Orton Walmer was a guest of Miss Velma Teschner over the week end. Dee Woodside returned from a horse racing trip to Klamath Falls on Wednesday. John Powell was a business visitor in Maupin Wednesday. The Shell oil truck is a familiar sight on our market road these days, it making daily trips to the rock crusher. Mac Holloman was in from his fense post making camp a short time Sunday last. G. R. Bell is haying for Mose DeLore this week. Most of our ranchers have finished putting up their first cutting of alfalfa. G. R. Bell and family, with Miss Velma Teschner and Orton Walmer made a trip to Clackamas lake last Sunday.

"INSIDE" INFORMATION

Serve small portions of food to children so that they can clear their plates without the feeling of being stuffed, and without being nagged into eating. Then give second helpings if wanted.

Liver and cucumber is a good combination. Mix 2 cups of cold chopper cooked liver, one-half cup of diced cucumber, and one-half cup of diced celery with mayonnaise.

Refreshing, juicy, fine-flavored watermelons have been found to have still another virtue. They are a good source of two important vitamins, A and C and contain detectable amounts of two others, B, and G.

Reglan sleeves on a child's dress are more comfortable than either the set-in or the kimono sleeve. They are more easily made than set-in sleeves, and they allow room for growth without making the dress look too broad across the shoulders.

Orange and honey sauce for ice cream is made by placing in the top of a double boiler the following ingredients: 1 cup of honey, one-fourth cup finely grated fresh orange peel, one-half cup orange juice, a few grains salt. Set over hot water for about 30 minutes to blend the flavors. Serve on ice cream. This amount will serve 6 to 8 persons allowing about 2 tablespoons to a serving.

Fry small fish over a low even heat in a small amount of good-flavored fat, using a heavy skillet. Roll in flour and put into hot fat without crowding. Reduce the temperature and cook evenly and slowly until a brown crust is formed on one side, then turn carefully and cook on the other. Serve a section of lemon with each portion. Heat plates and platter and serve the fish very hot.

Many farmers fail to realize that one reason why they are unable to get a higher price for their eggs is that the eggs are not graded. When small and bad eggs are marketed with good ones it lowers the price of the entire lot.

Scabbed barley is satisfactory as a feed for cattle and sheep. It is not a suitable feed for hogs.

To get the most of the best seed from sweet clover, harvest when about half the pods are black. A self-rake mower is a good machine for cutting. A mower causes a heavy loss of seed. Some farmers use the old-fashioned self-binder or even a corn binder.

Some breeders of dairy stock believe that a large allowance of silage for a dairy herd bull is detrimental to his breeding qualities. Probably it is better to limit the allowance to about 12 pounds a day for each 1,000 pounds of live weight. Fed in this quantity, silage is thought to be a good, cheap, and safe feed for bulls. It should of course be supplemented with hay and grain.

The plant quarantine and control administration of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, which enforces foreign-plant quarantines, has new difficulties on its hands nowadays when airplanes or dirigibles land in the United States from foreign countries. The baggage of the Graf Zeppelin was examined when it landed here in 1928, and bouquets of flowers were found by plant-quarantine inspectors to be infested with 7 species of insects and 2 plant diseases. From examination in one recent year of 2,240 airplanes arriving from foreign countries at 4 landing fields in Texas, Florida, California and Porto Rico, contraband plants and plant products were intercepted on 134 persons.

FARM REMINDERS

It is possible to mow hay twice as fast with a tractor as with a team, although not necessarily at half the cost, the Oregon Experiment station has found.

Fine, leafy alfalfa, grown under the same conditions, will yield much heavier than coarse alfalfa, according to the Oregon Experiment station, as 50 to 60 per cent of the plant weight is in the leaves. Instances have been known where a difference of as much as 1000 pounds dry weight on a three cutting basis due to finer, leafier plants, could not be detected until the actual weight check was made. The leaves also contain from 70 to 75 per cent of the protein.

Moles, gophers, and other rodents which are active during June and July are doing a great deal of damage in the Willamette Valley, the county agents report. A little time devoted to trapping and poisoning them will be well repaid in saving of crop damage.

Once a herd is free from infectious abortion utmost care is needed to keep it so, finds the experiment station. One Oregon herd was entirely free when a heifer got away and was not found for more than a month. At the next regular test after she was returned this heifer and stall mates on either side were found to react to the abortion test.

Cows on excellent pasture in Oregon will frequently show increased production if fed soiling crops, finds the experiment station. One reason for this is that in hot weather the cows will sometimes barely satisfy their appetite while if additional green feed is given them in the barn they will eat the extra amount needed to keep up the milk flow.

HOME POINTERS

When a soft custard curdles because of being cooked too long or at too high a temperature, it can be greatly improved by beating with a rotary beater.

When making a cheese rarebit, it is best to cook all the other ingredients and then add the cheese just in time to melt it before serving. This will prevent the cheese from becoming tough and stringy.

Soda is not recommended in cooking green vegetables, because, while it intensifies the color, it makes a bright, unnatural green, and at the same time is harmful to both vitamins and flavor. Soda is not necessary if the vegetables are cooked quickly in a small amount of water, and served promptly. Acid, such as lemon juice, vinegar, etc., tends to destroy green vegetable color.

A simple test for determining the pectin content or jelling qualities of fruit juice is made by putting 1 teaspoonful of cooked, cooled fruit juice in a shallow cup or dish, adding 1 teaspoonful of denatured alcohol, and mixing by tipping the cup, but not stirring. If the juice contains enough pectin to make good jelly, a clear, thick, jelly-like mass will form in the bottom of the cup almost at once.

A list of the desserts the family enjoys placed where it can be consulted conveniently is a great help in deciding what dessert to prepare. The chief difficulty is often not that one does not know enough of them but that there are so many it is difficult to think of the right one.

MODERN SHOWERS

APRIL showers bring May flowers—or at least buds. And the buds of May are soon to blossom out into brides in June, so showers, it seems, are very much in order this month. Linen showers, lingerie showers, boudoir showers, kitchen showers—there are a whole cloudburst of showers which modern maids have invented for the bride-to-be.

A Handkerchief and a Hose Shower is the very newest on the list. And what bride ever has enough of either?—however vast her stores. The guests give their tissue-wrapped packages to the hostess on arriving, and she stows them away to be drawn out at the close of the luncheon. A Bungalow Luncheon is clever, different and most appropriate for the prospective bride. A green cloth may be used for the table, and in the center a bungalow, contrived from a bandbox, looks out over a bed of asparagus ferns which form the yard. From the ferns, gay little spring flowers of every color pop their heads—daffodils, jonquills, tulips and narcissus.

Flowers for Favors

For favors, a tiny growing flower, each in different colored pottery, will be in keeping. Hanging over the center of the table is a sprinkling-can which showers streamers of narrow white satin ribbons to the flower-pot of the bride-to-be—and here is the only white flower. White streamers also attach the flower pots to the packages concealed under the bungalow roof, and when at the close of the luncheon, the roof is lifted, each guest draws out her gift to the guest of honor, and presents it. There are sport handkerchiefs to match sport hose, tiny flesh-colored crepe-de-chine kerchiefs to match the sheers of evening hose—in fact, handkerchiefs and hose for every occasion from morning till midnight.

June Bride Menu

And here is the June Bride's Menu, the recipes serving eight persons:

- Peach and Melon Cocktail
Lobster Bisque
Breaded Sweetbreads and Bacon
Lattice Potatoes
New Peas au Gratin in Carrot Boats
Heart-Shaped Baking Powder Biscuits
Avocado Salad
Amber Ice in Platinum Setting or
Sponge Cake Hearts With Orange Ice Cream
Heart-Shaped Yellow Candies
Salted Nuts
Coffee

Peach and Melon Cocktail: Cut a can of peach halves in even cubes, and a melon in balls. Arrange equal quantities of each in cocktail glasses. Over each serving sprinkle one tablespoon of confectioner's sugar, one tablespoon of peach syrup, one teaspoon of lemon juice. Just before serving, fill the glasses with ginger ale.

Lobster Bisque: Make a white sauce of four tablespoons of butter, four tablespoons of flour, four cups of milk, two teaspoons salt and a little cayenne pepper. Remove the tendons from a six-ounce can of lobster, add one cup of water and a pinch of thyme, and simmer gently for five minutes. Add this to the white sauce. Beat one egg yolk slightly, add one cup of cream, and add this to the other ingredients. Heat in a double boiler. Serve in cups with either a few croissants floating on top, or with a tablespoon of whipped cream.

New Peas au Gratin in Carrot Boats: Scrape eight large, even carrots and boil whole. Scoop out into boats and keep hot. Boil two cups of new peas until tender. Meanwhile, make a sauce of one and one-half tablespoons of butter, one and one-half tablespoons of flour and two cups of milk. Add a three and one-half ounce can of American Cheddar Cheese and stir until melted. Add peas, one-half teaspoon of salt, and fill into the carrot boats.

A Dainty Dessert

Amber Ice in Platinum Setting: Mash one No. 3, or two No. 2 cans of apricots and press through a sieve. Add the juice of one lemon; bring one cup of sugar and one cup of water to boiling, and add when cool. Tint the desired yellow with yellow coloring. Freeze as usual. When ready to serve, cut inch-thick angel food cake into hollow rings a little larger than a doughnut (using the white, inner part of the cake to suggest a platinum ring). Fill the center with a round mound of Amber Ice.

Legion Held Picnic—The members of the local American Legion joined in a picnic at Van Dusen's grove at Tygh Valley last Sunday. A baseball game, horseshoe pitching and swimming topped off with a fine dinner, made up the enjoyment of the day.

Cut Fingers on Can—While trying to pry the top from a tin fruit can yesterday, Mrs. O. P. Weberg received a severe cut across the tops of three fingers. The flesh was stripped from two of the digits while the other was cut to the bone making a most painful wound.

Library Moved—Members of the Maupin Community club assisted by some Boy Scouts moved the traveling library equipment from the Kramer building to the real estate office of Harve Morris, opposite this office.

Took in Picnic—Among those from this section to attend the Legion picnic at Tygh Valley last Sunday were the Renick, Roy and Raymond Crabtree, Carl Pratt, Elmer Crabtree, Dee Talcott, Bernard Welch, E. A. Cyr and R. E. Wilson families. Earl Crabtree also was among those at the picnic.

A Shelf for Short People

CAN your son show you the best way to roast corn or broil bacon—or your daughter make a fluffier cake than you can? Now that Boy Scouts have mastered the art of broiling over a blaze, and girls learn domestic science in the grade schools, mothers have to step lively to keep ahead in the culinary arts.

Kiddie Cookery Children like to cook—from "mud-pie" are on up through "fudge-party" days, and the wise mother, psychologists tell us, is the one who develops each instinct at the time when the "urge" is strongest. So the next time Betty comes into the kitchen and wants to "help," don't feel that she is going to hinder, but give her a chance, and see what a real help she may become. One of the simplest ways is to have a Juvenile Shelf within reach of small arms. Have it well stocked with cans of wholesome food which can be quickly and easily prepared—such foods as evaporated milk, puréed vegetables, fruits of all kinds and a few cans of fish. Place nearby some tin boxes filled with crisp wafers and a box of sponge layers. Even the child of six years can mix a fruit salad, arrange it on lettuce and serve it prettily with a wafer. Or for a family dessert, a child will delight in whipping cream and piling canned blueberries on sponge layers, and then top the whole with a billow of cream.
