RECOVERING BODIES.

Band of Rescuers at Monongah Are Making Slow Progress.

Monongah, W. Va., Dec. 10 .- When darkness came last night's total of 66 bodies had been brought from the two wrecked mines at Monongah. Rescue work, while slow, was progressing smoothly and as rapidly as due precau-tion for the rescuers would permit. It is believed that close on to 100 of the dead will have been recovered by daylight today. The fire which caused a suspension of rescue work Sunday and early Monday in mine No. 8, was ex-tinguished, it is said, at noon yester

The fourth day was a repitition of its three predecessors in the matter of pa-thetic scenes; hundreds of women remained near the mines all day, screaming and crying until they almost col-lapsed. As on former days, hot coffee was served at intervals by the company to keep the unfortunate women from falling to the ground in exhaustion.

LOOKING BEYOND BALLOON.

merican Army to Experiment With Aeroplanes.

Washington, Dec. 10 .- The army is already looking beyond the simple balloon, the dirigible balloon and like contrivances for navigating the air, to the more scientific aeroplane, and it was announced today that the chief signal officer will soon call upon American inventors to submit plans for a practipurposes. The terms of the advance-ments are now under consideration.

The beginning of experimentation in the use of aeroplanes, it is said, will not interfere with the War department plans now in execution for the training of selected men in the use of ballcons nor with the projected construction of at least two dirigible airships.

Reduction of Wages.

Goldfield, Nev. Dec. 10.—Late yes-terday afternoon the Goldfield Miners' association issued its ultimatum to the miners in Goldfield, in the shape of a set of resolutions adopted at the meet-ing which had been in progress all day. These resolutions embody the new scale of wages to be in vogue from this time on, showing a lowering of the scale about 20 per cent.
