

BORING NEWS

Andrew Vetsch and bride arrived home last Sunday evening, which meant that the boys hunted up old cans and oiled their shot guns and revolvers and marched forth to the Vetsch farm on Monday evening. About nine o'clock the stillness of the evening was broken by a volley of firearms and the rattle of tin cans. Mr. Vetsch treated the boys royally, inviting them into the dining room the table of which was loaded with good things.

The Summit plant has the brick work done around the new boiler.

Mrs. Fenton has gone to Gaston, Ore. to visit with her folks while Mr. Fenton is working at the fair grounds. Chas. Groshong and family have moved to the old Hillyard place.

Mrs. T. M. Allison has gone on a visit to Wenatchu, Wash.

UNCLE BILL

E. E. Sailing, who owns a valuable farm of 488 acres just north of town, was in Tuesday. Mr. Sailing came from Eastern Oregon, and is very well pleased with this part of the state.

D. W. Kinniard, the surveyor, is over from Oregon City, lining up a few acreage lots which the Oregon Water Power Townsite has sold.

The other day when the sidewalks were slippery with wet mud one of our young ladies slipped near a corner and jared the sidewalk. A well dressed stranger stepped to her side and said: "May I assist you?" "No" she replied, "I did it very nicely alone."

By the new law which makes taxes that are six years past due and unpaid noncollectable Clackamas will be out $40,000—more or less. Nearly that sum of old, unpaid revenue is due the county, but as a rule such taxes are not worth the full value, and the county will not be out so very much.

THE BALL GAME

The Estacada ball club went over to Ellwood last Sunday and played a game with the Ellwood boys. It was the best game yet played, and came out 4 to 5 for the Ellwood club. The teams will play here in a short time. The nines cataloged:
