How is Our School?

Our school, of course, is progressing, but we fear with many it is only a matter "of course." You hear the bell ring at nine in the morning, you know that your children are not on a rampage at home, turning things topsy-turvy all the day, but outside of this we think your personal knowledge is lame.

Now, there should be watchfulness daily, and care on the part of the parents. Inquiries should be made of scholars, of their progress, and an active interest taken in their advancement. Occasional visits to the school room should be made by the parents. Communication should be frequent with the teacher in regard to the child. In every possible avenue the parent should exhibit a real interest in the school, the work and deportment of their children. The knowledge of such interest will put the child on guard and mettle and spur him on to a greater exertion.

The gist of the matter is, if you would have your school what it should be, you should have no less interest than the teacher or pupil, nor no more think of losing this interest than they, from the time the school opens in the fall until it closes in the spring or summer.—X

HOWE

A Good Liment

When you need a good, reliable liment try Chamberlain's pain balm. It has no superior for sprains and swellings. A piece of flannel slightly dampened with pain balm is superior to a plaster for a back or pains in the side or chest. It also relieves rheumatic pains and makes sleep and rest possible. For sale by Estacada drug store.
