Portland, Aug. 3.-An apportionment of the reclamation fund among the vafor the year 1910 will not be determined until Secretary of the Interior Ballinger holds a further conference with the officials of the reclamation service today. Mr. Ballinger yesterday held a preliminary conference with these officials, at which were present the supervising engineer of the six divisions into which the entire reclamation field is divided. There is to be apportioned for these projects about $11,000,000, but the demands for funds aggregate an amount fully double that available. The conference, which was an execu-tive one, was held in the offices of the reclamation service in the Beck building. There were present all of the directing and supervising officials of the service. In addition to Mr. Ballinger they were: F. H. Newel, director; A. P. Davis, chief engineer; O. H. Ensign, chief electrical engineer; D. C. Henny, consulting engineer, and the following supervising engineers: F. E. Weymouth, Idaho division; I. W. Mc-Connell, Central division; H. N. Savage, Northern division; C. H. Swigart, Washington division; L. C. Hill, Southern division, and E. G. Hopson, Pacific division. "Today's conference was only preliminary and there is nothing definite to announce regarding the probable apportionment of the reclamation fund, for the reason that final conclusions were not reached," said Mr. Ballinger last night. "The various supervising engineers presented their demands the stricken towns, talking to the the poor could conquer the rich at for funds with which to carry on the work undertaken by the government, during the ensuing year.
