The Hall saw mill plant, which was put in about two months ago to saw up timber adjoining town, has been acquired by T. Vocum & Sons who will start the mill going again in the very near future.

The McLaughlin Bros. of Ohio, bring their imported Percheron stallion, Xenophon, to Estacada today, and will sell him to a stock company of farmers. Xenophon is one of the horses this company exhibited at the exposition stock show.

Ed Hunt and his parents Mr. and Mrs. John Hunt, started back to Iowa Tuesday, where they will live during the winter, and more than probable will return in the spring. Ed will no doubt enjoy the winter with his former friends and neighbors.

Frank Thomas, who lives on the Tracy farm near Garfield, has returned from a trip up into the mountains and brought back two fine deer and a fat bear. This makes four deer and two bear for his record this season. He was up once before with Hans Tracy and bagged the same quota.

Mrs. W. A. Heylman and Mrs. L. G. Herrington went to Clackamas October 15 and picked five qts. of nice, ripe strawberries from a patch of Lovett's on Dan Talbert's ranch. He had about an acre of Magoons in full bloom. Mr. Talbert had strawberries last year for Thanksgiving dinner. He cleared $200 this summer from his patch of Lovett berries.

John Stormer was in town, yesterday, in spite of the fact that the great daily newspaper had him reported as being violently insane. Occasionally errors creep into the larger papers, but it is often the fault of these papers' reporters who don't know the facts in the case. In this case the reporter was mistaken in the name. Mr. Stormer's friends had the joke on him, however, and he took the incident as one of mistaken identity.

Why wouldn't a steam wood saw do a good business here? Everybody uses wood but no one cares to do the sawing act, although good prices are offered for the work. Here is an chance for someone who has an engine and buzz saw to go into business.

The Oregon Journal says: Estacada's latest manufactory is a mattress plant. A Clackamas county potatoe hill yielded 47 fair-sized potatoes.

Only one hill, Mr. Journal? Is it not possible, and very probable that there is another such hill?

C. E. Dubois returned home Monday from Portland. He is putting in a donkey engine at his saw mill plant across the river to snake the logs down to the mill. Just as soon as this is ready to work, the mill will start up again. The mill will be better prepared than ever to get out lumber. Place your orders now.

Do Sheep Pay?

Last Spring A. Morrow bought sixteen sheep at a reasonable price, most of them full grown. He has kept them since without any outlay to speak of, and has received from them nearly $60. They are all in fine shape for winter, and are now worth more per head than what he paid for them.

Andre-Goff

Prof. T. J. Andre and Miss Mary E. Goff stole a march on their numerous Estacada friends last Saturday, and went to Oregon City and were married by Judge Livy Stipp. There was not the least suspicion by their friends that the happy pair contemplated getting married, or a proper reception would have been given them on their arrival home. However, later in the evening there was a party at their home. It is the wish of their friends that their joys may be numerous and their troubles be "little ones." They have already gone to house-keeping next to the Richelieu.

Repairing the Bridge

Bridge Builder McKay of Oregon City who it is that does most of the county's bridge building and repairing has had a number of men at work the past week repairing the Clackamas river bridge. The old structure was in a tottering condition and it is taking a large quantity of heavy timber to put it in a safe condition once more. Nearly every piece of timber in the bridge needs replacing with new material, and even the main part of the structure, which at first was thought in a safe condition, has been found to be sadly in need of repairs. However, after Mr. McKay gets through with his work, the public need not hesitate at passing over the bridge.
