

BROKE THE RIDING RECORD.

Half-Breed Who Made 120 Miles in Ten Hours at a Gallop.

"You people who came here since the railroads were built have an idea that we used to have a bad time of it in getting about Washington Territory," said the old-timer the other day. "That's where you are wrong. Distances were no greater than they are now. True, we didn't always go so fast as you do now, but we made speed that would astonish you.

"I remember one trip an old friend of mine made, a big cattleman from Kittitas county, afterward the owner of considerable property in Seattle. His divorced wife was living here, and she took it into her head to go after him through the courts for non-payment of alimony. There were a number of reasons why he shouldn't pay, but he didn't care to stay here and argue it out with the courts, so getting a tip on what was doing he decided to go back to the cattle in Kittitas.

"About 6 o'clock one evening, accompanied by his horse wrangler, who happened to be here with him, he struck out horseback for Ellensburg. The two rode all night—it was in midsummer and at the full of the moon—and the next morning they ate breakfast in Ellensburg—110 miles away. And they didn't think it was much of a ride at that.

"At that time nearly all the Indians on the reservation had a half-breed or at least one pretty good horse in his riding string. This particular young half-breed boy had an extra good one, and he was selected to carry the dispatches, being a reliable and faithful fellow. Well, he rode through to Walla Walla in ten hours, a distance of 120 miles, and during the ride he never slowed down from a gallop. That was in midsummer, and if you ever have been in that Snake river region at this season of the year you can imagine that was some riding."—Seattle Post-Intelligence.

A NOBLE CAREER.

The Life of William H. Baldwin an Inspiring and Hopeful Success.

The noble career, untimely ended, of President William H. Baldwin, of the Long Island Railroad, illustrates the encouraging fact that good men, also, we have always with us. At a time when certain men and certain combinations of men in great businesses are under public suspicion for selfish and unsocial practices on a large scale, here was a brilliant business man, at different times high in railroad enterprises in the West, South and East, and holding responsible place in large affairs of finance, who had the perfect confidence of his financial associates, of workmen and of the general public. In addition to this—though this itself and alone would be sufficient honor—he was endlessly, wisely, intensely interested in some of the most important enterprises of good citizenship, local and national; above all, in the cause of education in the Southern States. His benevolence had the stamp of statesmanship. He was truly a bulwark of the nation. Year by year his influence and his good fame were increasing; only a little past forty, it seemed that the future held for him twice the opportunities of his already beneficent and exemplary career. Here were unselfishness, modesty, devotion and mental and moral strength splendidly combined.

His death, after a short life not marked by dazzling gifts of money, but of human service, was followed by an outburst of praise and of affectionate regret. What a contrast here to the spectacles of men absorbed in the preposterous fight for unearned millions; men whose paths are strewn with the wrecks of others' fortunes; whose examples are evil; who go down to gilded tombs with the cold regard or the bitter execration of their fellows!—Century.

Here is an old question that is getting new life: "If you had to be some one else, who would you choose to be?"

Female Weakness Is Usually Pelvic Catarrh. Pe-ru-na Cures Catarrh Wherever Located.

MRS. MABLE BRADFORD

Mrs. Mable Bradford, 13 Church street, Burlington, Vt., Secretary Whittier Oratorio Society, writes:

"Peruna is certainly a wonderful medicine for the ills of women. I have heard it spoken of in the highest praise by many, and certainly my experience is well worthy of a good word.

"I began to have severe pains across my back about a year ago, brought on by a cold, and each subsequent month brought me pain and distress. "Your remedy was prescribed, and the way it acted upon my system was almost too good to be true. I certainly have regained my health and strength, and I no longer suffer periodical pains and extreme lassitude."—Mable Bradford.

Mrs. Lizzie Redding 3134 B Clifton Place, St. Louis, Mo., writes:

"I found after trying many different medicines to restore me to health, that Peruna was the only thing which could be depended upon. I began taking it when I was in a decline, induced by female weakness and overwrought nerves.

"I began to feel stronger during the first week I took Peruna and my health improved daily until now I am in perfect health and enjoy life as I never did before."—Lizzie Redding.
