Last Friday D. F. Warner arrived home from a month's visit among friends in Morrow county. He brought home with him, two of the finest water melons that ever grew in Butter Creek valley; they weighed 32 and 34 pounds, and the News family is the very grateful recipient of one of them. While over there Mr. Warner visited Geo. Currin who owns a small ranch of 15 sections and a heard of 10,000 sheep.

The Estacada Wood Manufacturing Company started its factory up again, Monday, after a short shut-down to allow changes to be made. The factory has all it can do in filling orders. A new feature of the factory is the pipes that have been put in and which carry away the shavings from each piece of machinery. The wind force in the pipes is supplied by a powerful fan. Apparently the factory has been improved by the changes, and much more work can be turned out.

The city recorder is sending out notices to owners of property within the city on the streets where new sidewalks are to be built. Thirty days is the time limit, after which the city will proceed to build the walks and the cost thereof will become a tax or lien against the property.
