DAIRY HERD ASSOCIATION UNDER CONSIDERATION

Dairymen of Wasco and Hood River Counties Would Improve the Quality of Herds

The organization of a dairy herd improvement association composed of Wasco county and Hood River dairymen is being considered at the present time, according to W. Wray Lawrence, county agricultural agent.

A dairy herd improvement association takes the guess work out of dairying and puts it in a business basis.

Individual records are kept on each cow. These records show the amount of milk and butter fat produced by each cow and its value.

These records are computed once a month by the tester and become the property of the herd owner. It is necessary that Wasco county provide approximately thirteen days work and that Hood River county provide approximately the same amount in order to have this association organized.

This gives those dairymen interested in improving their herds an excellent opportunity to do so by calling, feeding, and breeding, Lawrence stated.

Those dairymen in Wasco county showing interest in this organization at the present time are: The Dalles, Jess Foster, Crates Point Dairy, Pat

Foley, The Pines Dairy and Tom Lindt.

Dufur: Mrs. Ethel C. Ingels, Frank Normandi, Eugene Chase and Edward Tidwell, and Wm. Melcher.

Nine New Members Taken in Last Saturday Night

Shady Brook Grange is one of the up and coming granges of this section, is growing by leaps and bounds. Last Saturday evening nine new members were given the degrees and at the coming session this week several more candidates will be taken into the order.

A feature of the last meeting was the presence of Grange Master Winslow of Douglas county and the master of the Multnomah grange, both of whom as well as the master of Wasco Pomona Grange, Al Gillis, and wife, assisted in conferring the work. Shady Brook Grange, and about 40 members out to the meeting. A sumptuous luncheon was served after the initiatory work was completed.

4-H CLUBBERS COME HOME

Came in on Bus Saturday P. M. Happy and Tired

The 4-H clubbers, from Wasco county returned to their homes on Saturday evening. This delegation was a credit to Wasco county and Maupin may well be proud of their share of the glory.

Wasco county had the largest percent of honor students of any county represented in Summer School. When the honor students were called to the front at the assembly on Friday afternoon the following from Maupin were among the students: Ralph Kaiser placed first in Crops Judging, and presented with a hatchet; Allene Wilson placed first in her division in Home Economics, judging; Jim Shusher placed fourth and Theodore Kirsch fifth in stock judging; Alta Chastain, Betty Shusher and Beth Rutherford were in the girls' division that scored highest in class work, room neatness and deportment. Harry Rutherford and Henry Wilson were in the division of boys that placed highest for the same honors. These two divisions were treated to ice cream by the Corvallis leaders. Beth Rutherford and Jean Renick had the distinction of being selected to serve punch and wafers at an afternoon reception that was given for the extension workers. Among those present were President Kerr, Mrs. H. C. Seymour, Miss Helen Cowgill and Miss Lois Bayley, nation high scoring 4-H club girl in 1929. This reception was given by Miss Tracy Case at the Brambaugh home in Corvallis. This home is one of the finest residences in Corvallis.

To Maupin people, who, by their loyal support, have made this trip possible to these girls and boys the 4-H club children and leaders offer their very sincere appreciation.

Family to Mountain

Carl Pratt busied himself last Sunday by taking his family to the mountains at Salmon river. There he put up tents, arranged for firewood and made things comfortable for the family, the members of which will remain away for several weeks. They go there in the hope that the higher altitude will be beneficial in ridding their son, Vernon, of hay fever.

Rev. Matthews Returns

Rev. W. A. Matthews, in charge of the Presbyterian mission at Simnasho, returned last Saturday from attending the general conference of the church, held at Pittsburg, Penn. During the sessions Mr. Matthews delivered three addresses, touching upon his work with the Indians and the necessity of a continuance of such.

French Recipes Will Banish Monotony From American Diet

By CHARLES SCOTTO, of Ambassador Hotel, Park Avenue, New York City.

BRILLAT-SAVARIN, one of the world's most famous epicures, once said that the discovery of a new dish is more beneficial to humanity than a new star. The majority of American housewives, racked with the necessity of planning three meals a day for 365 days throughout the year, certainly agree with him.

While entirely new dishes are rare indeed, it is still possible to find any woman or find any man who is not tired of the old-fashioned variety of dishes that will be new to her and her family. A study of French recipes, alone, will provide her with ample means of escaping the deadly accusation of monotony which, with more or less justice, has been leveled at the American menu. French methods of seasoning, including the use of a little sugar to enhance the flavors of vegetables, will enable her to arouse envy in the hearts of less knowing cooks.

Chef Scotto

Spinach A La Touraine—Put a

peck of washed spinach in a sauce with one and a half cups of water and one teaspoon of sugar. Cook for twenty minutes. Drain and press through a colander. Mix in three-quarters teaspoon salt, one-quarter teaspoon paprika, and two tablespoons butter. Heat again and then press firmly into a bowl to mold. Turn the spinach with slices of lemon and hard-boiled egg, and serve immediately.

Carrots Fichy—Cut a dozen young carrots in half, lengthwise. Remove the centers. Then mince them fine and put them in a saucepan with an ounce of butter, a teaspoon of sugar, and a pinch of salt. Moisten with French vichy water and let them cook slowly until tender. Serve immediately, and very hot.

New Peas With Lettuce—Chop one-half of a medium-size onion. Cut fine (in Julienne) one small head of lettuce. Fry the onion with a little butter until lightly browned. Add the lettuce and let simmer together for a few minutes. Then add a quart of fresh peas, a teaspoon of sugar, a half ounce of butter, salt and pepper. Moisten with water, cover the pan, and let cook slowly. When the peas are tender, add an ounce of butter mixed with a teaspoon of flour.

More Stock to Market

Ed Gable and Louis Woodside each shipped a truckload of lambs and Lloyd Woodside a consignment of cattle to the Portland market on Sunday. Lambs brought from $6.60 to $8.50, while cattle were a drug on the market.

Added to Flock

Hurstel Hollis recently bought 310 young lambs of the Fitzpatrick and took them by truck to Dufur, where they were placed with Hollis' other sheep, they being on their way to Stevenson, Washington, where they will be grazed in the upper reaches of Wind river this season.

Cleaned Reservoir

A delegation of Maupin citizens armed with brooms, went to the new reservoir last Sunday and proceeded to clean out accumulated dust and dirt that was blown into the big bowl. Water was shut off for a time, but warning was given and all housewives filled receptacles to tide them over the time until the rains could be started again.

A Brand New Daughter

Morris Greene and wife are rejoicing at the arrival of a new daughter at their orchard home, the little Miss coming Sunday morning, Dr. Elwood posing as a stork. The newcomer makes the seventh daughter in the Greene home but is as welcome as spring for all that.

Digits Ground in Cogs

Orvil Davis, who is running the Frank Fleming ranch on the highway, had his left hand caught in some cogs last Thursday. The bones of the little finger were broken.
