The opening of the fishing season was the signal for those who are adepts at the sport to gather on the banks of the Clackamas, Sunday, and match their scientific strategy against the pretty Dolly Vardens for which the stream is noted. One angler, who had good success, took home 57 of the handsome little trout. Some complaints are made because the brooks have been fished so much already. There is some hard work in fishing along the Clackamas on account of the roughness of the river banks.

A change has been made in the freight service on the railroad. The locomotive has been laid off and the electric freight will be used from now on. It leaves here earlier, at 7:10 a. m. and arrives in Portland at 10 o'clock sharp, leaving there at 10:30. The change went into effect April 1. Better service is insured, as now farmers can ship any kind of produce or truck to town and not have it spoil on the way.

The volunteer fire department held a regular business meeting in Reed's hall, Monday evening. Not a full house was out; many of the boys are working at The Oaks. No important business was transacted. Bills amounting to about $40 for the firemen's hall were presented, and a bill of $35 for new ladders was allowed.

Here in Oregon, but one would hardly think it. Prineville Review: Charley Bowen, driving stage between Bend and Prineville, reports six inches of snow at Bend yesterday (last Thurs.) morning. Also, that the stage driver from Silver Lake lost the road night before last on account of the deep snow, and was five hours finding it again.

Do you know that at least one-half of your taxes must be paid by the first Monday in April, or they become delinquent, and a penalty of ten per cent was added and the amount of your taxes began to draw interest at the rate of twelve per cent? Do you think it worth considering?

The United States government, Multnomah county, and large corporations are making general use of Avenarius Carbolineum. Timbers that are to be used in heavy construction are dipped into a vat of carbolineum. The treatment destroys the decay germs and the timber so treated will last many years longer. Last week The News told of one of these dipping factories to be established in Estacada.

Lee Wills, W. B. Lemon, and C. H. Sarver are now shipping their cream to the Hazelwood creamery in Portland.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Heyman of Spokane were here, Tuesday, looking up the advantages offer in business lines.

Mrs. Jean Wills has gone to Roseburg to see her mother, and from there she will return to her home in Washington.

Fred W. Greenman, former deputy county clerk, has been appointed to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Frank A. Sleight.

Lawyer Buchanan and H. W. Downing are benefactors to all mankind this week; they have planted a row of trees around the Hotel Estacada block.

Miss Clara Heiple and Mr. Frank Boyer, both well known young people living near Currinsville, were married by Justice Levy Stipp, on Wednesday of this week.

A large derrick has been put up at Morrow to enable the Springwater Mill Company to load aboard the cars there some heavy timbers which the company is getting out.

Mert Obert has a new nephew. The Clarkston Republic says: Earl Obert, one of the "Republic" office force, is rejoicing over the arrival in his home of a 9 pound baby boy, born March 24th.

Deputy Assessor Morris has discovered a centenarian at Wilsonville Edward Loney by name. He celebrated his 100th birthday anniversary last October and he is hale and hearty. That is Oregon.

W. H. H. Wade, one of our oldest settlers, and who owns a fine farm adjoining Estacada on the north, is foreman of the famous federal grand jury investigating the land frauds. The jury is to finish it's work and be discharged Apr 10.

Mrs. T. A. Miller was called to Sellwood last week to attend the funeral of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Anna Miller. The services were held Thursday from the Presbyterian church. Just one week previous her sister, Mrs. Mary Worth, living at Watertown, S. D. was taken seriously sick.

The baseball season has opened in East Clackamas county. The first game was played in Estacada last Sunday between the Highland boys and the Estacada team. The game was rather onesided in so far as the score was concerned—34 to 2 in Estacada's favor. If the Highland team is up in the sport, then it would seem as though Estacada had a nine that are experts at the game. The boys lined like this: Neil Bronson, catcher; B. Wallace, pitcher;
