Someone has rented the rooms in the feed store, and on inquiry who is to live there, it was suggested we wait and see, and that is what every one is doing. Don't keep us in suspense too, long F. M.

The smoke stacks have both been raised on the wood-working factory and it begins to assume the appearance of a manufactory. The engine has been installed, and the rest of the work is progressing as rapidly as practicable.

Miss June Oakley closes her term of school tomorrow, Friday, and in the evening she will start for Friday Harbor on an island in the Sound waters, Washington, where she will teach during the summer months. Her friends wish her a pleasant season among the isles.

Dont get too impatient. There are some people who, when they hear of anything going to happen, cannot sleep until they see the thing realized. Of course, there is an end to patience, and often one has cause to be impatient. But bear in mind it takes time to do some things.

Last week we made it appear that the Palace Meat Market was selling bacon—the finest that is—at 16cts a pound, something quite impossible. The proof reader should have made it 16cts a pound, which is too cheap at that. However, the bacon is going, and if you want some just phone West 15.
