passer-by.
"Have you got some?" asked the man. "I got lots of sand," replied the lad, then asked the question:
"Have you got some?" The man did not make reply.
