Two Views.

First Workingman—Look at the inequality. Mr. Million, who lives not ten squares from this corner, has a dog house which cost $5,000. What do you think of that?

Second Workingman—I think it's a good thing he wanted it, for I built it for him, and made $1,000 out of it.

CHRONIC SORES

Wheeling, W. Va., May 28, 1903.

Some years ago while at work, I fell over a truck and severely injured both of my shins. My blood became poisoned as a result, and the doctor told me I would have running sores for life, and that if they were healed up the result would be fatal. Under this discouraging report I left off their treatment and resorted to the use of S. S. S. Its effects were prompt and gratifying. It took only a short while for the medicine to entirely cure up the sores, and I am not dead as the doctors intimated, nor have the sores ever broke out again. Some 12 years have elapsed since what I have described occurred. Having been so signally benefitted by its use I can heartily recommend it as the one great blood purifier.

Chronic sores start often from a pimple, scratch, bruise or boil, and while salves, washes and powders are beneficial, the unhealthy matter in the blood must be driven out or the sore will continue to eat and spread. S. S. S. reaches these old sores through the blood, removes all impurities and poisons, builds up the entire system and strengthens the circulation. S. S. S. is a blood purifier and tonic combined. Contains no mineral whatever but is guaranteed purely vegetable. If you have an old sore write us and our physicians will advise without charge. Book on diseases of the Blood free.

DREAM CAME TRUE.

This Man Had Vision of Danger to One Whom He Never Knew.

Dreams do sometimes "come true." When this happens various explanations are usually offered. The scientist may declare for telepathy, the spiritualist for the intervention of "spirits," and the matter-of-fact man for simple coincidence. Be that as it may, the fact still remains that when a dream actually "comes to pass," the history of it appeals to each and every one. Of such instances here is an interesting one," says Andrew Lang in Longman's Magazine.

"I may have told before, somewhere, but may be permitted to repeat, a story of a dream in deep sleep, told to me at first hand by the wife of the dreamer. Mr. Thomas (not the real name), was a Welsh squire, whose place is in a rural district. One night my informant, Mrs. Thomas, was awakened by hearing her husband talking in his sleep. He was excitedly crying:

"'Poor old man! Poor old man!' Mrs. Thomas, to amuse herself, said, 'Poor old dear! What is the matter with him?' Still asleep, her husband replied, 'He cannot get out of the fire and smoke.' 'What is his name?' asked the woman. After a pause her husband answered: 'John Methuen,' after which his comments became inarticulate and ceased.

Next morning Mrs. Thomas asked her husband what he had been dreaming about an old man, John Methuen, in great danger, but the dreamer was unconscious of having dreamed at all. The pair left their house for a visit by rail, before the arrival of the newspaper, and, at the little station, found only the evening paper of the previous day. It contained a paragraph about the killing of one John Methuen, by a railway engine, on a level crossing. Now, in this case, few will say that pure "fluke" could give the right name, the surname not being common. Telepathy from Methuen to Mr. Thomas, whether at the moment of Methuen's death or after his death, cannot be explained by personal sympathy, as Mr. Thomas had never heard of the man in his life.

It would rather appear that intellectual "rays" had been disengaged by the accident, and had found a recipient in the deeply sleeping brain or mind of Mr. Thomas, perhaps twelve hours or more after the event. He, again, would have been none the wiser if his sleep talking had not been overheard and remembered.

Obviously, if these faculties of unaccountable intercommunication do exist, they are of no commercial value, or of next to none, and the plain man dismisses them with the inquiry, "What is the use of them?" He is unconsciously postulating that everything in the universe was created for the purpose of being of practical service to persons like himself. What is the "use" of the properties of amber? They merely led to an inquiry into electricity, which is useful enough nowadays, thanks to the questions suggested by certain odd, but of old quite useless, properties of things."

Prices Ruling Firm.

Old Joshua Martin was noted for his ability to make a close bargain, but once in a while he met his match.

"I say, mister," he began, as he walked into a barber shop one market day, while waiting to dispose of his load, "farming's mighty bad nowadays. You ought to lemme have a shave for 5 cents. Why, if I should tell you the price I had to take for my garden sass—"

"Mebbe," returned the barber, "but fact is, I ought to charge you double price now by rights, for farmers' faces are just about twice as long as they used to be. You ought to be thankful for being let off on one fare!"

COL. BECKWITH SAYS:

"I Take Pleasure in Commending Pe-ru-na For Coughs and Colds."

COL. PAUL E. BECKWITH.

Colonel Paul E. Beckwith, Lt. Col., retired, 1st Reg. Minute Men, in a letter from 1508 Vermont Avenue, N. W., Washington, D. C., writes:

"From the unqualified endorsement of many of my friends, I take pleasure in commending your remedies for coughs and colds."—Paul E. Beckwith.

IN FIELD OR BARRACKS PE-RU-NA IS EFFICACIOUS.

The constant exposure to the elements experienced in an out-door life is not so apt to cause coughs and colds as sedentary habits.

Those who are brought face to face with the weather every day in active life are much less liable to catarrhal diseases than those who are housed up in ill ventilated rooms. And yet both of these classes are more or less subject to catarrh and catarrhal diseases.

The soldier as well as the civilian finds it frequently necessary to use Peruna on account of coughs and colds. No one is exempt. The strong and healthy are less liable than the weak and ill, but none entirely escape.

Peruna has always been a great favorite with the military men, both in the army and navy.

The strongest kind of testimonials are received from officers of high rank concerning the virtues of Peruna for all catarrhal ailments.

Only a small per cent. of these can be used for publication for want of space.

Mr. Harrison L. Deam, Burnside Post No. 8, Department of the Potomac, Colonel Encampment No. 69, Union Veterans Legion, Colonel Green Clay Smith Regiment No. 17, U. V. U., Department of the Potomac, Military Order Loyal Legion, Department of Columbia, Major 84th Indiana Veteran Volunteer Infantry, writes:

"There is no longer any question as to the curative qualities of Peruna in all catarrhal troubles. Its successful use by many of my friends entitles it to confidence and endorsement." ○
