MAN-SIZE MEATS

"MEAL and Am Pie," beloved of Sam Weller, may strike a sympathetic chord in the longing of many a modern American husband. But not many men, today, are willing to let their wives remain in the kitchen on holidays, as they did in Dickens' day, to prepare these sturdy dishes. There are movies to be seen, motor tours to be taken, golf matches to be played, and a score of things more amusing to do than to putter among pots and pans.

Providing, of course, that something in the nature of "Meal and Am Pie" does now and then make an appearance. Men like fairly substantial meat dishes. This fact is evidenced every noon in a certain English chop house in New York City, where unbelievably bulky mutton chops, knockwurst, braunwurst and other wursts are daily consumed by a patronage almost exclusively male.

Meats for Everybody

Canny canners, knowing these things, have provided in canned form an assortment of meats which men like, along with such delicacies as boneless chicken and ham loaf which are favorites of women. In fact, Sam Weller, himself, might not fare so badly today with cans of mutton roast, boiled tripe, roast veal and Irish stew ever ready.

The following recipes offer some nourishing and appetizing dishes that can be prepared with canned meats:

Beef and Mushroom Pie: Drain the mushrooms from a 4-ounce can, slice, and sauté them for five minutes in three tablespoons butter. Add enough water to the mushroom liquor to make two and one-fourth cups of liquor. Smooth three tablespoons of flour to a paste with this liquid, add slowly to the butter and mushrooms, and cook until creamy. Add one bouillon cube, one and one-half teaspoons salt, one and one-half cups of small potato balls and the contents of a 12-ounce can of Roast Beef cut in cubes. Pour into a baking dish, cover with a crust, or with small baking powder biscuits, and bake in a hot oven—400 degrees—for 35 to 45 minutes. This serves eight persons.

Other Good Recipes

Corned Beef and Potato Puff: Boil and mash one and one-half pounds potatoes, add two tablespoons butter, one-fourth cup hot milk, salt and pepper, and beat till light and fluffy. Shred half the contents of a 12-ounce can of corned beef, and add and beat again. Pile lightly in a shallow, buttered baking dish. Sprinkle one-eighth pound grated cheese over top, and brown in a very hot oven or beneath the broiler flame. This serves four persons.

Ox Tongue Omelet: Combine one cup of finely-chopped canned Ox Tongue with one cup of medium white sauce. Make an omelet with three eggs, three tablespoons milk and one-half tablespoon salt. Just before folding, spread over the hot creamed tongue. This serves eight persons.

SALUTATORY

(Melvin Walters)

Parents, friends, and patrons, the class of 1930 extends to you a glad welcome. We are happy to have you here this evening to enjoy the Commencement program, to share the joy the occasion brings to this class, and above all to see and more fully realize what you are doing for the betterment of future men and women.

We have reached another stepping stone in the stream of life—the one we have eagerly looked forward to for several years, but will look back upon with joy we hope—for a greater length of time. We have attained a broader view of life and gained more equipment with which to carry on the struggle that comes when we go into the world and carry the greater responsibilities.

These advantages we have gained we owe not only to our own efforts, but to those of the parents who slaved at home to keep us here, to the taxpayers, friends and teachers of this school who work not only for our individual benefit but to give us the necessary training that we may advance with civilization and help advance it.

To you, then, we owe much gratitude, more than we show, perhaps, but we will make a brave attempt to show our appreciation by living more useful lives—not only for ourselves—but for the community, state and nation.

VALEDICTORY

(By Hazel Laughlin)

Parents, Friend, Teachers, and Classmates:

The time has come when we must say farewell. There is some sadness tonight when we think of leaving everything we love, and happiness for those who have heard the captivating call of a life work. It calls them to the occupation of their dreams.

Parents and friends, we will try to show you how we appreciate what you have done for us by being useful citizens in later life and faithfully and successfully doing a given task.

Teachers, we thank you for the things you have taught us. You have given us the knowledge we need to meet the many problems of life that will confront us. Your work was not only to imprint facts, in our minds but help us develop our personality, increase our interests, growth of ideals, and purpose.

Class mates and schoolmates, we thank you for your fellowship and competition. You have taught us how to co-operate and be better sports. We will always love our school and support it.

We have traveled together this far but now we must part. The end for which we will work is that of perfect citizenship. With this vision before our eyes we bid you all a fond farewell.

APPRECIATION

The High school pupils wishes to express their appreciation to Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Hartman for their help in offering transportation to the football and baseball players. They have endeavored in every way to make this school year better than in former years. The High school extends their thanks and appreciation.

FAREWELL

It is time for the Seniors of Wapinitia High school to say farewell to their studies, the underclassmen and to these happy years spent in high school. We appreciate the efforts of our teachers, schoolmates and the community to make this Commencement a happy event in our lives.

CLASS WILL OF 1930

In the name of God, Amen. We, the class of '30 of Wapinitia High school, being of sound mind and memory and considering the frail and transitory nature, do ordain, publish and declare this our last will and testament, bequeathing individually and collectively our devious estates and holding to-wit, to-wit:

First: To Wapinitia High we leave the memory of a great class, the largest to have graduated from Wapinitia High.

Second: We leave Mr. Heckman much appreciation for privileges and considerations given us. Also we leave him a sigh of relief that the bookkeeping class shall no more pester for information from his "Little Brown Book."

Third: To the class of '32, we leave our ability to skip school on the annual Senior Sneak day.

Fourth: To the class of '33, we leave our debating ability, so that they might not be downed when arguing with "Prof."

Fifth: To all classes of the future, we leave the hope that you will live up to the honor and traditions of sedate Seniors.

Sixth: And individually we bequeath, to-wit:

I, Melvin Walters, do leave my brain and muscles of iron to Billie West. He needs them to keep the girls from "vamping" him.

I, Hazel Laughlin, do leave my ability to charm young coaches to Lenora Hammer.

I, Frank Hachler, do leave my charming correspondence to Lee Laughlin, hoping he will not become lonely in the future.

I, Earnie Endersby, do leave my advice: Do not get married before graduation; it is too expensive.

I, Avis Endersby, will to Helen Endersby my ability to fill vacancies in the teaching staff.

I, Marion C'Brien, will to Lloyd Claymier by pugilistic ability, so he may be able to defend him elf and his best girl while out riding.

And in conclusion, we, the class of 1930, do leave school before the underclassmen rise in arms against us, because of the many rules and regulation inflicted by us upon them.

Wapinitia vs. The Dalles

The last game of the season for Wapinitia High school was played last Friday with The Dalles High school team. The victors carried off the big end of a 9-6 score but the game was close, and at no time was The Dalles sure of winning. At the end of the fourth Wapinitia led 4 to 2. The game was a seven-inning affair and The Dalles made several scores in the last three innings. Errors lost the game for Wapinitia, eight fumbles being committed. Endersby and G. Claymier pitched to L. Claymier for Wapinitia, and Diney to Starr for The Dalles. Nine Dalles batters and two Wapinitia players struck out.
