IN THE NATIONAL HALLS OF CONGRESS

Washington, Jan. 21.—A spectacu'ar speech by Senator Tillman was the chief feature of an exciting day in the senate. The South Carolina senator's effort was a reply to the recent criticism of himself by Spooner. He began with a satirical picture of the senate as a minstrel show, which he later said was his first and last attempt to be "funny," an attempt which at its conclusion brought a stinging denunciation from Carmack in resentment of allusions to him.

The Aspectacu'ar claims any intention to "question or question of Governor Swettenham's objection to the presence of American sailors entered to discharge without honor enlisted men of the army of the United States." Consideration of the resolution was in a letter to the admiral, peremptorily requesting him to re-embark all parties which had been landed.

Lulogies on the life and character of the late Senator William B. Bate, of Tennessee, were delivered, after which the senate adjourned as a mark of respect to his memory.

This was preceded by a serious reply from Spooner on the attitude taken by Tillman on the race problem, all finally resulting in a session of nearly two hours behind closed doors.

The secret session was followed:

hours behind closed doors.

The secret session was followed by a brief open one, in which Tillman made a profuse apology to Carmack, to all senators whom he had brought into his "first essay in the line of humor," and finally to the entire senate.

The Brownsville affair was the subject of contraversy, and the day began ject of controversy, and the day began with the announcement of a compro-mise resolution, which brought Repub-lican and Democratic senators together on the basis of ordering an investigation of the facts of the affray without bringing into question the authority of the president to dismiss the negro troops. The resolution was submitted troops. The resolution was submitted to and approved by the president at a conference yesterday.

After the speeches and mutual apolo gies had been made, Foraker attempted to get a vote on his resolution. Objection was made and the matter will be taken up tomorrow.

Washington, Jan. 21 .- The house to-Peruna is a household friend in more durant and making more efficient field and coast artillery by passing the porations from making money contri-butions in connection with elections. A bill was passed authorizing the secretary of Commerce and Labor to investigate and report upon the "in-dustrial, social, moral, educational and dustrial, social, moral, educational and physical condition of woman and child workers in the United States." The measure has already passed the senate. After the passage of a number of bills under suspension of the rules, the house passed the District of Columbia appropriation bill.

Friday, January 18.

Washington, Jan. 18. — By a rising vote of 133 to 92 the house today adopted an amendment to the legislative, consider when you lie down at night that you may never see the sun rise again."

"You do?" queried the surprised c. l. p.

"I do," answered the young man.

"I do," answered the young man.

An urgent deficiency bill was passed, carrying a total of $344,650. The house then went into committee of the whole and passed 50 bills on the private calendar reported by the committee on calcing.

The Warren bill, increasing the corps of the army, was passed. The total increase, which is to reach its maximum in five years, is 6,197 officers and men which, with the increase in certain salaries of men in separate grades, such as so weakened and electricians, machinists, etc., costs

The senate agreed to the Kittredg resolution instructing the secretary of Commerce and Labor to investigate the lumber trust.

The resolution directs that the investigation tigation shall be conducted to ascertain whether there exists any combination conspiracy, trust, agreement or contract intended to operate in restraint of law-ful trade in lumber or to increase the market price of lumber in any part of the United States.

The bill did not reach the senate before adjournment, but will probably be taken up by that body tomorrow.

Wednesday, January 16. Washington, January 16. — Senate leaders tonight consider the end of the Brownsville discussion in sight, and it is confidently expected that a compromise resolution offered by Foraker just before the close of today's session will be adopted. Foraker had the floor to make what he today expressed the hope would be the concluding speech on the subject. He will proceed immediately subject. He will proceed immediately after the morning business tomorrow, unless interfered with by the special order of the day, which is the delivery of eulogies on the life of the late Senator Bate, of Tennessee. Whether he speaks tomorrow or Friday, it is expected that a vote will soon follow, although it is possible that other brief speeches may be made before the end is reached.

powder patents were under debate to-day in the house.

Gaines, of Tennessee, told of how Professor Monroe had patented the smokeless powder process, having dis-covered it while filling the chair of hemistry at the naval academy, and also said a patent was taken out by John R. Barnadou while the latter was a commanding officer in the navy.

Gaines quoted the Supreme court decision in the Gilly and Solomon case that a patent taken out by an officer for a discovery made by him in the line of duty belongs to the government. Mr. Monroe, he stated, had turned his patent over to the United States, and yet it was today in the hands of a great powder monopoly, "and the government is in the grasp of that monopoly." So far as Gaines could find out, Mr. Barnadou had not turned his patent over to the government.

Tuesday, January 15.

Washington, Jan. 15.— The feature of the day's session of the senate was Washington, Jan. 18—The senate to-day deferred further action on the Brownsville matter until Monday. It were questioned by Tillman, and the two engaged in a heated controversy. Spooner made a bitter attack on the outh Carolina senator. The bitter feeling provoked makes it impossible to say when a vote can be had on the Brownsville resolution. It is expected the debate will be extended.

Wishington, Jan. 15 .- The house of representatives spent almost the entire day in considering the fortifications appropriation bill, and completed only six pages of it. Amendments looking to the defense of the mouth of Chesapeake bay and for the purchase of addi-tional ground at Fort Hamilton, N. Y.. were voted down. The house also resed to incorporate an amendment increasing to the extent of $1,000,000 the appropriation for the construction of ast batteries in the Hawaiian and Philippine islands.

Governor Refuses Aid Suffering Kingston.

Kingston, Jamaica, Jan. 22.—Rear Admiral Davis' mission of mercy to stricken Kingston came to an abrupt and painful conclusion in consequence souri and Indiana and the gunboat Yankton would sail.

To the Associated Press Admiral Davis said that immediate compliance with Govenor Swettenham's request was the only course consistent with the dignity of the United States.

The friction between the governor and the admiral began with the arrival "The president of the United States is authorized to use and distribute among the sufferers and destitute people of the island such provisions, clothing, medicines and other necessary articles belonging to the sustenance and other naval stores as may be necessary for succoring the people who are in peril and threatened with starvation in the said island in consequence of the recent earthquake."

Without division the bill was sent to the senate.

May Re-Elect Bailey. Austin, Tex., Jan. 22.—Senator Ba ley's friends announced today that a vote on his reelection as senator would e forced in the legislature tomorrow If subsequently he is proved guilty of improper relations with the Waters Pierce Qil company, he will, they say be compelled to resign from the senate Whenever a sore refuses to heal it is because the blood is not pure and healthy, as it should be, but is infected with poisonous germs or some old blood taint which has corrupted and polluted the circulation. Those most usually afflicted with old sores are persons who have reached or passed middle life. The vitality of the blood and strength of the system have naturally begun to decline, and the poisonous germs which have accumulated because of a sluggish and inactive condition of the system, or some hereditary taint which has hitherto been held in check, now force an outlet on the face, arms, legs or other part of the body. The place grows red and angry, festers and eats into the surrounding tissue until it becomes a chronic and stubborn uleer, fed and kept open by the impurities with which the blood is saturated. Nothing is more trying and disagreeable than a stubborn, non-healing sore. The very fact that it resists ordinary remedies and treatments is good reason for suspicion; the same germ-producing cancerous ulcers is back of every old sore, and especially is this true if the trouble is an inherited one. Washes, salves, nor indeed anything else, applied directly to the sore, can do any permanent good; neither will remove Bailey's supporters further announced they would insist on a proper hearing being given to any one who had charges to make against the senator.
