

ESTACADA, OREGON

The new terminal city of the Oregon Water Power and Railway Company's standard gauge electric railroad, is 36 miles Southeast of Portland on the Clackamas river. A rich farming, fruit-raising and stock raising country surrounds the place. Any amount of the best of timber abounds which is converted into lumber by numerous sawmills and sold at reasonable prices. The railroad facilities are the best, see time table elsewhere. Estacada is situated to become a manufacturing center, the river will supply any amount of power. The railway company is now constructing a 15,000 horse power electric plant one and a half mile above here. A large woodworking factory is in operation. Here is a good field for a furniture factory, an implement and handle factory, wagon and carriage factory, box and basket factory, shoe factory, and other industries. A fruit cannery would pay well. The city is nicely located and the site is easily drained. A visit to Estacada by prospective homeseekers will convince them that this is the place in which to locate.

Humor and Philosophy

By DUNCAN M. SMITH

THE BUNGLER.

According to my point of view,
I think that little Cupid,
Instead of being smart and bright,
Is often rather stupid.
His work at times is very coarse—
A thing of shreds and patches,
Not workmanlike, just judging from
Some samples of his matches.

Sometimes he takes a man and maid
And ties them with his tether
Who make a most ill sorted team
And do not pull together,
But there they are hitched up for life
And doomed to fret and jangle
And make what should be happiness
A most distressing tangle.

He takes a little artless girl,
Of knights and heroes dreaming,
And ties her to some chilly chap
Designed for plots and scheming,
Whereas, had she but turned him down
And wed the other fellow,
Her life had been one long, sweet dream
Of sunshine soft and mellow.

While Cupid sometimes hits it off
In dealing love and kisses,
'Tis frightful when you think about
The many times he misses.
I think that he should abdicate
At least one trial season
And turn his business over to
Some person blessed with reason.

Knew the Place.

"Ho, waiter!" called the traveling man after he had given his order.
"Come back a minute. I forgot to tell you to have the germs fried. The last time I was here they were boiled, and I like the flavor better the other way."
"Ain't no germs on de bill, suh," replied the waiter.
"Perhaps you don't see them, but I can read between the lines."

Quite an Inducement.

"Miss Gally appears to be very popular with the young men."
