Another Change

J. W. Reed has sold a half interest in his general merchandise business to A. E. Barr of Portland and the latter will move his family out here, and take an active part in the business of the firm which will be known as Reed & Barr.

Last Friday, the 27th, being the tenth birthday of Rachel Reed she had a birthday party and invited a number of her young friends in to join in having a pleasant time on the occasion; following are the names of the little folks who were invited: Eva Downing, Ruth Downing, Helen Cook, Lelia Howe, Maggie Linkombock, Vivian Stratton, Edna Deeth, Neva Green, Lillian Puckett.

Merchant Cooper is having lumber hauled from the mills for the extension and second story to his store building. Mr. Cooper keeps a very good stock of furniture, and it is his purpose to keep on hand what he believes the trade wants. However, he has made arrangements with the large wholesale houses whereby he can furnish you any article in his line on short notice and at bed-rock prices. Those wanting anything in furniture will do well to call and see the Estacada furniture dealer.

A. F. Shultz and son of Oregon City have been in town a couple days this week. They are in the clothing business in Oregon City but are looking for a better place, and will very likely decide to locate in Estacada. They regard this city with much favor, and think this will soon be a good sized city. Mr. Shultz is a business man of wide experience in Oregon, and has always been very successful in all his business ventures. It is to be hoped that Mr. Shultz will invest here.

Mrs. J. W. Shafford returned to Estacada Sunday evening after several weeks spent in Portland and elsewhere. While away Mrs. Shafford availed herself of the opportunity and attended the special short course in farm husbandry as taught at the State Agricultural College at Corvallis extending from January 9 to the 20th inclusive. Very little is known by the farmers generally of the great good to be gained by attending this "Short Course" or there would be a much greater attendance from among them. The course is given each year.
